REVOLT REPORTED IN CUBA; TROOPS ARE ORDERED OUT

Two Soldiers and Five Others Are Said to Have Been Killed in Oriente Province.

SANTIAGO STREETS AND PARKS CLEARED

Situation in Havana Is Tense—Dispatches From Interior of Island Blocked by Censor.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, April 29.—Information received here today said a revolt had broken out in Oriente Province. Disorders were reported in the towns of Songo, San Luis and Boniato.

Two soldiers were reported to have been killed in Boniato.

Advices late today said four persons, including the chief of police and a soldier, were killed at San Luis in Oriente Province.

Troops armed with machine guns were rushed from Santiago to the three towns, and all streets and parks in Santiago itself, principal city of the Province, were ordered cleared.

The situation in Havana appeared tense this morning. Communication lines to the interior were subjected to censorship. It was impossible to ascertain the spread of the reported uprising because of the strict supervision of dispatches.

Rebels Reported to Have Captured Government Barracks.

HAVANA, April 29.—A revolutionary force, thought to have landed from Jamaica, captured the Government barracks at San Luis in Oriente Province, 30 miles north of Santiago, this morning. The rebels cut the telegraph lines leading to Havana.

The Government said today that Mario Gonzales, 19-year-old student accused of anti-Machado activities, died "suddenly" in the streets of Guanabaco Wednesday. Cristo's arrest was followed by reports that he was being subjected to third degree tactics by the police, and in reprisal, it is thought, an army officer named Pau, military supervisor at Guanabaco, was assassinated.

VIENNA READY FOR MAY DAY; MACHINE GUNS IN STREETS

Barbed Wire Entanglements to Appear on Main Thoroughfares.

VIENNA, April 29.—Machine guns and barbed wire entanglements will appear on Vienna's main thoroughfares Monday to convince radical elements that May day demonstrations will be out of order.

Citizens are urged in the document to remain off the streets in order to avoid conflicts. Soldiers and police will patrol the streets. Various political groups have called upon their followers to defy the order and join in a demonstration on the famous Ringstrasse. Several more Communist leaders have been jailed in the past few days.

THREE MEN REPORTED KILLED IN MARYLAND FREIGHT WRECK

"Unauthorized Riders" Said to Have Lost Lives in Accident on B. & O.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 29. — The offices of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad here received reports today that three "unauthorized riders" were killed and two or three injured in a freight wreck near Sir Johns Run, W. Va.

Several cars left the track and piled up, blocking traffic. The accident was said to have been caused by a broken arch bar on one of the cars. Sir Johns Run is 28 miles west of Martinsburg, W. Va.

BROKERS' $12-A-WEEK RUNNER HELD FOR $65,000 THEFT

Says He Lost Savings Speculating Through Firms Now Accusing Him.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Samuel Needleman, 39-year-old bond runner for a firm of brokers, was held today on a charge of grand larceny, accused of stealing $65,000 in bonds and checks from his employers. He told detectives he was once a necktie merchant, and that he lost his life savings in the stock market, the account being with the firm that accuses him. His salary was $12 a week. He is married.

C. C. Julian Fears Kidnaping.

SHANGHAI, April 29.—C. C. Julian, oil promoter, wanted in Oklahoma City on Federal charges of fraud, was granted a special police guard today because he expressed fears of being kidnaped. United States authorities seek to extradite him.

FIRST NATIONAL COMPANY ASKS HOLDERS OF $9,635,000 IN NOTES FOR EXTENSION

Unable to Meet Principal Payment of $392,000 Due Monday on "Guaranteed" Mortgage Obligations — Franklin - American Also Seeks Delay—Firms Not to Pay Dividends to Stockholders.

The First National Company, investment affiliate of the First National Bank and owned by the stockholders of the bank, announced last night its inability to meet principal and interest payments due Monday on its "guaranteed first mortgage participation notes" from the earnings of the collateral securities behind the notes, and asked the holders to extend maturity of the $9,635,000 notes until May 1, 1938.

The principal amount due Monday is $392,000. The notes are widely held in St. Louis.

Similar action was taken last night by the Franklin-American Co., investment affiliate of the Franklin-American Trust Co., which was merged with the First National Bank in December, 1931, on its issue of $2,000,000 of "guaranteed participation notes." The Franklin-American Co. remained a separate corporation.

Other notes of the First National Co. mature in substantial installments on the first day of each month for the next five years. Interest likewise is payable each month on the varying series of notes, which had semi-annual interest dates.

Form of Guarantee.

The Franklin-American Co., has a much smaller amount maturing Monday. There are only about nine maturing notes, the denominations of which could not be ascertained. The Franklin-American Co. also has principal and interest payments on the notes due each month.

Participation notes of the First National Co. were issued in denominations from $500 up. Those of the Franklin-American Co. were in denominations of $100 up. The average term was three years. The notes bore interest at 5 per cent. As collateral for the notes the investment companies formed pools of mortgages on which they collected interest usually at the rate of 6 per cent.

The guarantee by the investment companies was in the form of an agreement to repurchase the notes at par as they matured. Henry T. Ferriss, executive vice-president of the First National Co., and C. L. Sager, president of the Franklin-American Co., said the companies were not abrogating the guarantee, but were asking noteholders to extend for five years the time for enforcing it.

Ferris and Sager said that under present conditions it has been difficult to collect the principal amounts of underlying first mortgages as they mature, and consequently the pools have not produced enough revenue to retire participation notes and pay interest as it fell due.

Separate committees of noteholders have been formed to supervise liquidation of the notes. While it is proposed by the two investment companies to extend maturities of all notes until 1938, the plan provides for semi-annual principal payments to be made beginning on or before next Nov. 1.

Firms Not to Pay Dividends.

All collections from mortgages held by the First National Co. and the Franklin-American Co., less necessary expenses, are to be held in special funds for the semi-annual distribution.

All semi-annual payments, under the plan, are to be considered as part payments on the principal of the notes until all notes have been paid in full. Subsequent payments are to be credited as interest at the rate of 5 per cent a year.

Should any of the collateral mortgages remain in the pools after all notes have been retired and interest paid, these are to be the property of the investment firms. The investment firms are to pay no dividends nor make any distribution to their stockholders until all participation notes have been retired.

75 Pct. Must Approve.

The committee may declare the extension plan operative when it has received the approval of holders of 75 per cent of the outstanding notes. Ferriss and Sager said they were unable to say what course would be taken in handling notes whose holders did not accept the plan. In that event a court decision might be required to determine what should be done.

The committees are given the power to withdraw any of the mortgages in the pools whenever that may be "necessary or proper in the interest of the participation holders." Such mortgages might be sold and the proceeds applied toward retiring the notes of holders who do not accept the plan.

Ferriss, in letters to participation noteholders informing them of the plan, relates that since the bank holiday in March there have been many defaults in real estate mortgages such as are posted as collateral for the participation notes.

"Recognizing these conditions," the letters add, "the courts in some states will not grant the usual

GETS U. S. AWARD FOR VALOR 35 YEARS AFTER THE EVENT

R. P. Hobson Receives Congressional Medal of Honor for Feat Performed in War With Spain.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29. — Almost 35 years after he sank the collier Merrimac in an effort to bottle up the Spanish fleet in Santiago harbor, Richmond Pearson Hobson today received the Congressional Medal of Honor at the White House by President Roosevelt. Hobson's medal of honor was voted by Congress last session. Hobson was a naval Lieutenant in the Spanish-American War.

At the same time, for his rescue of an officer in Air Corps activities in 1932 Privat. Arden M. Farley of the Army Air Corps received the Cheney award. Farley rescued Lieut. William H. Dum of the Air Reserve after the officer was jammed in a blazing plane following a forced landing. Farley was riding as a mechanic in the rear cockpit. He worked his way through the wire to drag Lieut. Dum to safety. The Cheney award is a bronze plaque, with the recipient's name engraved on it. With it also goes a cash award, established in memory of Lieut. William H. Cheney, who was killed in an air collision at Foggia, Italy, during the World War.

NOLTE SAYS ST. LOUIS NEEDS NO FINANCIAL AID FROM U. S.

Replies to Wire From Secretary of Conference of Mayor In Chicago.

Comptroller Nolte today telegraphed Paul V. Betters of Chicago, secretary of the United States Conference of Mayors, that St. Louis could meet its municipal obligations without Federal aid.

Betters had wired Mayor Dickmann for certain information about the city's finances, mentioning the possibility that the powers of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation may be broadened to enable it to assist cities. The Mayor referred the inquiry to Nolte.

Betters asked how much the city would require in short term borrowings and tax anticipation warrants for 1933 and what were the prospects for obtaining necessary loans from local banks. Nolte's reply was the laconic: "St. Louis can meet its municipal obligations without Federal aid."

ROOSEVELT AND CANADIAN PREMIER ISSUE STATEMENT

Sum Up Topics Discussed in Conversations Preliminary to London Economic Conference.

TOO SEEK CLOSER TRADE RELATIONS

Express Hope Means May Be Found to Increase Exchange of Commodities Between Nations.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Summing up the subjects discussed in the world economic conference in their conversations preparatory to London June 12, President Roosevelt and Richard B. Bennett, Premier of Canada, issued the following joint statement today:

"Our conversations have been eminently satisfactory in establishing a common ground of approach to the principal problems of the world monetary and economic conference.

"We are agreed that our primary need is to insure an increase in the general level of commodity prices.

"To this end simultaneous action must be taken both in the economic and in the monetary fields.

"Economic and monetary policies must be adjusted to permit a freer international exchange of commodities.

Monetary Standard.

"It is recognized that as soon as practicable an international monetary standard must be restored, with arrangements that will insure a more satisfactory operation of international monetary relationships.

"We have examined a series of proposals for the more effective employment of silver.

"No one of the problems can be possibly dealt with in isolation from the others, nor can any single country accomplish a satisfactory solution. We, therefore, recognize the vital importance to mankind of the World Economic Conference, and the necessity of reaching, in the weeks remaining before it is convened, as great a measure of mutual understanding as possible.

"We have also discussed the problems peculiar to the United States and Canada. We have agreed to begin a search for means to increase the exchange of commodities between our two countries and thereby promote not only economic betterment on the North American continent, but also the general improvement of world conditions."

Ends Two Conversations.

The President completed his conversations with Bennett late yesterday. Bennett remained in the city over today, but left the White House, where he had been a guest and took quarters at the Canadian legation.

The President also concluded his conversations with former Premier Herriot of France yesterday, and Herriot went at once to New York to depart for France today.

The U. S. Government yesterday accepted an invitation to participate in a four-power wheat conference under the auspices of the League of Nations to be held May 10. Canada, Argentina and Australia—other great producers of wheat—also have been invited.

As in the case of Great Britain, no agreement or plan was proposed in the conversations with the French representation, but a joint statement from the President and Herriot said the exchange of views "will undoubtedly help in determining the steps to be taken hereafter."

Prospects on Debt Revision.

Congressional leaders have indicated some doubt that this session would authorize any postponement of the June 15 payments. It is entirely probable, however, that Mr. Roosevelt may ask for authority to negotiate a downwad revision of the debt agreements in the fall after the London economic parley. The Senate offer to increase to $200,000,000 the amount of silver which may be accepted on war debt payments was held out as the probable limit to which the United States would go in debt relief on the June 15 payments. The silver payments would ease considerably the burden of Great Britain's June 15 installment and to some extent that of France.

INFLATION-FARM RELIEF BILL GOES TO CONFERENCE; QUICK APPROVAL EXPECTED

ONE OF 6 INDICTED IN GRAFT INQUIRY FURNISHES BOND

$30,000 SAID TO HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

Plot Is Alleged to Collect Large Sums From Union Electric—Egan Refuses to Comment.

One of the six men indicted yesterday in the St. Clair County tax graft scandal exposed April 13 by the Post-Dispatch surrendered at Belleville today and gave $10,000 bind. Two more are expected to give bond during the day.

Arthur P. O'Leary, of East St. Louis, former chairman of the Board of Tax Review went to the county seat this morning with his lawyer, John Roberts, and four friends who had agreed to sign his $10,000 bond. O'Leary, one of five charged in an indictment with conspiracy to take bribes for assessment-fixing on behalf of individuals and big corporations, declared his innocence of the charges but refused to discuss it.

Order for Arrest.

After O'Leary had given bond, signed by four East St. Louisans, Chief Deputy Sheriff Oscar Becker issued an order for the arrest on sight of any of the four remaining defendants in the case still at large. He also announced that any who are arrested or who surrender after midnight tonight must remain in jail until Monday before their bonds are accepted.

Charles Melvin of East St. Louis, member of the County Board of Assessors, is expected to give bond today in the conspiracy case. Edward J. Delmore, vice-president and auditor of the Hunter Packing Co. of East St. Louis, another of the five conspiracy case defendants, made inquiries last night which indicated he, too, intended to surrender and furnish $10,000 bond today.

McKane Not Heard From.

St. Clair County authorities have no information about the plans of Frank P. McKane of East St. Louis, former member of the Board of Tax Review, also named in the conspiracy indictment. Reporters have been unable to find him since his associate Throop of the Board of Review confessed two weeks ago.

The fifth conspiracy defendant, Addison J. Throop, who resigned as chairman of the Board of Tax Review after making a confession of wholesale tax frauds, is understood to intend to remain a voluntary prisoner in Belleville jail. He signed a waiver of immunity before appearing as a grand jury witness, and has announced he intends to plead guilty.

Harry Parker Sought.

Harry Parker, former confidential of Throop's Call Printing Co. in East St. Louis, indicted by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of forgery, "went south" prior to Throop's confession and has not been heard from since April 8, when he was in Gulport, Miss. Circulars carrying his description and asking his arrest have been circulated throughout the country.

The special grand jury's return of the indictments yesterday marked completion of the first phase of its investigation, scheduled for resumption next Wednesday.

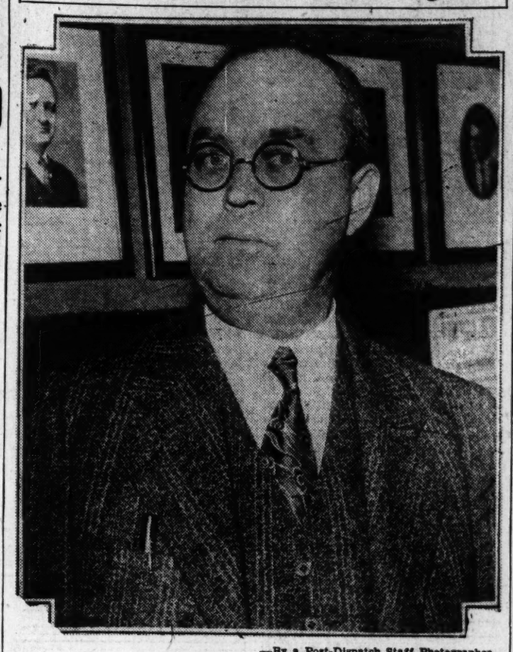

Conspiracy is punishable under Illinois law by an indeterminate prison sentence of one to five years or a fine up to $2000, or both. Forgery is punishable by a term of one to 14 years.

In the conspiracy indictment the grand jury charges the five defendants received bribes of $30,000 "and other sums," but only one case of alleged tax assessment-fixing is mentioned specifically. This relates to the valuation of the Cahokia plant of the Union Electric Light & Power Co., south of East St. Louis.

In this case, the grand jury charges, the conspiracy defendants "proposed to receive from the Union Electric large sums of money as bribes to corrupt and influ-

SURVIVORS' STORY OF AIR LINER CRASH

Three Tell of Huddling Beside Five Bodies on Italian Mountain.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 29.—Two men and a woman, survivors of an air liner's crash on Mount Scifarelli, told today how they escaped freezing by huddling ofr five nights beside five bodies in the wrecked ship.

Meanwhile men were sent to recover the bodies of the victims, one of whom was an American, John C. Van Cleef, said to be a recent Princeton graduate who lived in Montclair, N. J.

The five were killed Sunday night when an Air-Orient liner, from Corfu, Greece, hit the snow-covered mountain near Saracena in Calabria. Yesterday the survivors, Mme. Gigandet, M. Eteve and a man named Callot, were found sitting in the cabin and suffering from shock and exposure.

The survivors spent last night at the scene of the wreck. However, they were warm because they slept in the midst of a circle of fire built by the forestry militia. They were wrapped in heavy blankets. Mme. Gigandet and Eteve appeared only slightly injured, whereas Callot was suffering from severe contusions. He required the care of a doctor who arrived last night.

Arnot Wilson, Naples manager of the American Express Co., arrived to direct the removal of Van Cleaf's body.

"The most terrible part of our experience," said Mme. Giganddet, "was to have to remain night after night beside the bodies of our companions, unable even to extricate them.

"The cold, the hunger and the fruitless tramping through the mountains and woods in search of help were all bad enough, but our thoughts have been mostly of our companions."

Van Cleef, who was sitting in the front par of the cabin, was killed instantly with the pilot, mechanic and two other passengers.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TOMORROW

Clocks Will Be Set Ahead in Parts of 15 States.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—About one-third the population of the United States will set clocks ahead one hour tomorow in obedience to daylight saving regulations.

These states will conform to daylight saving, in whole or part: Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Maine, Connecticut, New York, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Rhode Island and West Virginia. In those communities time jumps ahead from 2 a. m. to 3 a. m. tomorrow.

PUPIL'S FATHER KILLS PRINCIPAL AND TRUSTEE

Shoemaker Who Resented Punishment of Son Then Ends Life.

By the Associated Press.

HOLTON, Ind., April 29.—David Rea, Township Trustee, and J. H. Petty, high school principal, were shot and killed today by Frank Ellis, a shoemaker, who had quarreled with them over the punishment of his son.

Ellis committed suicide after killing the two men.

Petty, who lived a few minutes, said the shoemaker was enraged over the punishment of his son by Arlie Miller, a high school teacher.

The slain trustee, who was 50 years old, is survived by his widow and two children. Ellis leaves a widow and three children. Petty was unmarried.

The shooting occurred on the street near the shoemaker's shop.

STOCKS GO UP $1 TO $5 IN FRESH BUYING WAVE

Most Active Saturday in Month Follows Senate Approval of Inflation Bill.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Stocks and commodities rolled up huge aggregate gains today as fresh buying, prompted by senatorial approval of the farm relief-inflation measure and favorable business news, was thrown into the markets.

At Chicago, wheat futures were up 2 to 3 cents a bushel by the time the New York markets were closing, while cotton here made advances of around $1.50 a bale. Sugar, silver, rubber and several other staples rallied strongly.

American Telephone's last transaction was at $100, or $4.62 net higher. General Motors, at $21, was up $1.75. United States Steel common closed at $46.62, a new high for the year, up $3.62. American Can's gain at $80.25, was up $5.75. Western Union, at $37.50, was up $4.87. Corn Products Refining at $72.12, was $4.25 higher. Allied Chemical jumped $5.50 to $93.

STREET ROLLER SKATER HELD

First Arrest Made Under Order Issued Two Weeks Ago.

Jack Simon, 19 years old, of 6917 Wise avenue, was arrested yesterday for roller skating in the street. This is the first arrest of that nature since Chief of Police Gerk issued an order two weeks ago to first warn and then arrest those persisting in skating in the street.

Gerk said roller skating in the street not only violated a city ordinance but increased traffic hazards.

SENATE GRANTS BROAD POWERS TO PRESIDENT BY VOTE OF 64 TO 20

Plan of Leaders in House Is for a Partial Report by the Conferees on Currency Section, With Its Adoption Assured.

CLARK AND GLASS AMONG OPPONENTS

Missourian Also Aids in Defeating Bonus Amendment, Denouncing It in Substance as a Fake Proposal.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Democratic House leaders today decided to force a vote in the House Monday on the Senate inflation amendment to the farm relief bill. After a conference with party leaders, Speaker Rainey said a move would be made to instruct conferees on the bill to accept the Senate inflation amendment.

Two avenues are open for the action. One is to disagree to all Senate amendments and ask for a conference. If the House approves this by unanimous consent, then a motion will be in order to instruct the conferees, before they are named by the Speaker, to accept the inflation amendment. Another is a motion to disagree to all Senate amendments except the inflation amendment and ask for a conference.

The House already has approved the farm relief sections which contemplate price-lifting and mortgage-easing through refinancing.

Concluding three weeks of debate, the Senate last night voted the sweeping power by 64 to 20 after defeating a soldiers' bonus amendment and authorizing the acceptance of up to $200,000,000 in silver on war debt payments.

The Senate Conferees.

The following Senate conferees were appointed: Smith, South Carolina; Fletcher, Florida; Wagner, New York, and Thomas, Oklahoma (Democrats); McNary, Oregon and Walcott, Connecticut (Republicans). The plan is that the House and Senate conferees should make a partial report, which will enable the House to vote on the inflation rider. Its adoption by the House is assured.

The inflation legislation added to the farm bill in the Senate gives the President a choice of methods for undertaking a controlled expansion of credit and currency.

In successive roll calls, the Senate rejected the soldiers' bonus plan by 60 to 28, approved the silver provision by 53 to 32, passed the inflation section by 64 to 21 and then rolled up a majority of 64 to 20 for the entire measure, including inflation.

Clark's Final Vote 'No.'

Only three Democrats voted against inflation—Glass of Virginia, Bailey of North Carolina and Bulkley of Ohio. On final passage, farm and inflation, there were only four Democrats in opposition, Clark of Missouri voting with those who were against inflation.

The farm sections authorize Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to attempt higher farm prices through marketing agreements and controlled production, and through the levying of processing taxes and licensing fees.

The inflation section contemplates first an expansion of credit up to $3,000,000,000 through open market purchases of Government obligations by Federal Reserve Banks.

If this does not serve to lift prices, the President would be empowered to:

Direct the issuance of $3,000,000,000 in Treasury notes or new currency to purchase outstanding Government obligations and provide for appropriations to redeem 4 per cent of the notes annually for 25 years.

Lower the gold content of the dollar by not more than 50 per cent, either by proclamation or by an international agreement looking to a stabilization of world currencies and exchanges.

Accept up to $200,000,000 in silver at not more than 50 cents an ounce as payments on war debts

Committee Reports Enactment Is Imperative to Protect Investors and Bring Out Capital.

SAYS U. S. LAGS IN PROTECTION

Declares Billions Have Been Lost Through "Incomplete, Careless or False Representations."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The Senate Banking Committee reported to the Senate yesterday that enactment of President Roosevelt's bill to regulate the sale of securities was "imperative" to protect investors and bring capital out of hiding.

At the same time, a House Interstate Commerce sub-committee agreed on a revised draft of the legislation and prepared to report to the full committee Tuesday. The bill's terms were not made public, though Chairman Rayburn said it differed in many respects from the Senate measure.

Chairman Fletcher, in the Senate Committee's report, said "dire national distress" had resulted from losses estimated to run as high as $25,000,000,000 during the past 10 years in securities sold to the public.

Lagging in Protection.

Asserting that the United States "lags far behind other nations" in the protection of the public, he said "billions of dollars have been invested in practically worthless securities, both foreign and domestic, including those of foreign governments, by the American public through incomplete, careless, or false representations."

Among the purposes of the bill, Fletcher said, were prevention of further exploitation of the public, protection of honest enterprise, restoration of the investor's confidence, the drawing of hoarded capital into productive enterprise and restored purchasing power.

Pointing out that the bill would make not only the issuing company but its officers civilly liable for return of money invested on the basis of false information, Fletcher said:

"The question is whether ignorance of an untruth should excuse the director and leave the loss upon the buyer. To do so, in our opinion, would fail to give the buyer the needed relief and fail to restore confidence.

Care by the Directors.

"We cannot but believe that many recent disastrous events in the investment world would not have taken place if those whose names have appeared as directors had known themselves to be under a legal, as well as a moral, responsibility to the investing public.

"The committee believes that the making of directors and officers personally liable will result in persons retiring from many boards and confining their efforts to a few boards where they will actually direct."

Fletcher pointed out the bill requires that all issues of securities must be filed with the Federal Trade Commission, with pertinent facts, and that advertisements must carry full information about the issue.

DR. L. G. M'CUTCHEON OUSTED FROM COUNTY HOSPITAL POST

Dr. L. G. McCutchen, head of the X-ray department of the St. Louis County Hospital since its opening, was dismissed today by Dr. W. G. Patton, superintendent of the institution. His successor probably will be named Monday.

Dr. Patton said his dismissal was due to "lack of co-operation," stating Dr. McCutchen was not satisfied when his fees were eliminated last April 1. The head of the X-ray department previously had received a salary of $150 a moth and a percentage of fees paid by private patients and those coming to the hospital for X-ray treatment. An effort was being made to effect economies, Dr. Patton said.

Dr. McCutchen, however, ascribed his dismissal to politics on the part of the County Court. He said his income at the hospital had been reduced by 50 per cent.

The County Court was under fire several weeks ago when it placed several political appointees into non-technical positions at the hospital. At that time, it asserted that no changes would be made in the technical staffs for political reasons.

remedies to enforce collection of obligations secured by mortgages. In other states, the Legislatures have recently passed moratorium laws either preventing or delaying foreclosure sales. Public opinion also operates to prevent sales and finally Congress by the new bankruptcy law enables individual owners of real estate to delay indefinitely the enforcement of the mortgage debt.

"In the State of New York, mortgage guarantee companies are actually required by existing moratorium regulations to limit payments on their guaranteed obligations to the amounts directly collected on underlying mortgages. Due to the various conditions mentioned which are beyond their control, the oldest and strongest mortgage guarantee companies there and in other states have been forced to ask for an extension of their obligations.

"We are confronted in our territory by the same conditions prevailing in other parts of the country. We are, for the time being, deprived of the essential feature of our particiption plan, namely, the ability to collect a substantial part of the principal and interest of the mortgages maturing each month. Due to these same conditions, we, too, are forced to ask our participation holders to consent to an extension of the maturity of their certificates. Additional time is required to permit of the proper handling of the mortgage loans without sacrificing their real value."

Obligation to Repurchase.

Real estate loans which are security for the participation notes, the letters add, "were carefully made upon appraisals showing a wide margin of safety and the loans in the aggregate now represent less than 50 per cent of the original appraised values.

"These mortgages constitute the primary security for the outstanding participations and, in addition, the First National Co. is under obligation to repurchase these participations on their due dates if the holders so desire."

Mortgages in the pools of both companies were chiefly on property in the St. Louis district, but some loans were made in other cities. The First National Co.'s mortgages were principally on office buildings and other commercial and industrial property, including some apartment houses. The Franklin-American's mortgages were chiefly on residence properties, many of them small homes.

One Firm in Liquidation.

The Franklin-American Co., since the merger of First National Bank and Franklin-American Trust Co., has been in liquidation. While retaining a separate corporate entity it has shared quarters with the First National Co. on the third floor of the building at Broadway and Locust street. Hereafter its offices will be on the seventh floor of the Franklin-American Building, Seventh and Locust streets.

The First National Co. while not in liquidation, for the present is not undertaking any new business. No steps have been taken to divorce it from First National Bank, a move which directors of the bank have been reported considering.

Officers of Company.

Officers of the First National Co. are: Frank O. Watts, chairman of the board; Walter W. Smith, president; Henry T. Ferriss, executive vice president; Rufus R. Clabaugh, and W. C. Collins, vice presidents; and Lawrence Kinnaird, vice president and secretary. Watts is chairman and Smith president of First National Bank also.

Ferriss announced the following had been chosen to serve as the committee for holders of First National notes:

Clifford W. Gaylord, president Robert Gaylord, Inc., formerly chairman of the board St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Eugene M. Funsten, president R. E. Funsten Co.; J. S. Skinner, president Buxton & Skinner Printing and Stationery Co.; H. D. McBride, secretary Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.; O. M. Cartall, Kessler, Cartall & Co., certified public accountants. Gaylord will be chairman.

C. L. Sager, president of the Franklin-American Co., announced the following would serve as its committee:

FATHER KILLED BY SONS IN RITE TO CURE SISTER

Twin Brothers, After Beating Him While Mother Looks On, Hang Themselves.

RANCHO VELOZ, Cuba, April 29.—Searching parties returning from hills near here reported that Abad and Sabad Gutierrez, twin brothers, had killed themselves after slaying their 70-year-old father, Francisco, in a witchcraft rite which they thought would cure a nervous ailment of a sister, Juliana, 16.

Investigators said that the brothers had beaten their father to death and then mutilated the body while their mother and nine other children looked on. After the killing, they fled to the hills, where the searching parties found they had hanged themselves.

FOUR KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Trial Flight in Bavaria Ends In Accident.

MUNICH, Bavaria, April 29. — Four persons were killed today when an airplane belonging to the German-Chinese Aviation Company crashed near Trauenstein on a trial flight. The plane was demolished.

FIVE SEIZED IN IOWA FOR ATTACK ON JUDGE

Alleged Ringleaders in Mob Violence at Le Mars Arrested by Militiamen.

By the Associated Press.

LE MARS, Ia., April 29. — Five farmers, alleged ringleaders in the assault on Judge C. C. Bradley Thursday, were arrested and held in custody of Iowa National Guardsmen today as a military investigation proceeded. Judge Bradley was seized, dragged off the bench and mistreated when he refused to swear not to sign any more farm mortgage foreclosure orders.

The five arrested were John Kunkel, T. K. Ernst, Harry Reints, John Sokoloskie and Lawrence Sherman.

Guardsmen patrolled the county today. The persons were placed under heavy guard at the Armory and military authorities declined to discuss the arrests or the connection of the men with the attack on Judge Bradley.

Under the state of martial law existing in the county, formal charges are unnecessary to hold the men. They may be tried before a court martial or turned over to civil authorities for trial at the discretion of the commanding officer.

Assistant Attorney-General Leon Powers was ordered to go to Le Mars Monday to start criminal action against the men who hauled Judge Bradley off his bench and assaulted him.

At the same time Attorney-General Edward L. O'Connor deputized former Judge Frank S. Hallagan as an assistant with instructions to proceed with a thorough investigation of the Denison riot.

Both state and county officials were compiling lists of names of persons believed to have participated in the outbreaks.

After the attack on Judge Bradley at Le Mars, Gov. Clyde Herring yesterday dispatched National Guardsmen from Des Moines to Le Mars under the command of Col. Glenn Haynes, then news of the new outbreak at Denison reached the State House. Troops from Council Bluffs, Red Oak, Neola, and Glenwood were ordered to the scene.

There they found farmers and vigilantes alike suffering from injuries suffered in a free-for-all fight which started as Sheriff Hugo J. Willy was crying a farm sale. Major General Matt A. Tinley took charge of the situation. Martial law was proclaimed.

When the sale is continued, Gen. Tinley said, the soldiers will be on duty at the farm house. Agitators of further combat will be taken into custody and turned over to civil authorities for prosecution, he said.

While the farmers were trying to take the law into their own hands, members of the Iowa District Court disagreed on the constitutionality of two of the State's new statutes for debtor relief. District Judge A. P. Barker at Muscatine upheld the constitutionality of the law extending to March 1, 1935, the period for redemption of property in mortgage foreclosure actions. At Winterset, District Judge W. E. Dingwell took an opposite stand.

'PRESIDENT'S DAY' TOMORROW

Observance in Prayer and Thanksgiving Planned.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Eight weeks in the White House will be rounded out at noon today by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Tomorrow people throughout the nation will honor him in an observance of President's day, with expressions of gratitude for what he has accomplished and prayers that he may have the health and strength to accomplish his program. Governors and Mayors in several states and cities have dedicated the day as an occasion of prayer and thanksgiving.

HOME MORTGAGE BILL PASSED BY HOUSE, 383 TO 4

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29. — The administration's $2,300,000,000 home stood a broadside of amendments mortgage refinancing bill within the House yesterday and was sent to the Senate, where early action is planned by Democratic leaders. The vote in the House was 383 to 4. Excepting five amendments of varying importance, it was approved as requested by President Roosevelt.

Three Democrats, Bailey and Terrell of Texas and Hoeppel of California, and one Republican, McFadden of Pennsylvania, opposed the measure on final passage. McFadden previously was overwhelmingly defeated in an effort to send the bill back to the Banking Committee for revision.

After a bitter fight, the House defeated, 133 to 78, an amendment by Cochran (Dem.), Missouri, to authorize direct cash loans to home owners instead of refinancing through bond issues. It also rejected decisively several of moves to increase the limit on the value of property on which loans might be made.

As approved, the bill sets up a home owners' loan association with a capital of $200,000,000, under the Home Loan Board with power to issue 18-year bonds up to $2,000,000,000 to bear not more than five per cent interest. The interest, but not the principal of the bonds is guaranteed by the Government. Bonds may be exchanged for mortgages. Loans may be made at four per cent on property with an appraised value up to $15,000, none of the loans to exceed 80 per cent of the appraised value and in no case to exceed $10,000.

It repeals the direct loan provision in the home loan act of 1932, and appropriates $100,000,000 for the purchase of preferred stock in Federal savings and loan associations to be organized to help refinance home owners where other borrowing facilities are unavailable.

The amendments adopted are:

By Wolcott (Rep.), Michigan, to permit the corporation to pay cash for unpaid balances on homes on which foreclosure is threatened and mortgagees refuse to accept bonds, provided the payment shall not exceed 30 per cent of the appraised value of the property.

By Delegate Dimond of Alaska, to extend the provisions to include the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

By Cochran, to eliminate a provision calling the bonds "instrumentalities of the United States."

By Cellar (Dem.), New York, to limit the rate of interest on bonds to "not in excess of five per cent" instead of fixing it at five per cent.

By Glover (Dem.), Arkansas, to reduce from $250,000 to $100,000 the amount to be expended for publicity in the sale of bonds.

CHILDREN TELL OF CONDITIONS IN PENNSYLVANIA FACTORIES

Boy Says He Worked Six Days and Three Nights to Earn $4.50.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 29.—Child workers of the sweat shops today told their tales of misery and exploitation to Gov. Pinchot's special commission investigating sweat shop conditions.

A 16-year-old boy, who came to the hearing without breakfast because his family is penniless—told of working from 7 a. m. to 3 a. m. several times a week in a shirt plant at Catasauqua. Other days, including Sundays, he worked "only 10 to 12 hours."

For this, the highest pay he ever got was $4.50 a week. That covered six days and three nights work. Then the factory moved its machinery out at night, owing him $18.55.

A 15-year-old girl, employed a year in a shirt factory in Northampton, said she earned $98.20 for a year's work.

Several young girls had testimony to give of immoral conditions in some sweat shops but preferred not to testify before men. So a later hearing was arranged, at which only women miembers of the commission, Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Governor, and women reporters will be present.

Tagore's Son Freed in Germany.

MUNICH, Germany, April 29.—Soumyandranath Tagore, 21-year-old son of the noted Indian poet, Sir Rabindranath Tagore, has been cleared of suspicion of planning the assassination of Chancellor Hitler. The young Indian was held in jail several days after being arrested as he was driving across the border into Austria. Police said his automobile contained suspicious luggage.

Farm-Inflation Measure Goes to Conference Monday

due this country in the next six months; to issue silver certificates against the silver and coin the metal to meet any demands for redemption of the certificates.

Remonetize silver at a ratio with gold fixed by the President and provide for the coinage of both gold and silver at such a ratio.

Powers of Reserve Board.

As a possible curb against too much inflation, the Federal Reserve Board is authorized with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury to require the Reserve banks to take such action as may be necessary. With the approval of the President, the board may declare an emergency exists and increase or decrease reserve balances required to be held against deposits.

President Roosevelt let it be known that he wanted the inflation and farm bills passed as promptly as possible, regarding them as essential to his domestic recovery program, and Democratic leaders have announced the inflation plan would be used "prudently."

The defeat of the bonus amendment—offered by Robinson of Indiana and making it discretionary with the President to pay the war veterans in the new currency to be issued under inflation—came as a blow to congressional advocates. As soon as Speaker Rainey in the House heard of the Senate vote, he said: "That ends it here," but the band of proponents asserted they would not abandon their efforts.

Leader Turns the Tide.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, turned the tide on the bonus debate when he told the Senate that Roosevelt was opposed to the amendment, and that he would not use discretionary power to pay the veterans if it were given him.

Many advocates of the bonus in the past were recorded in opposition, including Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, who introduced the inflation amendment. They held they were unwilling to give the President a power he did not want and did not wish to "embarrass" him.

Not in Good Faith, Clark Says.

Clark told the Senate, in substance, that the bous proposal was a fake through which Senators who voted to slash $400,000,000 a year from veterans' allowances hoped to square themselves with the veterans. He said:

"The President of the United States has announced, through the majority leader in this body, that he will not put into effect the permissive powers—and they are permissive, not mandatory—granted to him by this amendment. I am not willing to fool the ex-service men of the United States in order to afford an opportunity for Senators and Representatives who voted for the economy bill to square themselves with their soldier constituents by voting for this amendment."

Robinson of Arkansas, declared the Government had outstanding hundreds of millions of short term obligations which the inflation was intended to retire and the bonus was not due until 1945.

"There is no legal obligation to anticipate the payment of these adjusted compensation certificates," he said. "These were carefully worked out under the law and do not mature until 1945. If times were prosperous, if conditions permitted and there were not already a great deficit in the Treasury, one might be prompted to anticipate their payment, but how can we involve the Government in a new debt of $2,400,000,000."

Senator Long (Dem.), Louisiana, supported the bonus amendment, declaring he could not understand why "the President is resisting and crying aloud not to be entrusted with this power."

"We owe the bonus," he shouted. "We cried for the veteran, but took $400,000,000 out of his hide under the economy bill."

Many veterans were in the galleries and one former bonus marcher, Harold B. Foulkrod, vice-commander of the B. E. F., was expelled temporarily from a spectator's seat near the press section when he violated the rules by applauding.

Foulkrod apologized to door keepers and later, on motion of Senator Lewis (Dem.), Illinois, he was permitted to retake his seat.

Says He Forgot Himself.

"I was excited and forgot myself," Foulkrod said. "I didn't mean to violate the rules."

The former bonus marcher clapped his hands when Senator Robinson of Indiana declared: "This debt has been due since the Armistice. Due? Its overdue."

The size of the vote against the bonus amendment was a shock to its supporters and a distinct surprise to opponents. Long had told reporters yesterday morning that more than 40 Senators had pledged themselves to vote for it—an announcement which seriously alarmed leaders and sent them scurrying around the Capitol to line up votes. The result indicated that they had done a thorough job.

Borah Sets Off Fireworks.

Before the debate began on the bonus, Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, started a round of heated discussion when he assailed the administration for threatening to prosecute citizens who did not turn in their gold and gold certificates.

Declaring he couldn't understand such procedure when the country was off the gold standard, the Idahoan said if he had $5000 in gold he would "defy the Government to come and get it."

He called for a guarantee of bank deposits and asserted there was "no security, no assurance the person will ever get the gold back" if he turned it in.

"If the Government is going to insist that people bring in their gold," he asserted, "the Government ought to provide a safe place for them to deposit it."

Senator Norris (Rep.), Nebraska, predicted deposit insurance would come in future years. While he had no criticism of any gold orders issued by the administration, he said he did not believe the Government, even though authorized by law, had the right to "require any citizen to deposit his money anywhere, whether it be gold or any other kind of money."

STEAGALL AND GLASS AGREE 'IN PRINCIPLE' ON BANK BILL

Former Announces He Will Offer Deposit Guaranty Plan, Slightly Different from Senator's.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Chairman Steagall of the House Banking Committee today told newspaper men he would introduce next week a bill along the line proposed by Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, for banking reform and deposit guarantees for members of the Federal Reserve Bank system.

He and Senator Glass have agreed "in principle" and Steagall understood that President Roosevelt also had agreed "in principle."

"We are going to get right to work on it," Steagall said. "Details, of course, will have to be worked out. Senator Glass has prepared the bill and my measure will be along the same lines, although slightly different."

Steagall, a strong proponent of the guarantee of bank deposits, previously proposed that the Treasury and the Federal Reserve banks and its members raise an initial guarantee bank de. osit fund of $500,000,000 with a provision permitting them to sell obligations up to $2,000,000,000.

CALLS 50,000 BONUS SEEKERS TO MARCH ON WASHINGTON

Officer of B. E. F. Rank and File Says Armistice Ends on May 9, 1933.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Harold B. Foulkrod, legislative director of the Bonus Expeditionary Forces Rank and File, today issued a general order to all units of his organization to recruit 50,000 men to march on Washington for immediate payment of the bonus.

The order said that in accordance with a suggestion given to Foulkrod and his associates when he conferred recently at the White House with Louis Howe, presidential secretary, "we will not at this time bring 500,000 veterans into the city."

But he added: "The armistice ends on May 9, 1933. If an agreement is not reached at that time the general march on Washington will proceed.

Foulkrod yesterday was ousted from the Senate gallery for applauding a bonus speech by Senator Robinson (Rep.), Indiana. He explained he had become so enthusiastic he forgot where he was.

CHICAGO UNION HEADS KIDNAPED BY GUNMEN

Police Attribute Raid on Headquarters to Fight on Capone Gang Domination.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 29.—An effort to drive Jack White and Murray Humphreys, leaders of the Capone gang, out of Chicago's teamster unions was the interpretation placed today on a raid of the labor group's headquarters here yesterday.

The seizure of the union headquarters by 10 gunmen and the subsequent disappearance of two leaders of the union, came when one of the gunmen arose and addressed the 30 or more men held captive in the third floor room. He said:

"Men, we don't want to hurt anyone. But we are out to break the syndicate grip on our unions. We're going to drive 'Three-fingered' Jack White and Murray Humphreys and that mob to hell out of here."

There was a report that the invaders were members of the Roger Touhy gang, but this was denied by police.

Police received reports that five members of the Touhy gang had kidnaped Fred Sass and Morris Goldberg, labor leaders, in the raid on the Ash Wagon Drivers' headquarters. Detectives learned that the two men have been missing for nearly 24 hours.

The gangsters lined 100 persons against a wall and then herded them into a large room. They took prisoner every person entering the building. They took Sass and Goldberg out to a large sedan and drove away. The men have not been heard from since.

Sass is business agent for the Ash Wagon Drivers' Union and Goldberg is thought by police to be an officer of the same union. The latter is a brother-in-law of William (Klondike) O'Donnell, West Side gang leader.

WOODIN DENIES REPORT HE IS TO QUIT CABINET

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Secretary of the Treasury Woodin from his sick-bed today issued a statement denying reports that he was going to resign and was at odds with President Roosevelt over the inflation program.

The Secretary declared: "I'm with the chief (President Roosevelt) to the end. He is going to lead us out of this situation." He charged that enemies of the administration were circulating the reports in an effort to create dissension, adding: "It is most unsportsmanlike that those who seek to hamper the administration in such an emergency should resort to such expedients."

He said the rumors were not carried by the Associated Press and likened them to assertions that he would need a pair of "asbestos pants" as Treasury head. "They can be relegated to facetious imagination," he laughed.

The Secretary emphasized he had approved of every step in the President's inflation program and that much of it had been worked out at the Treasury.

He became ill last Saturday with a sore throat and has since been confined to his room in the Carlton Hotel.

TESTIFIES PIERSON SUGGESTED IDEA OF BURNING HOTEL

R. H. Cotham, Former Buckingham Hotel Night Clerk, on Stand at Arson-Murder Trial.

TELLS OF ENGAGING MEADOWS FOR JOB

Confessed Co-Plotter, Serving Penitentiary Term for Offense, Is Under Cross-Examination.

Robert H. Cotham, confessed co-plotter in the burning of the Buckingham Hotel Annex in 1927, continued under cross-examination today in Circuit Judge Hoffmeister's Court at the second trial of Ralph Pierson on a murder charge resulting from the loss of seven lives in the fire.

Pale and spare, the gray-haired former night clerk at the Buckingham Hotel appeared in better health than at the time of Pierson's previous trial two years ago. He was brought here from the State penitentiary, where he is serving a 10-year sentence for his part in the plot, that of go-between.

In a smooth, ready fashion, he repeated his story of engaging Andrew B. Meadows, former night watchman at the Annex who is now under a death sentence, to set fire to the building. He said the plot was suggested to him by Pierson, co-owner of the Buckingham and the Annex, about Nov. 15, 1927, at a time when the owners were about to lose the property through foreclosure. The fire occurred Dec. 5.

Relates Talk With Pierson.

The first meeting at which the plot was discussed occurred in the Buckingham coffee shop, Cotham said, where he and Pierson met by prearrangement for breakfast.

"We had a table to ourselves," the witness testified. "'Robert,' Mr. Pierson said, 'you know the hotels are in the hands of receivers and are going to be sold under the hammer. We've lost quite a bit of money and we're going to have to do something to pull out.'"

Pierson then asked the night clerk for suggestions, according to his testimony, and, failing to get any, made a suggestion of his own.

"Mr. Pierson said, 'I thought maybe you'd know somebody who'd set the hotel afire,'" Cotham testified. "I said I didn't know anybody that I was never mixed up in anything like that. He said, 'I've been thinking maybe this fellow Meadows would do it for us. Maybe he will set the thing off. What do you think of him?' I answered that I didn't think much of Meadows, that I had no confidence in him."

Tells of Deal With Meadows.

Cotham said he refused to see Meadows about the plan, but at length, at Pierson's insistence, consented and talked with Meadows in Forest Park, opposite the hotel and the Annex, at Kingshighway and West Pine boulevard.

"When I told Meadows what we wanted, he said, 'Yes, I'll take the job. What is there in it?' I told him he'd have to see Mr. Pierson. Mr. Pierson had told me to tell him he would get 10 per cent of the damages."

Cotham said that Meadows demanded $100 in advance and that he obtained that amount from Pierson and gave it to Meadows. Pierson, he said, had him to set Meadows the fire would have to be set by Dec. 20.

Shortly after 3 a. m. on Dec. 5, Cotham said, Meadows came through the lobby of the Buckingham and remarked to him, "She's off!" A few moments later, Cotham said, the telephone rang and he was told of the fire.

Tells of Demands for Money.

Cotham testified that two weeks after the fire Meadows began to press him and Pierson for money and said that at Pierson's suggestion, he left the city for a while to be free from Meadows. He told of one meeting near Delmar boulevard and Kingshighway, where Pierson personally gave Meadows $10 and promised more later. Cotham said he received amounts varying from $10 to $1 from Pierson to Meadows and in all, paid Meadows about $820.

It was Meadows' hounding of Cotham that finally attracted attention and led to their confessions.

Meadows' Testimony.

Meadows, who is under death sentence, preceded Cotham on the stand. Balking at first in testimony regarding Pierson, he later told of receiving money from Pierson which he said was given "to keep my mouth shut." He denied he had set the fire, although admitting he discussed it with Cotham. His testimony disagreed with Cotham's on several points, as at the previous trial the amount of money he was to receive, the amount he did get at the Kingshighway-Delmar meeting and others. Meadows denied he had told Cotham "I pulled a job like this once before."

Pierson was convicted and a death sentence imposed at the first trial. The charge against him is based on the death of Miss May Frazer, a school teacher, with six other charges pending. Assistant Circuit Attorney Sullivan is conducting the prosecution.

Pierson then asked the night clerk for suggestions, according to his testimony, and, failing to get any, made a suggestion of his own.

"Mr. Pierson said, 'I thought maybe you'd know somebody who'd set the hotel afire,'" Cotham testified. "I said I didn't know anybody, that I was never mixed up in anything like that. He said, 'I've been thinking maybe this fellow Meadows would do it for us. Maybe he will set the thing off. What do you think of him?' I answered that I didn't think much of Meadows, that I had no confidence in him."

Tells of Deal With Meadows.

Cotham said he refused to see Meadows about the plan, but at length, at Pierson's insistence, consented and talked with Meadows in Forest Park, opposite the hotel and the Annex, at Kingshighway and West Pine boulevard.

"When I told Meadows what was wanted, he said, 'Yes, I'll take the job. What is there in it?' I told him he'd have to see Mr. Pierson. Mr. Pierson had told me to tell him he would get 10 per cent of the damages."

Cotham said that Meadows demanded $100 in advance and that he obtained that amount from Pierson and gave it to Meadows. Pierson, he said, had him tell Meadows the fire would have to be set by Dec. 20.

Shortly after 3 a. m. on Dec. 5, Cotham said, Meadows came through the lobby of the Buckingham and remarked to him, "She's off!" A few moments later, Cotham said, the telephone rang and he was told of the fire.

Tells of Demands for Money.

Cotham testified that two weeks after the fire Meadows began to press him and Pierson for money and said that at Pierson's suggestion, he left the city for a while to be free from Meadows. He told of one meeting near Delmar boulevard and Kingshighway, where Pierson personally gave Meadows $10 and promised more later. Cotham said he conveyed amounts varying from $10 to $100 from Pierson to Meadows and in all, paid Meadows about $820. It was Meadows' hounding of Cotham that finally attracted attention and led to their confessions.

Meadows' Testimony.

Meadows, who is under death sentence, preceded Cotham on the stand. Balking at first in testimony regarding Pierson, he later told of receiving money from Pierson which he said was given "to keep my mouth shut." He denied he had set the fire, although admitting he discussed it with Cotham. His testimony disagreed with Cotham's on several points, as at the previous trial the amount of money he was to receive, the amount he did get at the Kingshighway-Delmar meeting and others. Meadows denied he had told Cotham "I pulled a job like this once before."

Pierson was convicted and a death sentence imposed at the first trial. The charge against him is based on the death of Miss May Frazer, a school teacher, with six other charges pending. Assistant Circuit Attorney Sullivan is conducting the prosecution.

MRS. KATHLEEN SMYTHE LEON, wife of Gary Leon, dancer, who has filed suit in New York for $100,000 against Fay Webb Vallee, wife of the famous crooner, charging Mrs. Vallee stole the love of her dancing husband. Mrs. Vallee, in her father's home at Santa Monica, Cal., denies all charges.

J. J. SCHUERMANN WILL IS SET ASIDE BY JURY

Realty Man Dying of Bullet Wound Inflicted by Brother When He Made It.

The will of John J. Schuermann, former vice-president of the Schuermann Bros. Realty Co., 6203A Easton avenue, was invalidated by a jury at Clayton yesterday after it was shown it was made as he was dying of bullet wounds inflicted by his brother Norman, president ofthe firm, in a business dispute.

Schuermann, who was shot Feb. 15, 1932, died the next day, two weeks after four brothers associated with him in the firm voted him out of office. The suit contesting the will was filed by Norman Schuermann, who is awaiting trial for second degree murder, and three other brothers, Frederick A., Harry G. and Lee C. Schuermann besides Emil S. Anishanslin, guardian for two nephews.

Beneficiaries opposed the action. They were Miss Anna Appel, a friend, who wah bequeathed $5000 and Schuermann's residence at 8133 St. Charles lane, St. John's Station; Mrs. Olive Holtzclaw, his divorced wife, who was bequeathed $10,000; and Henry Straubinger, executor of the estate, who was left $10,000. Lee Schuermann was bequeathed $5000.

The executor testified Schuermann was not in possession of all his faculties when he signed the will and physicians were introduced to show he had been given sedatives.

Although the estate was estimated to be worth $50,000 much of it was in stocks which have depreciated in value. The realty company has sued to collect double indemnity on a $20,000 life insurance policy carried by John Schuermann.

ONE OF SIX INDICTED IN GRAFT INQUIRY FURNISHES BOND

ence" the five defendants "to reduce the assessed valuation of the Union Electric Light & Power Co. for the purposes of taxation."

Five of the eight counts of the indictment are devoted to the Union Electric case covering the alleged fixing of the valuation for the purpose of obtaining bribes, and recording the figures in the county records.

The remaining counts charge that the five defendants conspired at a meeting on July 7, 1932, to the end that they "solicited, demanded and obtained as bribes, presents and rewards to unlawfully and corruptly and with partiality influence their votes in matters relating to the assessment and taxation of real property owned and possessed by persons and corporations, and to use their powers as members of taxing boards with corrupt partiality to persons and corporations."

"Bribes Totaling $30,000."

It is also charged that they received "bribes totaling $30,000 and other sums unknown to the grand jury to fix assessments with partiality to persons and corporations."

The story of the manipulation of the Union Electric assessment was told by the Post-Dispatch on April 17 in connection with its investigation of the East Side tax graft scandal.

In 1928 the assessment against the plant was $3,800,000. In 1929 it was raised to $8,750,000 by the Board of Review.

In 1930 it was raised again, this time to $10,450,000. The following year the same figure was placed on it, but the Board of Assessors went back to the books on July 10, 1931, after it had closed them and reduced it to $4,250,000.

This figure the Board of Review raised again to $10,450,000 on the same day. On the next day it recorded in its minutes that the Union Electric figures "were again changed." Subsequently it developed that the figure for that year was $5,500,000. The same figure was used in 1932.

Meanwhile Union Electric had filed suit protesting against the assessment of 1929 and 1930, and the suit was finally compromised on a valuation of $7,500,000 for each of those years.

Efforts to obtain a statement from executives of Union Electric concerning the charges in the indictments were unsuccessful. President Louis H. Egan was at the company's lodge at Bagnell Dam today, but declined to see a Post-Dispatch reporter who went there or to give out any statement. Vice-President Frank J. Boehm was ill in a hospital and could not be seen.

The forgery indictment against Parker is based on a set of eight letters signed by Throop which Parker hawked about East St. Louis and finally sold for $1000 to a St. Louis newspaper. One of the letters purported to be addressed to McKane and included a recital of collections of $25,000 from various East Side firms.

Another of the letters, addressed to a corporation, sought a "loan" of $1000, and the remaining six purported to be written to introduce emissaries of the graft ring to East Side corporation executives.

Throop, while admitting complicity in tax grafts, flatly denied authorship of the letters and declared Parker wrote them. Throop said he gave Parker eight or nine sheets of his business stationery signed by him, with instructions to his employ to write on them letters of thanks to St. Clair County Democrats who had indorsed Throop for a State park job. He expressed the opinion Parker wrote the letters in the form they finally appeared with the intention of selling them and leaving town with the money so obtained.

The grand jury returned the true bills in Circuit Judge Miller's court after the luncheon recess and immediately took a recess until Wednesday. Assistant Attorney-General Neiger, who is co-operating with State's Attorney Zerweck in the investigation, announced that he would confer with Attorney-General Kerner about the progress of the inquiry before returning to Belleville for resumption of the investigation next week.

In taking up the inquiry again next week, it is understood the grand jury will seek to learn the connection with the graft ring of an East St. Louis lawyer and an East Side contractor named by Throop in his confession and a supplementary 80-page statement by Neiger and Zerweck.

So far the grand jury has heard the testimony of Throop, John Costello, secretary of the Board of Review; Fred Grahmann, Centerville Township Assessor, and Samuel A. O'Neal, newspaper reporter.

CIVIL LIBERTIES GROUP IS TO AID ILLINOIS MINERS

St. Louis Committee Will Seek to Obtain Constitutional Rights Now "Flagrantly Denied."

The St. Louis Civil Liberties Committee pledged its support to Illinois coal miners to exercise constitutional rights "which are being flagrantly denied," in a resolution submitted by Roger Baldwin of New York, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, last night at the Kingsway Hotel.

Steps were taken toward forming a committee of persons without personal interest in mine labor or capital, from St. Louis, the East Side and probably Chicago, to investigate what Baldwin called "the toughest situation in the United States" and lay the facts before Gov. Horner and Federal authorities.

The action was taken after four members of the Progressive Miners' Union had described a "reign of terror" to suppress the formation of their new union. They pictured the fiery cross flaming on the hills by night and the American flag over machine guns by day, the killing of six men and one woman, direct police and military aid to the mine operators, the invasion of homes, the beating of countless men and women, and the fomenting of race and religious prejudice.

Saline County "Neutral."

In Saline County, with predominant American-born population, and others where the civil authorities had been "neutral," they said, no disorder has arisen. But constant disorder existed in such counties as Franklin, where the Progressive miners were striking, not for change of wages or hours, but for the restoration of civil rights. In Christian County, they told of the arrest of 1100 men in one group at Taylorville, and declared that although the militia had been in charge for months, martial law never had been declared, since that would require the county to pay part of the expense.

Against all opposition the new union has organized 114 locals, with an auxiliary of more than 76 branches, related its spokesmen—Gerry Allard,editor of the Progressive Miner, Pat Ansboury of Buckner, Agnes Burns Wieck, president of the auxiliary, and her husband, Edward A. Wieck of Belleville.

Their highest officer, they related, was limited to a miner's basic wage of $1700 a year, and three-fourths of union dues had gone into relief. The union maintained 42 relief stations, but even here, although the stations ministered to strikers and unemployed alike, they had been hampered by denial of civil rights.

Benefit Dances Barred.

Mrs. Wieck read letters from a woman in a Franklin County town relating that meetings and benefit dances for a school "soup kitchen" had been prohibited, although it provided lunches for 150 children, including children of non-members and of families never connected with mining, who would otherwise go hungry.

"There is always trouble in the coal fields," commented Baldwin. "It was in Kentucky last year, in West Virginia the year before that, and today it is in Illinois. The Progressive miners are in what may fairly be called a hell of a fix. Every form of suppression up to murder is being practiced to prevent the formation of the new union."

Baldwin, a former professor of sociology in Washington University, tilted back his chair, thrust his thumbs in his vest pockets, and gave the local committee an informal survey of events affecting civil rights throughout the country in the last year. So many liberals went into office, he remarked, that "since the election last fall, we have had an embarrassingly easy time."

Economic Fascism.

"Private capital in large measure has given way to a form of state capitalism," he remarked. "The National Government has taken over much of the direction of business, and given it a sort of pledge to keep it going.

"We are moving toward a sort of economic Fascism, yet without political Fascism, because there is nothing to suppress. With all these new dictatorial powers, in all this expansion of Federal authority, one would expect suppression. An analogous situation exists in England. Both countries are free of direct suppression, and for the same reason: there is no effective opposition."

Notably in the Labor Department, he said, Federal respect for civil rights had risen with the new administration. But still hanging over from the last administration was the rule preventing foreign students from working their way.

Censorship Problems.

He related that he had suggested to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins that aliens arrested for deportation be allowed to obtain counsel as soon as arrested. Miss Perkins replied that she didn't see why they should be arrested at all, why they could not be served by summons as in an ordinary civil case—"and," Baldwin smiled, "we were put in the position of conservatives."

The Civil Liberties Union still had a problem in censorship—in the mails, radio, the stage, the movies and in Boston. And the lamentable thing, Baldwin remarked, was that the merely bawdy, the vulgar and salacious always got by; it was the idea that was struck out.

COMMISSIONERS TO CONSIDER CUT IN POLICE FUND

Estimate Board Asks That $5,100,000 Demanded of City for Fiscal Year Be Reduced.

The Police Board, which has called on the city to provide $5,100,000 for the Police Department in the budget for the new fiscal year, was asked by the Board of Estimate & Apportionment yesterday to accept a substantial reduction of this figure.

Under the law, the city must appropriate whatever the Police Board demands. President Igoe of the Police Board said, after a conference of the two boards at City Hall yesterday, that a definite conclusion had not been reached, but that full consideration would be given the city's request. The Police Board, of which Mayor Dickmann is an ex-officio member, will meet next week to take up the question.

Mayor Dickmann said the size of the requested reduction would not be announced until after the Police Board discusses the matter. He anticipates a reply within a few days. The Police Board has agreed that the contribution by all its employes of 10 per cent of their salaries to the Citizens' Committee on Relief & Employment, effective since last year, would be continued. This is an indirect aid in the city's effort to balance its budget, since the city has been making up the deficiency in relief funds.

May Reduce Civilians.

The sum the Police Board has called for in this year's budget is somewhat larger than the appropriation for the last fiscal year. According to the Mayor, the Police Board will make every effort to economize. The civilian staff of the department might be reduced, but no suggestion has been made of reducing the commissioned police force, which has been considered too small.

The Election Board, which, like the Police Board, is a State-controlled agency supported by the city, met with the Board of Estimate yesterday also. It was announced the Election Board accepted a $10,000 reduction from its request for $83,000 this year. Unless special elections should be called, the board will have only routine duties and small personnel this year. One economy suggested is a cut in pay for whatever extra clerks may be hired occasionally from $6 a day to $5.

$158,706 for Assessor.

An allowance of $158,706 for the Assessor's office in the new budget was announced yesterday. Fred Gehner, who retired recently as Assessor, had requested $209,472 for this year, in comparison with $190,051 received last year. Assessor Coale plans to install billing machines to make out tax bills, which would decrease personnel and expense of the office.

Other labor-saving devices may be considered for city offices, to reduce the number of employes. As has been told, there is a general effort to remove 500 or more workers from the city payroll, which has numbered 7000.

The Board of Estimate, which hopes to have the new budget ready soon, will meet frequently next week to discuss economies. It consists of Mayor Dickmann, Comptroller Nolte and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen.

EUGENE MUEHLMANN, RETIRED BREWERY OFFICER, DIES AT 88

Formerly Secretary-Treasurer of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.; Funeral Services Monday.

Eugene Muehlmann, a former secretary-treasurer of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., died last night at his home at Chesterfield, of infirmities of age. Mr. Muehlmann, who was 88 years old, was associated with the brewing company from 1870 to 1901, beginning as a bookkeeper. For several years after his official retirement, he maintained an interest in the company, visiting the brewery almost daily. Until two months ago he never had been ill.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Ida Muehlmann, he is survived by two sons, Carl and Paul Muhlmann, and a daughter, Mrs. Edith Lofgreen of Kirkwood.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bopp undertaking establishment at Clayton.

NEVILLE LAWRENCE, stock broken of London, England, in St. Paul's Chapel on the University campus, April 27. Miss Schuyler has long been prominent in political circles. This photo shows the couple as they left the chapel after the ceremony. They will spend their honeymoon in Italy and then reside in London.

EX-MAYOR INDICTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Julius Lowenheim Put Bridgeton Funds Into Peruvian Road Bonds.

Indictment of Julius Lowenheim, former Mayor of Bridgeton, on a charge of embezzling $1095 of the village funds became known yesterday when the St. Louis County grand jury for the January term returned its final report.

The indictment charges Lowenheim with commingling personal money with village funds and with converting $1095 of the latter to his own use.

Lowenheim, 67-year-old insurance agent, furnished $5000 bond. He told reporters that during his term as Mayor, from April, 1930, until the first of this year, he invested, at the direction of the village trustees, $625 of village funds in road bonds of the Government of Peru. The transaction involved $927 and Lowenheim says he made up the $302 difference from his personal funds. The bonds are now in default.

Lowenheim says he has tendered the bonds to the trustees, but that a demand was made for the money, which he says he will not pay.

County Grand Jury Urges Pay Cuts of 9 to 33 1-3 -Pct.

In its final report yesterday the St. Louis County grand jury recommended salary cuts ranging from 9 to 33 1-3 per cent for county employes, and suggested that the administration of the St. Louis County Hospital and the Board of Health be consolidated in the interest of economy.

The jury also recommended the consolidation of related county departments, and the establishment of a central purchasing bureau. With reference to the County Hospital and Board of Health, the report suggests that the hospital superintendent assume the duties of Health Commissioner and that other economies be put into effect.

Loose election methods in University City are condemned by the grand jury, which refers to the theft of ballots in the recent municipal election in University City as an example of lax voting practices.

MINERS FIGHT TROOPS AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

Riot of Pickets Quelled with Tear Gas By State Guardsmen.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 29.—Five hundred mine pickets clashed with a detachment of National Guardsmen, police and Sheriff's deputies at the entrance to Brookside mine here late yesterday in a renewal of violence in the Central Illinois labor strife.

The disturbance started when the pickets gathered at the mine as 300 employes, all members of the United Mine Workers of America, emerged after their day's work. The mine is operated by the Peabody Coal Co.

More than 100 city police and Sheriff's deputies were sent to the scene and later a call was sent for the troops stationed at Taylorville to prevent disorder in the Christian County era.

Forty guardsmen, a detachment from Company K, arrived, fixed bayonets and attacked the pickets with tear gas before order was restored.

John Falber of Springfield, said by police to belong to the Progressive Miners' Union, was burned on the face by gas. Police said he attempted to wrest a gas gun from one of the guardsmen. At a hospital it was said his injuries were not serious.

Jules Marcy and Joe Perko, both of Springfield, identified by police as members of the Progressive Miners' Union, were arrested and lodged in jail.

WATCH INSPECTOR ROBBED OF $500; CASE OF JEWELRY

Held Up at Frisco Roundhouse by Group of Men Who Force Way Into His Automobile.

Arthur W. Hageman, vice-president of the R. P. Wiggins Jewelry Co., 123 North Eighteenth street, was robbed of $500 and jewelry valued at $2000 by two men, who held him up a the Frisco Railroad roundhouse, 7000 Fyler avenue, at 8:15 a. m. today.

Hageman drove to the roundhouse to inspect watches for railroad men. As he stopped his automobile the robbers, one of whom carried a revolver, forced their way into the machine and ordered him to drive to Commonwealth avenue, nearby. After taking the money and a case containing the jewelry, they got into a Chevrolet machine parked in the 3300 block of Commonwealth avenue, and drove away. Hageman returned to the roundhouse and called police.

Firemen of Engine Co. 13, Eleventh and Carr streets, yesterday afternoon captured a Negro, who aided a white man in robbing Joseph Greenspoon, 60, a grain dealer, of $8 in a yard adjacent to the engine house.

Greenspoon, whose place of business is at 1117 Biddle street, drove into the yard and was pulled off his wagon by the white man and his Negro companion. While the Negro held the victim, the second robber took the money.

Greenspoon's shouts were heard by a Negro woman, who called the firemen.

USE OF OXYGEN FAILS TO SAVE LIFE OF BABY

Firemen Called and Work Nearly Seven Hours, Using Four Tanks.

Four tanks of oxygen were used by city firemen early today in an effort to save the life of the newborn son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rozak, truck gardeners living on Weber road, near Gravois road, in St. Louis County. The baby was pronounced dead at 8 a. m.

Firemen of Engine Company No. 38, Grand boldevard and Potomac street, were called to the Rozak home shortly before 1 a. m. They worked for nearly seven hours under the direction of Dr. J. C. Cornell, attending physician, applying oxygen.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Halt Foreclosures!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

AFTER one has nursed along an ailing cow for several lean years, it is a crowning blow to be forced to stand by and see the Sheriff lay hands upon the animal just when she is showing some disposition to give milk again.

That analogy holds with regard to countless real estate foreclosures—many that are already under way and others that are imminent.

Enter inflation. With this phenomenon ready to spread its wings, real estate should be one of the chief beneficiaries of an upward movement in commodity prices, wages and ultimately rents.

For the first time since rentals took their initial sinking spell, property owners see some prospect of being able to hold their own in the death struggle with the unholy three—principal payments, interest and taxes. No measurable improvement in rental values is expected for some time, but the groundwork unquestionably is being laid for a restoration of balance between rents and fixed charges.

It seems unfair—almost a jest of fate—that property owners who have made precious sacrifices to hold on to their equities should be compelled to let go at this possible turning point.

Inflation calls for some manner of immediate protection for these sorely tried mortgagors. It will be a strong temptation for mortgage holders to press foreclosure proceedings now with a view of reaping handsome profits when property values stage a comeback. Redemption rights are not adequate protection. It is to be hoped that banks, insurance companies and other mortgage holders will refrain from this legal but vicious type of exploitation.

In the case of income properties, mortgage holders should be content with an assignment of rents or some other equitable plan in lieu of foreclosure. In the case of homes and non-income property, the utmost leniency should be exercised in exacting payments until it is seen at what level commodity prices, wages and real estate values will stabilize.

Let the property owner hold on to his cow, at least until the present confused perspective becomes clearer.

IRWIN A. OLIAN.

Decries Proposed Bonus March.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ONE Joseph Miller of Milwaukee states that a bonus march to the seat of government will take place in June. Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are fully aware of such a movement and are fully informed of the motive of its sponsors.

The ex-service man who is worthy of the uniform he wore will refuse to countenance any action by any group that is opposed to the orderly process of law.

Veterans can best serve themselves and their country by sharing the common lot. To lend aid to the movement referred to would be an act of disloyalty toward our President, who is striving to alleviate the distress of the nation.

The majority of veterans have been hard hit by the economy law, but patriotism will not permit them to harass the administration when the security of the nation is at stake.

No citizen, and especially no ex-service man, should lend aid or moral support to this bonus march, knowing that its sponsors are of the type who seek to use the veteran to further the plans of those who would destroy our liberty and independence. ALBERT MYRICK,
Quartermaster, Santiago-Argonne Post,
No. 1102, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

An Explanation of Hitlerism.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

OPPOSITION to the Hitler movement in Germany, where it is without bias, comes from a total lack of knowledge of what has been transpiring in Germany since the World War, or from an inability of the critic to put himself in the other fellow's place.

It is imperative to realize, first, that in the more than 14 years which have passed since the World War, an army of young men has grown up in Germany, men now from 18 to 30 years in age. Like young men in all lands, they are fired by high ambitions. They need room and freedom to fill out their destiny. But what do they find? They find they are shackled and weighed down by a contract called the Versailles Treaty, which was forced upon their fathers at the point of a gun. They feel, and rightly so, that they are responsible neither for the beginning nor the ending of the war, and so will have none of the treaty.

Secondly, as the inevitable consequence in an oppressed people, everything of value in the nation is owned by or mortgaged to a foreign person. The movement against the Jews irresistibly follows because Jewish bankers in Wall Street and London hold the papers which control most of the big industries of Germany, and banking in Germany itself is almost entirely in the hands of Jews.

Hitler's army of young men demands that Germany be given back to the German people. The Jew in Germany never will be a German, for the German people are substantially of homogeneous blood. In the United States, the Jew may be American in the sense that none of us is American. The Nazi battle cry is, Germany for the Germans. L. S.

MR. CUMMINGS PLEDGES HIMSELF.

Attorney-General Cummings' radio message to the American people was good to listen to. It was reassuring on a matter about which doubts had begun to arise. What would the Department of Justice do with the dishonest bankers of New York and with other public malefactors of their character who might be mentioned? Mr. Cummings met the question squarely. He promised to prosecute those who have committed "financial crimes," regardless of who they are.

Nor did the new Attorney-General leave any doubt as to the conviction of the Roosevelt administration that the welfare of the people takes precedence over the pleasures of the money power. Employing the fine phrase of Justice Brandeis of the Supreme Court, he said: "Those who have considered it legitimate to gamble with other people's money must abdicate their leadership." Truly Wilsonian was his declaration that "those who thought that the center of government is located in the financial district must learn that it is at Washington."

Mr. Cummings appreciates the fact that he is filling an office for which another was originally chosen. He knows how deeply the country regretted that the late Senator Walsh was prevented by death from occupying it, and that he himself does not possess the great record of the Montanan as a tireless investigator and a sifter of evidence. Yet he takes to the President's Cabinet a high resolve which inspires confidence. He says that the functions of the Attorney-General's office were never more important than they are today and in this he is unquestionably right. A necessary part of the liquidation of the boom is the punishment of those who violated laws in the outrageous manipulation of savings entrusted to them by unsuspecting investors. Mr. Cummings keeps the faith of the New Deal when he pledges himself to press forward in the task to which Senator Walsh had committed himself.

Equally gratifying is the announcement that the Department of Justice is to undergo a thorough overhauling. It has long needed it. The late President Harding unfortunately appointed Harry M. Daugherty to head the department, and Daugherty staffed it with men of his own choosing. Many of them remained through the Coolidge and Hoover terms and are still in the department, as Mauritz A. Hallgren reminded us in a recent article in the Nation. "Dead wood," as Mr. Cummings describes much of the organization of the Attorney-General's office, is bad enough. A corps of assistants who reflect the philosophy of government held by Harry M. Daugherty is far worse.

Connecticut and the leaders in his party have known Mr. Cummings for a long time, but the country as a whole has little to judge him by, as yet save his declaration of intentions. Worth noting in this connection is his conception of the law, as given recently. The law, he said, > is not a mere body of precedents. I visualize it as a living, vital, growing thing, fashioned for service and constantly being refashioned for further service. It is not, and it should not be, the unloved ruler of a reluctant people. It is, and should be, a trusted servant ministering to the needs of mankind. It should serve to cement, and not strain, the bonds of affection that ought to exist between the people and the government they have created.

Such a philosophy of the law calls to mind similar utterances of great jurists like Holmes, Brandeis and Cardozo. It should stand Mr. Cummings in good stead as he goes about the fulfillment of his promises. He has a chance to distinguish an office all too long undistinguished. Realization of the New Deal depends in no small measure on the Department of Justice.

ST. LOUIS: BOY SCOUT CENTER.

The St. Louis metropolitan area now contains more Boy Scouts in proportion to its population than any other metropolitan area in the country. Such a distinction would be cause for just pride at any time. At the present, when the lot of the character-building agency is particularly hard, it should prove a double encouragement to the 12,000 boys and adults hereabouts who are seeing the scout movement through the economic storm. James E. West, national chief scout executive, is right when he says, "This expansion is a significant contribution to the solving of one of the greatest problems of the day." The Post-Dispatch speaks for the community when we say that scouting has its admiration and best wishes for continued usefulness.

A PROFESSOR AS A PROPHET.

The extraordinary powers vested in President Roosevelt are not temporary grants, in the opinion of Prof. J. T. Young, University of Pennsylvania, which will be withdrawn when the pressure of circumstances is eased. By virtue of those powers, a program has been or is being initiated, the completion of which will require the prolonged exercise of the larger presidential authority.

That was the professor's thesis in his address to the American Political Science Association, in which he went on to say that the relation between the executive and legislative departments must be rearranged. In the future, final decision will rest with the President, who will originate legislation, submit it to the discussion and "limited veto" of Congress, formulate the rules necessary for carrying out approved laws, and have undisputed control over the appointments of the executive personnel. "We must abandon our present theory," says Dr. Young, "that the legislative department represents the people, while the executive does not."

Dr. Young's reasoning is plausible, but before accepting his prophecy, the prudent citizen will at least consult history. Mr. Roosevelt is not the first President to whom Congress has delegated unusual powers under the stress of conditions. The war-time powers extended to President Wilson are still fresh in the public mind, as well as the anxiety voiced in intellectual circles as to the probable permanent consequences. But when the crisis passed, the vast executive powers passed also, not altogether, to be sure, but sufficiently to re-establish our historic structure.

We have had Presidents, moreover, who without the consent, or requested permission, of Congress have "acted first," as Theodore Roosevelt phrased it, leaving to Congress the post-mortem privilege of debate. Jackson also heard himself denounced as a usurper, but in neither T. R.'s case, nor that of "Old Hickory," did the epithet cramp the magisterial style. Meantime, Garfield's impassioned manifesto is as true today as when occasioned by Lincoln's assassination—"God reigns and the Government at Washington still lives."

Crises come and go, and charters and civilizations. Our Constitution, however, has weathered some severe storms and come through intact. It is in rough seas now, but the Pennsylvania professor might well hesitate before pitching it overboard. Clio may be giving him the laugh.

SENATOR GLASS AND INFLATION.

Senator Glass stands in the inflation debate where Stephen A. Douglas stood in the slavery debate. The country honors him for it, as in another time it honored Douglas. Theirs is the lofty view which seeks to have the future deal honorably with the past.

The difficulty is that such high-mindedness is not the way of the world. Any new era breaks violently with the era which preceded it. To bridge over these chasms, as Douglas would have done in the case of slavery, and as Senator Glass would do in the case of inflation, is impracticable. The whole testimony of history is against it. All the great leaders of humankind who occupy a place in history have been those who turned their backs squarely upon the status quo. That is why Lincoln has become a historical giant, whereas the figure of Douglas grows always dimmer upon the page of time.

On the day Senator Glass addressed the Senate in opposition to inflation, farmers up in Iowa tried to hang a Judge for ordering mortgage foreclosures upon farm lands. That was the answer to the Senator's speech. It is terrible that this is so, but it is so. To blink the startling realities of a time when the people are without money is to invite a disaster out of which worse things can arise than are proposed in Congress.

The Government must do something. We wish it might do what Senator Glass would like to see it do. We are quite aware that inflation involves repudiation. We are also well aware that deflation involves repudiation. It is as impossible to sell a farm mortgage under the one as the other. The country has only a choice of evils. To determine which is the lesser evil is such a test of the national wisdom as we have not had since the stirring days before the Civil War.

We did not settle that question as Douglas would have had us settle it, nor can we settle this one as Senator Glass would have us settle it. The Virginia Senator thinks we can patch up the status quo, and he stood with Mr. Hoover through a long period of effort to do so. He even voted against his judgment for the R. F. C. Good as it is, his cause is lost.

END OF THE HEATH HEN.

The heath hen, a species of grouse once plentiful in the Central and New England states, is extinct, it is regretfully concluded by the ornithologists who have waited in vain more than a year for a sight of the last known survivor, in the lonely sanctuary at Martha's Vineyard Island. So the encroachments of civilization and the hunter have sent another species to the oblivion of the passenger pigeon, Labrador duck, Eskimo curlew and great auk. When it became apparent the heath hen was declining in numbers, a preserve was set up, but too late, for disease, a disastrous fire and natural mortality reduced the flock to one bird in 1928. This solitary scion came forth each spring to issue its mating call, but no response came. And now the last heath hen is gone.

Only strenuous efforts in recent years have prevented others of our native fauna from following the same tragic course. Conservation activities came too late for the heath hen, but game laws, sanctuaries and propagation enterprises should preserve our remaining species if the hunters co-operate.

A CHICKEN THAT CAME HOME TO ROOST.

Senator Borah thinks the Government has no right to ask the people to turn in gold when there is no guarantee of a safe place to deposit it, and we agree that it ought not to do so. The Senator points out that we are not on the gold standard, and he has no patience with a law which proposes to penalize those who do not turn in their hoardings.

The Government long ago should have moved to provide security for the people's money. It has contented itself with a banking system which left the depositor without any such guarantee. As a result, some eight billion dollars of the people's money are tied up in closed banks, and a considerable part of the people's money is irrevocably lost.

Senator Dill thinks the Postal Savings system should be amplified to provide the people with what they should have, and there is impressive support for such a proposal.

Meanwhile, many of the state Legislatures are adjourning without doing anything about their banking laws. Our own State of Missouri is an example. The new banking law which Congress is framing will make it possible for the states to have branch banking if they so desire, but Missouri forbids it.

The Legislature gave no serious attention to this, one of the most pressing problems before it. We cannot do away with a dual banking system in the United States, because under any law made by Congress the states will have the right to license banks; but we could give the depositor a choice between an insecure and a secure bank.

Everybody is quite silent in Congress when someone like Senator Borah rises to assert that the people must have security for their money if they are to quit hoarding. There is no answer to it. Congress itself should blush to admit that it has never provided such security.

DIGNITY AT NIAGARA.

The matter of beer vending in the parks at Niagara Falls, N. Y., that overlook the cataract has been settled on the lofty basis of dignity. It would be infra dig, or perhaps even lese majeste, for citizens or visitors to quaff frothing steins near the world's fifth wonder, it is decided, so beer is outlawed. This assertion of dignity is a novelty that the tourist who has been exposed to the county fair activities of this world mecca would never have suspected. The bus hawkers, hotel barkers and vendors of varied souvenir atrocities might be viewed as a bit undignified by even the most insensitive. Nor does the nightly illumination that splashes blobs of gaudy color across the falls add a whit to the dignity of the spot. The commissioners who thought beer undignified might ponder over what Rupert Brooke, the English poet, wrote of the army of touts that infests the area:

> There are touts insinuating and touts raucous; greasy touts, brazen touts and upper-class, refined, gentlemanly, take-you-by-the-arm touts; touts who intimidate and touts who wheedle; professionals, amateurs and dilettanti. . . .

Returning to the beer issue, one wonders whether the Canadian side will now be branded with a reputation for boydenish unseemliness. For that sector, which many visitors assert offers the best view of the falls, has long been serving not only beer, ale, stout and porter, but far more potent beverages.

"DID SOMEONE MENTION HENRY L. DOHERTY?"

Education's Task in the Crisis

America is victim of its past prosperity, and the lowering of standards has involved schools; for the new era, citizens must be trained who will assail privilege, punish betrayers and preserve human liberty; materials for building such citizenship are available, and educator urges they be used in developing character and intelligence.

From an Address by Dr. Francis M. Crowley, Dean of the School of Education, St. Louis University, at Educational Conference of Lincoln University, Jefferson City.

MANY years ago Theodore Roosevelt said that the greatest danger Americans had to face was that of growing soft. Perhaps the depression will harden our moral fiber to a certain extent and give us a new concept of our place in the divine economy.

Why have we grown soft? We are to a certain extent the victims of our own prosperity, for wealth invariably has a debilitating influence. Material prosperity gives an unwarranted sanction to ease and comfort and the paths of least resistance. Opportunities for the gratification of individual desires are multiplied, while occasions calling for sacrifice and renunciation decrease. With the increase of wealth there has been a vertical and horizontal expansion of the educational system, with a consequent lowering of standards so as to care for the masses on all levels of instruction.

We have excused looseness in the enforcement of the standards we retained, and consequently sacrificed the interests of the superior students who, in the very essence of things, constitute the real hope of democracy. We have resorted to the deplorable practice of labeling vinegar as sugar, of confusing mediocrity with superiority and placing midgets in the seats of the mighty.

But teachers and administrators are not altogether to blame, for there are many factors over which they have no control. There is a certain element of compulsion in social pressure, which it would be professional suicide to ignore. But it is time to turn back and raise the standards so as to discover excellence, provide opportunities for excellence and exalt it to its proper place in political and social life. Given moral power and courage, giants instead of midgets may once more be expected to occupy the seats of the mighty.

It may be said with some truth that we have the machinery, the man-power and the intelligence to provide a more abundant life for all our people than anything we have known in the past. But it is evident we are not doing so, for never in America have we witnessed such human misery, such abandoned helplessness, such abject fear, and even worse, open questioning of present political, economic and social practices.

It is undoubtedly true that "the great obstacles are the greed of the few who still enjoy an abundance of comforts, the timidity of the many who have never learned to think courageously because our mechanical civilization has given them the endowment of a slave mind, and the cowardice of those who occupy positions of leadership in politics, business and journalism." The responsibility resting on leaders in politics, business and journalism connotes a compulsion and urgency terrifying to consider.

We are not training slaves; we are charged with the high duty of training free men. Faced with moral bankruptcy and abject cowardice, we must train Americans who will once more be able to stand alone, masters of their destinies because they have learned to master themselves, courageous to a fault in their assault on intrenched privilege, ready to smash the idols which have been found to have feet of clay, eager to punish the Mitchells, the Insulls and the Daughertys who have defiled the temple of democracy, on fire with the desire to do those things which liberalism permits and urges to be done, so as to disarm the Communists who would destroy human liberty and precipitate chaos.

The materials and the occasions are available for worth-while character education programs: physical training to harden the body and promote a sense of fair play; great literature, including the Bible, to throw open magic casements on sun-lit seas, to appeal to the sense of nobility which lies dormant in every human heart; science to foster open-mindedness, humility and understanding; social science to promote tolerance, to provide perspective and to rouse a sense of dependence on others; mathematics to rouse the imagination and strengthen conviction through the contemplation of distances approaching the infinite; student activities to develop initiative and responsibility, and special lectures to develop concepts of the fundamental principles which should govern behavior.

The teacher stands in the center of the plan, supreme arbiter of the destiny of the student, object of hero worship or contempt, charged with the fearful responsibility of shaping and directing a human soul.

The greatest task in the field of character education is to train for the new era we are now entering. Much that we have held dear must be scrapped. The new citizen who is emerging, despite all his tremendous proclivities for self-determination and his tendency to chafe under restraint, must have a new sense of moral responsibility.

Material advancement and industrial efficiency are no longer his concern; he is fighting for existence. He will no longer be servile; everything that savors of centralization, standardization or regimentation will be subject to incessant attacks. The day of herd psychology is on the wane, and he will no longer run with the crowd. He will not be bullied into surrendering his private judgment to public opinion. He will resent encroachments by governmental agencies in the sphere of personal liberty.

But such a man would be a man of high courage, sterling principles and firm convictions; he would be a man of character. To such a man, capital would be "an incident and a by-product in the growth of liberty and the development of liberalism." It would always assume a secondary, incidental and subordinate place. The main aim of his existence would be preservation of human liberty. Thus he will be thinking on new lines, looking for the general welfare through an extension of taxing power, and through government oversight and control of private property and natural resources.

So this task of reviving fundamental convictions resolves itself into training for effective citizenship in a new generation, in which character, connoting ability to stand alone, will be a supreme requisite. Liberalism is nothing more than fundamental American doctrine, which every thinking American would indorse. We are sorely in need of a new revival, and a new declaration of faith in the power of intelligence and character as necessary elements in our democratic life. It is our task, and I am confident that it can be done.

Dr. Roosevelt

Bernard Kilgore in Wall Street Journal.

THE Thomas "inflation" amendment to the farm bill has been referred to as an "insane" piece of legislation, which is likely to be disturbing to the ordinary lay reader of daily newspapers because of the many baffling complexities which money problems in general always present.

It is perfectly true the Thomas bill contains enough dynamite to blow the United States money system right off the face of the earth. When one man has power to direct the expansion of basic credit (at least 10 times as important as ordinary commercial credit), to expand the nation's unsecured currency issue and to change the amount of precious metal backing for the money unit, he has the power to destroy the whole set-up—if not by the very extent of his manipulations, at least by their suddenness.

But it is also true that the average physician has in his medicine case enough of various materials to kill a large number of his patients. And the surgeon has at his disposal a variety of instruments that might readily be used with murderous effect. However, as a class, physicians and surgeons are regarded as the benefactors of humanity rather than public enemies.

So the Thomas amendment in reality does not raise the question of sound money vs. disaster. Not right now it doesn't. That issue will arise, if it appears at all, when the various provisions of the measure are taken up by the President for action—assuming, of course, that the proposal becomes law. Such being the case, the point to be considered first is whether Franklin D. Roosevelt (and his successors, if the law is to remain in effect after he relinquishes his high office) are qualified "physicians" or "surgeons" to undertake diagnosis and treatment when a vital economic organism appears ailing.

Some advocates of the measure have contended, in effect, that it is better for dangerous drugs and sharp surgical instruments to be in the hands of one man, with recourse to the advice of the nation's best experts, than under control of a legislative body which might talk itself into the middle of next month while the patient lay gasping for breath.

Other supporters of the legislation believe the amendment is about one-fourth active program and three-fourths bluff—that the credit expansion idea is uppermost in the minds of leaders at Washington but that the provisions relating to currency inflation and gold tinkering are mostly to be regarded as clubs on the shelf. They would serve as ample assurance, presumably, that prices simply will not be allowed to decline. With such assurance, potential users of new credit might be expected to undertake borrowing that they have eschewed while prices, in general, have been on the toboggan.

There is no getting around the fact that the Thomas amendment represents one of the most sweeping grants of power ever proposed for the head of any modern government. It apparently has no parallel at all in United States history. Furthermore, it would become a part of a "farm relief" bill which is of itself an astounding piece of legislation compared with anything else that this country has tried to do for the farm industry—or any other industry, for that matter.

It's all a question of whether the present emergency demands such drastic measures or whether it doesn't. The risks are obvious, but so are the economic and social threats which the greatest depression in history has brought in its train.

MILLS CONDEMNS INFLATION, FARM, LABOR PROGRAMS

Ex-Secretary of Treasury Tells Indiana Editors They Will Set Up 'Immense Bureaucracy.'

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29.—Former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, told the Indiana Republican Editorial Association last night that the Roosevelt administration's farm relief-inflation program which was passed by the Senate yesterday, and its labor measure would set up an "immense bureaucracy."

"The American working man and the American business man," Mills said, "are to become the creatures of a small group of bureaucrats thousands of miles away. . . . Prosperity, progress, invention, initiative and enterprise will be stifled."

While condemning the legislation as unsound, Mills nevertheless told the 500 editors gathered for their annual banquet, that, "if we are to follow these policies, it is the duty of all to contribute as best each may to their success."

Measures "Go Too Far."

Before speaking to the editors, Mills told a group of Republican war veterans that "we can have an expansion of credit without deflating the dollar, going off the gold standard or issuing greenbacks. Measures now before Congress go much too far to accomplish what is wanted."

"All measures," he said in his address to the editors, "proposed by the administration that will promote the common welfare are entitled to our support, irrespective of party, though in the interest of sound legislation the opposition should subject every bill to the tests of analysis and debate.

"Personally, I would waive all objections as to details if the main purpose be constructive, and, recognizing that the administration has a clear mandate from the people, I would resolve doubtful questions in its favor and be willing to subordinate my own judgment. Moreover, under present conditions, I recognize the force of the argument in favor of experimentation.

"But we cannot be expected to sacrifice our deepest convictions and principles. When measures go so far as to be subversive to the principles upon which our Government is founded, and to run counter to the spirit of our institutions, then we must speak out."

Analyzes Farm Relief Bill.

Analyzing the farm relief bill and the labor control measures advocated by Secretary of Labor Perkins for incorporation in the 30-hour work week bill, Mills said:

"Under the terms of these two bills the executive branch of the United States Government is not only to take over the taxing power, but is to have the right to fix prices of some of the necessaries of life, to control the production of basic commodities, to license business, to regulate the hours of work, to establish the wage-scales and to fix the production of every individual industrial establishment in the country. . . .

"If there exists any such power in the Federal Government, tear up your histories and your constitutions. A government of limited power will have become overnight one of unlimited authority over the lives of its citizens. State lines and state sovereignty will cease to exist. The Federal form of government, with local control and responsibility the only successful form of government for this immense country, will be destroyed."

Of the inflation legislation, he said it would "authorize the President not only to impair countless contracts affecting the rights and property of millions of individuals, but to repudiate in part the obligations of the Government of the United States."

Mills added: "Bonds and notes that, in accordance with specific statutory enactment carry on their faces the promise to be paid in gold dollars of the present standard of value, may under the terms of this bill be redeemed in gold dollars of a lower standard of value."

Denies Pressure of Necessity.

"We are not to do with this under the compulsion of necessity. Our Government is to break faith as an act of free choice. You may be told the necessity exists. I say to you that it does not, any more than I know of any necessity for abandoning the gold standard."

Mills expressed willingness to indorse the first section of the inflation act, providing for purchase of three billions of Government bonds by the Federal Reserve banks, though he said he doubted the need to buy so many.

The second clause, calling for issuance of $3,000,000,000 of paper money, he said was purely "printing press money, with no security back of it." He called this "the most direct method of producing uncontrolled inflation."

"I do not say uncontrolled inflation will necessarily follow," he said. "It may not. But why run the risk, when more moderate and fully efficacious means are at hand?"

Of the third, the gold content reduction section of the bill, he said:

"Aside from the fact that this provision is unconstitutional and involves partial repudiation of its obligations by the United States Government, it will not in my judgment, produce the expected increase in domestic prices. Strictly speaking, it isn't an inflation proposal, though, indirectly it might result in some measure of inflation."

EX-ST. LOUISAN DEAD

ALEXANDER KONTA.

ALEXANDER KONTA DIES IN NEW YORK

Ex-St. Louisan a Private Banker, Theatrical Producer and Promoter.

Alexander Konta, former St. Louisan, who became widely known as a private banker, theatrical producer and business promoter, died yesterday of heart disease at his home in New York after an illness of two months.

Konta, born in 1862 in Budapest, Hungary, came to St. Louis in 1894, and made many friends by his cosmopolitan air and his literary accomplishments. In 1895 he was married to Miss Annie Laurie Lemp, daughter of William J. Lemp, founder and head of the Lemp Brewing Co. He was in the stock brokerage business here for several years, specializing in brewery securities.

When the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, the St. Louis World's Fair of 1904, was being planned, Konta promoted the City of Jerusalem, a large concession which was within the main fair grounds, not on the Pike, as the amusement street was called. Konta designed and built the miniature city, which contained reproductions of the Mosque of Omar, Church of the Holy Sepulchre and other historic spots. He supervised also the sale of the stock, but failed to keep a majority block from getting into the hands of a Kansas group, including the Governor of that State and a former United States Senator. The Kansans reorganized "Jerusalem" and set Konta down outside its wall, a loser on his investment.

Translated "The Devil."

He left St. Louis after the fair and lived in New York and abroad. While in his native Hungary he saw Ferenc Molnar's drama, "The Devil" and became its American translator and co-producer. It was in the title role of this play that George Arliss made his first notable American success.

He also produced two plays with the late Henry W. Savage and collaborated with the late Col. Henry Watterson of Louisville on a history of the Manhattan Club, of which they ewre members. Col. Watterson dedicated his autobiography, "Marse Henry," to Konta.

He returned to St. Louis for a time, in an era of commercial and industrial mergers, to promote a merger of the leading downtown restaurants. He formed the St. Louis Catering Co., which was to eliminate costly competition and bring about economies, and got the best known places, Faust's, McTague's, Nagel's and Caesar's, to enter it. Discord arose in the management, and the "restaurant trust" soon disappeared, the proprietors resuming control of their respective places.

Mrs. Konta, the former Miss Lemp, engaged in literary pursuits in New York, and wrote an ambitious "History of French Literature." Konta organized and sought to finance a society for the preservation of history by means of the moving picture camera and the phonograph, the present moving picture sound mechanism not having been perfected then.

Sued by Wife for $101,000.

Early in 1914, Mrs. Konta filed suit against her husband for $101,000, which she charged that he owed her on promissory notes. Their separation became known at that time.

During the early World War period, before the United States entered the war, Konta was an adviser of German and Austro-Hungarian diplomats and propagandists in this country. He co-operated with Dr. Bernard Dernburg in the plan for purchase of a New York daily newspaper, to be used as a vehicle for German propaganda. The negotiations for purchase of the paper, which were not successful, were described in testimony before a Senate committee which investigated propaganda activities in 1918. Konta at that time stated that he had changed his pro-German views after the sinking of the Lusitania, and that he had been loyal to the United States since its entrance into the war. He was active in a society for Hungarian independence, and called on President Wilson to assure him of the loyalty of its members.

After the war, Konta spent much time in Vienna and Budapest, and worked in movements for relief of distress in those cities.

Besides his widow he is survived by a son, Geoffrey Konta.

DEFENSE COUNCIL REVIVAL URGED BY MANUFACTURERS

National Association Sends Delegation to Washington to Advocate Use of War-Time Agency.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Mobilization of the nation's industrial forces to combat the depression through revival of the Council of National Defense was urged on President Roosevelt and Congress by the National Association of Manufacturers yesterday.

At the same time, the organization went on record against the 30-hour work week legislation pending in Congress and adopted its own alternative suggestions, including a loosening during the emergency of the anti-trust laws.

To the White House itself and the Capitol, a committee composed of 25 manufacturers will carry the views of the association.

While both resolutions were reported as having been adopted unanimously, heated discussion preceded the vote on the proposal that the National Defense Council be revived. Led by John W. O'Leary of Chicago, a former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the opposition fought vigorously, but apparently cast no dissenting votes.

Howard E. Coffin of New York, who exchanged words last year with President Hoover after the Chief Executive had declined to recreate the Defense Council, supported the resolution.

"There already exists an instrument for national industrial planning and control, an instrument that proved its worth before, during and after the World War," Robert L. Lund of St. Louis, president of the association, said. "Through the revival of this organization—the National Council of Defense—we have ready-made an emergency peace machine and personnel to act quickly, definitely and above all constructively to end the impasse in which industry finds itself."

The association condemned the 30-hour week bills now pending as "unsound in principle and unworkable in practice."

"They constitute, on their face, a regulation of production and not of commerce," the report said. "The far-reaching result of accepting a proposition that Congress can regulate matters entrusted to local authorities by arbitrarily prohibiting the movement of commodities in interstate commerce, unless produced under conditions as Congress provides, would bring all freedom of commerce to an end; eliminate the powers of local government, and disintegrate our constitutional system."

In place of these bills the association proposed virtual suspension of the anti-trust laws during the emergency in favor of industrial agreements.

RAIL, TARIFF, PUBLIC WORKS BILLS READY FOR CONGRESS

They Will Virtually Complete Administration Program for Session.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The introduction of three more bills will virtually complete the administration program for the busiest special session of Congress since war time.

The three proposals are designed to help the railroads, give President Roosevelt broad power over tariffs and provide for an expansive public works program to increase employment. They will probably go to Congress in the order named, with the railroad bill leading the way, perhaps Monday or Tuesday.

Both houses were in adjournment today for a week-end holiday. Before adjourning last night, the Senate made the Norris Muscle Shoals bill its unfinished business, with leaders predicting that this and the $500,000,000 direct relief measure would be speedily disposed of, probably on Monday.

LORD GREY ASSAILS HITLER POLICY IN LONDON SPEECH

If Germany Were Well Armed, Peace of Europe Would Be Threatened, He Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, April 29.—"If Germany today were as powerfully armed as she was in 1914, the peace of Europe would be insecure," said Viscount Grey of Falloden, addressing a meeting of the Liberal party yesterday.

"The attacks on the Jews show a feeling throughout Germany that might is right, and all means are legitimate and may be used for the exclusion of everyone else from the German race. If we had refused the right of citizenship to Jews in this country we should have been considered to have gone back 100 years."

Lord Grey was formerly British Foreign Secretary and was special Ambassador to the United States in 1919.

MISS MARGARET DAWES WEDS

Daughter of Rufus C. Becomes Bride of Beverly Jefferson.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Miss Margaret Dawes was merried last night to Beverly Jefferson of Chicago. The Rev. Paul A. Wolfe of Evanston officiating, in the town apartment of the Bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes.

BUSINESS GAINS REPORTED AFTER BANKING HOLIDAY

Eighth District Federal Reserve Bulletin for March Finds Evidences of Improvement.

While irregularity characterized trade and industry in the Eighth Federal Reserve District during March, numerous evidences of improvement followed the national bank holiday, according to the monthly report of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, made public today.

The rapidity with which banking facilities were restored, the report says, resulted in a revival of confidence and a release of a large volume of business.

The month was marked by a seasonal expansion in demand for merchandise, the report notes, although the expansion was not as great as in the corresponding month in preceding years. The full extent of the improvement in mercantile lines, however, was not reflected adequately in March statistics since much of the improvement took place late in the month and early in April, particularly in the demand for necessaries.

Sales in wholesaling and jobbing lines were larger generally in March than in February, although they were still below the volume for March, 1932, the report says. Unfavorable weather, banking disturbances and the lateness of Easter resulted in a less favorble showing in retail distribution. The general level of industrial production declined slightly below the February level, but the trend started upward April 1.

Rural Trade Restricted.

Trade in ruarl areas was restricted by lateness of the planting season and floods. Because of heavy rains, agriculture in the district fell from 10 days to two weeks behind the seasonal schedule. The supply of farm labor was large, with farm wages at the lowest levels since 1902.

An increase in unemployment caused by reduced mining operations and closing of certain industrial plants was counter-balanced by employment due to resumption of brewing operations, the report notes, with the result that the employment situation as a whole showed no marked change from the February situation.

Retail trade, as reflected by sales of department stores in the district's principal cities, was 13 per cent larger than trade in February, but 28 per cent less than trade in March, 1932. In St. Louis retail trade declined 26.9 per cent from the volume recorded in March, 1932.

Wholesale Business Better.

Sales of wholesale and jobbing firms were 21 per cent greater than sales in February, but were 13 per cent below the total for March, 1932. Total sales for the first three months of this year were 16 per cent less than sales for the first quarter of last year.

The dollar value of building contracts for new construction in the district's largest five cities was about one-half greater than in February, but 69 per cent under the value in March, 1932. For the first quarter this year the total was three-fourths smaller than for the comparable period a year ago. In St. Louis the value of permits in March was $97,000, whereas in March, 1932, the value was $201,000.

Although an upward trend in railroad freight traffic began after the sharp decrease in the first half of March, the volume continued below that of the corresponding period last year, the report observes. Passenger traffic declined 27 per cent from the total in March, 1932. The St. Louis Terminal Railway Association, handling interchanges for 28 connecting lines, interchanged 116,049 loads in March, against 112,484 in February and 149,953 in March, 1932.

In Individual Industries.

Condition in individual industries during March are reported as follows:

Automobiles—While distribution was larger than in any other month since last June and showed a fair increase over February distribution, the volume was smaller by nearly one-third than that of March, 1932.

Boots and shoes—Sales were 35 per cent greater than sales in February, but 9 per cent less than in March, 1932. The month-to-month increase was seasonal and less than the increase a year ago.

Clothing—Usual seasonal influences coupled with lateness of Easter resulted in increase of sales over the volume reported in the preceding month and in March, 1932.

Drugs and chemical — Sales showed an increase of 10.5 per cent over the preceding month, but a decrease of 16 per cent under the March total last year. The seasonal gain was somewhat larger than usual, due to belated demand for fertilizers and insecticides.

Dry goods—Reversing the usual seasonal trend, sales showed a slight decline from February sales and fell 23 per cent below the total in March, 1932. Orders for a considerable volume of goods for the Easter trade were canceled.

Electrical supplies—Sales increased 17 per cent over February sales, and were only 5 per cent below the volume for March, 1932.

Flour Production Gains.

Flour—Production at the 12 leading mills in the district totaled 306,680 barrels, against 252,291 in February and 232,282 in March, 1932.

Furniture—Sales were 7 per cent less than sales in February and 18 per cent less than sales in March last year.

Groceries—Somewhat more than the usual seasonal betterment took place, but sales were 14 per cent smaller than the total in March, 1932.

Hardware—Sales increased 16 per cent over the February total, but were about one-fifth smaller than the total in March, 1932.

Iron and Steel—With a gradual resumption of activities in metal plants after the bank holiday, operations were restored early in April to the level prevailing in February. Expansion of brewery requirements stimulated the movement of galvanized sheets.

GOV. PARK ORDERS MODIFICATION ON INSURANCE LOANS

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 29.—Gov. Park has ordered State Superintendent of Insurance Joseph B. Thompson to modify his insurance moratorium order "to give the same protection to policyholders as to insurance companies."

Thompson's order, making certain exceptions, forbade insurance companies to make loans to Missouri policyholders and also barred payment of cash surrender value on policies.

After conferring with Thompson yesterday, the Governor said: "The insurance moratorium was made by Superintendent Thompson without my knowledge, consent or approval. I suggested to Mr. Thompson that the moratorium must be modified as to give the same protection to policy holders as to the insurance companies.

"I stated my views clearly in a special message to the Legislature approving a moratorium on insurance if equal protection was granted to policyholders. It is regrettable that the moratorium was delayed until immediately after adjournment of the Legislature."

Thompson said he had instructed lawyers for the Insurance Department to "get busy and see what can be done about it," but that it might be a week before they could determine what steps could be taken to meet the Governor's objections.

The term of Thompson, a Republican hold-over, does not expire until July, but reports were current last night that the Governor might remove him sooner under a bill passed by the Legislature, which gives the Governor broad powers over patronage. R. Emmett O'Malley of Kansas City will succeed Thompson.

In his message to the Legislature asking for passage on the insurance moratorium bill, Gov. Park demanded that policy holders in companies declaring moratoriums be given an "even break" with the companies. The bill failed, not being called up for final action when its defeat became apparent, chiefly due to the action of the House Judiciary Committee in killing a real estate mortgage bill sponsored by Senator Donnelly.

In his message to the Legislature, Gov. Park said, in part: "The original bill has been, or should be, so amended that during the period these companies are excused from payment of policy loans, debtors may be granted a like moratorium and policyholders relieved of payments."

BRITISH COAL TRADE EXPECTED TO GAIN BY ARGENTINE PACT

LONDON, April 29.—British coal interests may reap the principal benefit from the Anglo-Argentine trade agreement which will be signed at the Foreign Office Monday, it developed today.

In return for the British agreement to raise the meat import quota from Argentina practically to the level prevailing before the Ottawa agreements, Argentina promised to attempt to maintain a steady consumption of British coal.

American interests may suffer from the terms of the agreement, it was reported, which would assure Great Britain a large proportion of the available foreign exchange dealings.

U. S. POST FOR F. A. THOMPSON

Frank A. Thompson, member of the law firm of Thompson, Mitchell, Thompson & Young, received notice from Attorney-General Cummings yesterday of appointment as a Special Assistant Attorney-General to handle special cases in Missouri and part of Illinois. His compensation will be fixed at the conclusion of his services.

For about 14 years Thompson and Cummings have been acquainted. Thompson saw the Attorney-General in Washington recently, but was not an applicant for the position. He will continue to practice law with his firm, which has offices in Central National Bank Building.

Daniels Gives Reception.

"We Must Rebuild World on New Basis," Says Herriot; Declares France Hopes to Aid in Task

Former Premier Looks for Tariff Truce—Tells New York Audience His Nation Knows No Hatred.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Former Premier Edouard Herriot of France in an address here last night said important progress had been made in recent White House conferences toward a solution of world economic problems.

He spoke informally in French to an audience of French and Americans at a dinner under the auspices of the French Chamber of Commerce whose President, Jean Tillier, introduced him.

He praised President Roosevelt and said the President "aims to work for the reconstruction of the world."

In a press interview shortly after his arrival from Washington, Herriot announced his satisfaction with the talks with Mr. Roosevelt. He thought the "big idea" on which the President was working as a possible solution for the security probuem was "the development of the Kellogg pact."

A tariff truce, which would put a stop to the growth of barriers to international trade, the French emissary thought, will probably be realized within the near future.

His first purpose in coming to America, Herriot said, was to strengthen the good will between the peoples of his country and of the United States. He was confident that this had been accomp'ished. In addition, his mission had come to work for the establishment of world peace and world prosperity.

"We have got to rebuild the world on a new moral basis," he exclaimed. "We must establish a new base upon the fundamentals of justice, law and liberty. But fine buildings are not built in a day."

Text of Speech.

A translation of his speech at the Chamber of Commerce dinner follows:

"Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen: On the eve of my departure I am deeply touched by the cordial reception which has been given me tonight by this magnificent audience, thanks to the initiative of the French Chamber of Commerce of New York, to whom I wish to express my thanks in the person of its president. You will excuse me if I cannot greet all the people whose names now come to my mind.

"Allow me at least to express the homage of my country to the Ambassador of the United States, Mr. Jesse Isidore Straus, who will shortly come to Paris, and to whom I promise that we shall do all in our power to make his stay with us pleasant.

"I wish to thank Mr. (Frank D.) Pavey, who a little while ago expressed a wish, very exaggerated indeed, but which I excuse because of his good intentions, and of the friendly manner in which he spoke.

"And since I am only president of the Lyonnaise Republic—and have been for a long time, to be sure—which proves the patience of French people so often accused of flightiness and fickleness—I take the liberty of recognizing in this assembly a man of whom your county and mine are proud, Mr. (Alexis) Carell.

"Since I cannot, since I do not wish to mention too many names, allow me to greet the French societies which have met here tonight, that is to say, the French Chamber of Commerce and the societies which have just been named, the Franco-American societies who complete the work of our national groups. The French institute to whom I wish to express my deepest sympathy for the loss they have recently sustained in the person of Ormond Smith (who was president).

Reasons for His Trip.

"And now, ladies and gentlemen, I should like to tell you the reasons for my trip. I don't mind giving you these reasons since we are here in a private group—and besides, telling things is the best form of publicity.

"I have come here, first of all, as you know, to bring closer the ties of French-American friendship. I hear very often in France a word which I don't like at all, a word which I think is stupid: it is the word 'propaganda.' I do not hesitate to say so because between free countries, if by chance you offer them ready-made opinions, you can be sure that they will not accept them. I know this would be the case with me, if someone wanted to impose an opinion upon me.

"I have seen somewhere a report from one of my colleagues to the effect that France intended to send to the United States, not scientists, not professors, but young men who would make a good impression, elegant and handsome young men, and no doubt slim.

"When reading this I experienced a kind of retrospective fear as I realized that if that collegeue of mine had been entrusted with the care of nominating this delegation, I am sure he would not have chosen me.

How to Promote Friendship.

"Since I have been lucky enough to escape this danger, I want to tell you that there are only two ways of increasing the friendship between France and the United States.

"They are the exchange of information, which should be loyal and honest, accurate, and by personal contacts. We should keep informed of the doings of one another more accurately than we do now, but we should allow each other to form his own opinion. Then we should establish personal contacts, and that is what I have planned to do.

"I have come here among you American people. I like the American people because among their many qualities, their creative power, their technical ability, they have shown one quality which is perhaps not sufficiently known.

"The American people are human, and the best proof of it is that they have accepted me as I am. They have recognized in me a Frenchman, and they have no doubt said to themselves, 'Here is a man. We do not know to what extent he possesses all the qualities of a Frenchman, but he surely has all the faults of one.'"

Grateful to America.

"And this is why I think I have been so well received here. I am very grateful for it. I am leaving this country with a regret not to have had a chance to come in closer contact with the average American, of whom I have seen so many during my brief stay.

"I have brought you, citizens of the United States, a message from the people of France, and tomorrow, if you will permit me, I shall carry back with me to France the faithful memory of her sons and her daughters who have received me tonight in this great hall with the cordiality in which I readly recognize the stamp of our country.

"But the amiable president of the French Chamber of Commerce has asked me to tell him why I had desired to take part in the discussions at Washington, and what has resulted from these discussions. Again I shall try to inform you.

"I have answered the call of the President of the United States, that is to say, the invitation of the head of the Government, who belongs to the family of the greatest Presidents who have ever governed this great nation.

"Not being an American citizen myself, I have not been able to vote for him. I, therefore, permitted myself the compensation that no law nor international law can deprive me of—that is, I confess a profound admiration and great affection for him.

Aim of Roosevelt.

"He aims to work for the reconstruction of the world. For this difficult work of high purpose he has called a Frenchman who under many varied circumstances has associated himself in promoting the cause of order and world peace.

"I have come to the United States, and I can assure you that these conversations in Washington have already had the most happy and efficacious results. Certain nations already have come to the White House—England and France. Others will come shortly, and through these conversations President Roosevelt will work toward the establishment of a method and order in a formidable enterprise, which is very necessary.

"Why?

"You know well. For reasons which it is not necessary to go into now, for I have no intention of delivering a lecture on political economy to you—I am the head of the mission, but I am not an expert. The experts are seated beside me here at this table or in this room. You know these gentlemen well.

"For reasons which are not entirely as yet discovered, the world is upset.

"The world is upside down, the world is worried. Here and there in every country stalk misery and grief and profound suffering, and there is not a man in public life worthy of his name but who feels this deeply.

"I think for my part that politics and moral responsibility must be intimately related. If I did not think this I should not be here tonight.

Purpose of France.

"Many kinds of problems confront us, problems of tariffs, problems of currency, problems of international relations, problems of mutual confidence. France, a nation often slandered, is not an egoistic nation. She has suffered, and you know it well, for you have come to her aid. For several years she suffered martyrdom, but she has risen from her ruins and she intends to protect her children.

"She knows no hatred, no aversion to any other people in the world, and her great joy would be to be able to collaborate usefully in this work which now confronts us in the restoration of humanity. And for the technical part of that work, France has charged us to collaborate with our American and English friends.

"And already, ladies and gentlemen, I am able to say that in these few days of active work, thanks especially to the efforts of the experts, major principles have been established.

"Scarcely a week ago one still wondered whether a world conference was possible. Despite the difficulties caused by recent events, the wisdom of the men responsible has resulted already in an outline of the great work which must be continued under the leadership of the great man who called us to Washington.

"But, ladies and gentlemen, the world not only needs practical reconstruction, but it also needs political tranquility. It is necessary that the people for whom we are going to try to re-establish the opportunities for permanent work essential to the continuation of family life should feel themselves free from the fear of the periodical assaults on civilization in the form of atrocious war.

"It is also necessary to reconstruct the world. It is necessary to reconstruct it on a basis of the respect for liberty, on the basis of the respect for law, and it is because these principles of liberty and law are so strongly felt in your country, as they are in mine, that I have come with joy for my part as a Frenchman, united with you by bonds of tradition and gratitude, and also as a Republican who believes in the virtues of liberty and justice.

"It is on these bases that the conversations in Washington were held. It is because they have been inspired by this spirit that they have already given the results which I feel certain have reassured the peoples of the world. And now it is necessary to continue in this path. It is necessary to continue the work which, do I need to say, is far from being completed?

"Tonight I saw an admirable building which they told me was erected in one year, and I thought, as I admired it, that it will take much longer than one year to construct the Temple of Peace. Order particularly will be necessary. Perhaps, after all, if the construction of the Tower of Babel proved a failure, it was due to a poor organization committee.

Union of U. S. and France.

"Let us try, then, to unite for the purpose of decreasing human suffering for the economic restoration of the world, for its political peace for the re-establishment of the great principles of justice and liberty. Let us try, then, to unite all the peoples of wisdom and experience, and let us try especially to unite in effort the United States and France.

"Ladies and gentlemen, I imagine if you have given me tonight such a cordial reception, which has so deeply touched me, it is because you have understood that I have worked to this end and that I have responded whole-heartedly to the call of which I told you earlier this evening.

"I am going to leave and in a few days I will see my beloved France. Truly, I have never really left it, because if one loves France as I love it, one carries it with him in his heart, and also because I have found France again in your affectionate welcome, in your friendship. I thank you in the name of France.

"But before leaving this land of librety, of honor, of pride, and of justice, there is one thing I must do, ladies and gentlemen. Once again I wish to direct your thoughts to this admirable leader whose heart is as great as his mind, who in Washington at this time co-ordinates these great efforts.

"I propose to you, ladies and gentlemen, that you join me in manifesting our satisfaction in the results already obtained; by honoring a man, a statesman to whom I dedicate my affection and my respect. I propose a toast in honor of Mr. Roosevelt, President of the great Republic, the United States of America."

STILL SEIZED IN OLD BELMONT MANSION

Raiders Say Plant Is Largest Ever Found in New York Area.

By the Associated Press.

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., April 29.—Eight Federal prohibition agents seized a huge liquor still early today in the 27-room mansion, once owned by the late Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, New York social dictator at the turn of the century. The raiders said the still was the largest ever found in the New York area.

Eight employes of the place were arrested.

The still, well polished, was built to turn out 5000 gallons of molasses alcohol daily, running into 19-barrel vats set on parquet floors among 10-foot plate mirrros.

Although none of the Belmont furniture remained in the old white mansion, it still was decorated as in the palmy days. White plaster arabesques adorned the ceilings; the mirrors were polished.

"The sparkling machinery made the place look like the engine room of a trans-Atlantic liner," said one of the raiders.

Mrs. Belmont's bedroom was a bedroom no longer. On the door was a neat sign: "Private. Keep out. For mix and engineering departments only." That was the distillery office.

The old Belmont home occupies two square miles of wooded land. The house itself is set 1000 feet back from the road and further secluded by a grove. Earlier in the night, in another section of the property, the agents had captured a 500-gallon still and three cookers.

Mrs. Belmont died in January in Paris. Her home was sold some time ago.

Senate's Acceptance of the Inflation-Agricultural Bill Is Followed by a Fresh Frenzy of Buying on Exchange.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Senate's acceptance of the inflation-agricultural bill set the signal for a fresh frenzy of buying in the Stock Exchange today, sending many issues up 1 to more than 5 points in the biggest Saturday's trading in many months. The market closed buoyantly, with a turnover for the two-hour session of some 2,850,000 shares.

Traders who had put out short lines in expectation of a sharp technical reaction, were severely squeezed in the new uprush, and a wide assortment of issues reached the best levels for the year or longer. Price averages were boosted to the highest level since last September.

Indications of business expansion, in the week-end trade reviews, was also undoubtedly a factor in the upsurge. Reports from the steel and automobile industries were particularly observed. Further stiffening in steel prices was indicated, and estimates indicated that ingot production had stepped up to new high levels for more than a year.

Ticker Behind at Close.

Trading facilities were again overwhelmed by the rush of business in the Stock Exchange, and the ticker ran for several minutes after the close.

American Can jumped several points in what looked like a short squeeze. Issues up 3 to 4 included United States Steel common, American Telephone, Union Pacific, American Tobacco B, Corn Products, Case, Western Union, and United States Steel preferred. Buying was well distributed throughout the major groups. Mail order and farm implement issues were buoyant. Motors were particularly active, with General Motors, Nash and Chrysler up around a point. Issues up about 2 included Santa Fe, New York Central, National Steel, American Smelting, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Westinghouse Electric and others.

Commodities were buoyant as well, and some bonds soared.

The weekly freight car loadings showed a check to the recent advance. For the week ended April 22, Class 1 roads handled 492,970 cars, or 1245 less than in the previous week.

Sears-Roebuck's sales report for the four weeks ended April 22 showed a reduction of only 12.4 per cent from 1932, against a drop of 18.8 per cent for the first 12 weeks of the year.

Cotton jumped about $2 a bale, and wheat advanced 2 to 3 cents in the earlier trading. Foreign exchanges again strengthened against the dollar, with sterling up several cents and French francs up several points, although failing to reach their recent highs.

Wall Street and Washington.

The passage by the Senate of the Thomas inflation amendment to the farm relief bill—as well as the farm relief measure itself—had been accepted as a foregone conclusion in Wall street. Most quarters in the financial community take it for granted that the House will concur in this legislation without serious objections, and discussion is already centering on the question of just how far President Roosevelt will utilize his extraordinary powers in raising the dollar value of commodities.

The financial district was keenly interested in the statement in Senate debate that the primary purpose of the inflation amendment was to aid the Government to refinance maturing obligations of the United States. Inasmuch as the Government has several large maturities in the near future, Wall street will doubtless focus particular attention on the Government list from now on.

DOLLAR WEAKENS IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE DEALS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29—The dollar weakened in today's foreign exchange dealings.

Sterling opened 6 cents higher at $3.84, French francs at .0446 cents were up about 1-10 cent, while Swiss francs advanced nearly half a cent to 21.90 cents.

COTTON ADVANCES OVER $2 A BALE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Passage of the farm relief bill by the Senate was followed by an advance of more than $2 a bale in cotton today. After selling up to 7.80c for July at the start, the market showed signs of hesitation, but heavy realizing sales were really absorbed on slight setbacks and July later advanced to 7.90c or 43 points net higher. The close was firm at net advances of 39 to 42 points.

Cotton futures closed firm, 39 to 42 higher. May 7.75; July 7.87@7.90; Oct. 8.11@8.13; Dec. 8.23@8.26; Jan. 8.31; March 8.48. Spot quiet; middling 7.90.

Cotton futures opened firm, 19@23 higher on active general buying, passage of farm bill by Senate, firm Liverpool cables and higher foreign exchange.

May opened 7.60; July 7.70; Oct. 7.90; Dec. 8.06; Jan. 8.09; March 8.27.

The opening advance met heavy realizing from commission houses and other sources. This caused momentary hesitation but the higher opening of the grain market and firmness of stocks encouraged additional buying and prices resumed their climb.

July advanced to 7.80c and December to 8.15c, making net gains of 31 to 33 points on the more active positions. May sold at 7.62c, or 28 points net higher. Brokers with Japanese connections were credited with selling early while both buying and selling orders were in the market from Liverpool and the continent. Liverpool cables said the market there had advanced on heavy trade calling.

Cotton Up $1 a Bale.

NEW ORLEANS, April 29.—Reversing a recent reactionary tendency, cotton futures jumped $1 a bale at the opening of today's market in response to Senate passage of the farm relief-inflation bill and on better Liverpool cables than due. July contracts traded at 7.67 on the call.

WHEAT ADVANCES OVER 6 CENTS AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Tumultuous purchasing on a tremendous scale hoisted wheat more than 6 cents a bushel late today.

Season high price records for wheat were outdone, and corn, oats, rye, and barley were also sharply higher. Broad speculative demand for all grains, following passage of inflation measures by the Senate, was the outstanding feature.

Wheat fel wupward almost 4 cents a bushel today the moment trading began.

Senate adoption of the administration farm commodity bill was followed by excited buying, and prices at the same instant in different parts of the wheat pit varied as much as 2 cents a bushel.

Opening 2@3⅛c up, wheat afterward fluctuated violently within the initial limits. Corn started 1⅝@2⅝c higher, and subsequently held near the opening range.

The rush to buy was characteristic of the type of dealings that have become common to the wheat pin in the last few weeks. Traders scrambled and fought for footholds in an effort to place buying orders. After the opening bulge, the usual wave of profit-taking sales swept over the pits, but failed to shake the market much. Quotations in the pit for a time were out of line with the blackboard because of big board transactions.

A rise of 5 points in British exchange acted also as a decided stimulus to wheat buyers. took place before wheat trading opened.

Enormous selling to realize profits on wheat was absorbed with amazing readiness. In most cases, reactions from prices failed to get within 2 cents above yesterday's finish, and the market rallied time and again to near the high point reached at the opening.

Corn and oats soared with wheat.

SHARP UPWARD RANG[E] IN CORPORATE BOND[S]

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—A sharp upt[urn] in some corporation issues and some f[or]eign obligations gave the bond market buoyant appearance today despite minor regularities in the various "gilt edg[e]" groups.

Only the United States Government department failed to participate in the general advance, although downward rang[es] here limited to unimportant fractions in the majority of instances. Trading in Federal bonds also was relatively dull.

Upward ranges of fractions to 2 or more points were recorded by many of the low-priced rails, utilities and industrial[s]. Among the more active of these were some of American & Foreign Power, Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago & Northwestern, Chi[le] Copper, Dodge Bros., Erie, Goodyear, International Telephone, Loew's, National Dairy, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Philadelphia Reading Coal & Iron, Postal Telegraph, Southern Pacific, Southern Rail[way], Union Pacific, United Drug and Western Union.

French Government loans rebounded around 2 to 3 points during session while bonds of Germany, Belgium and Japan were up fractionally to a point or more at one period.

BRISK ADVANCE IN TRADING ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Following in the footsteps of the big board the Curb Market today moved ahead briskly under the impetus of inflation developments.

Industrial stocks of the commodity class experienced a sharp revival of trading interest which sent them from 1 to 5 points above yesterday's finals. Mining, oil, manufacturing and merchandising issues were prime favorites.

Utilities were relatively neglected though some of the leaders gained a little in sympathy with the broad trend.

COMMENT BY CITIES.

ST. LOUIS—Business conditions generally on a much firmer foundation. Unemployment situation less acute. Furniture manufacturers report increased orders. Flour sales on the increase, but many buyers continue to defer commitments, on account of the pending farm relief legislation.

BOSTON—Many textile mills withdraw quotations, because of rapidly increasing prices of raw materials. Cotton goods have advanced slightly all along the lines. Hide and leather prices higher. Pulp mills and importers of pulp report increased sales; prices firm.

ATLANTA—Retail sales brisk, with the volume of trade comparing favorably with that of a year ago. Employment increasing, as factory payrolls mount, and some firms announce a 5 to 10 per cent salary increase. More orders received for building materials. Steel increases operations.

BALTIMORE—Manufacturers of consumers' goods, such as foods, tobacco, textiles, automobile tires and petroleum products are holding up fairly well from a production standpoint. Unusually cool weather has retarded the development of fruit trees.

KANSAS CITY—Commodity markets higher during the week, with wheat, butter fat and some of the better grades of livestock at best levels of the year. Farmers in the wheat belt buying more freely of hardware items, implements, repair parts and the smaller tools.

DALLAS—Consumers' purchases larger, rising commodity prices will add many millions of dollars to purchasing power of Texas cotton growers. More building work in progress.

DENVER—Wholesale trade up 5 per cent from the preceding week, while retail distribution gained 10 per cent. General price level stable. Employment continues to show improvement.

SAN FRANCISCO—Retail sales in April ran ahead of those for the same month last year. Wholesale trade spotty this week, although gains were recorded in several lines. Iron and steel markets more active; best demand of year for structural shapes. Unemployment decreasing; shipping gaining.

PHILADELPHIA—Consumers in better buying mood than in many months. Manufacturers of dry goods, dresses, and radios better employed. Continued improvement in iron and steel trades. Building work still quiet.

PITTSBURGH—Slight improvement in retail and wholesale trade, but volume still is below level of Easter week. Industrials operations averaging better. Steel output at highest point in more than a year. Improved demand for glass; bottle manufacturers behind in their orders.

BUFFALO—Sluggish conditions continue in most branches of trade. Retail sales retarded to some extent by the cool weather, but the greatest handicap is the lack of purchasing power.

CHICAGO—Broad movement of merchandise, both in wholesale and retail channels, attributed to the stimulus of inflation measures. Packers more optimistic over the outlook for sales and profits. Steel industry continues to expand. Hide market higher.

CINCINNATI—Gains in the retail and wholesales of the last few weeks sustained by higher commodity prices. Activity in brewing and allied trades becoming more pronounced. Coal shippers proceeding cautiously; actual commitments limited. Rural trade restricted by continued lack of banking facilities.

CLEVELAND—Substantial gain in retail trade; wholesale trade helped by fill-in orders. Chief industrial gain in steel production, and rayon output.

DETROIT—Upward trend of local industrial activity continuing. Retail sales stimulated sharply by inflation and disbursements by two local banks. Employment increased 13.5 per cent during last month. With the continued gain in retail sales of automobiles, a further increase in employment is expected next month.

HAMMER THROW RECORD BROKEN AT DRAKE GAMES

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 29.—Biddinger of Indiana contributed the first record breaking performance in major events at the Drake Relays today by winning the hammer throw with a toss of 161 feet 4.9 inches. The old record of 157 feet 7 inches was made by Ketz of Michigan in 1927.

Running over a track made heavy and holding due to rain, Capt. Charles Scheifley of Minnesota soared to victory i nthe 120-yard high hurdles opening the finals of the carnival this afternoon in 15 seconds.

Metcalfe had a close race with Willis Ward, Michigan Negro, for the first 50 yards, but drew ahead to break the tape with a four-foot margin.

The summary:

UNIVERSITY HAMMER THROW—(Final)—Won by Biddinger, Indiana, 161 ft. 4.9 in. (new record, old record, 157 ft. 7 in., made by Ketz, Michigan, 1927; second, Cox, Michigan, 146 ft. 5.6 in.; third, Kouba, Iowa, 141 ft. 6.3 in.; fourth, Cornoga, Iowa, 137 ft. 3.5 in.; fifth, Barker, Iowa, 133 ft. 7.9 in.

Victor and vanquished were teamed today against Miss Florence LeBoutillier and Miss Barbara Stoddard in the finals of the women's doubles.

Captain Kettle Wins Maryland Hunt Cup Race

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, April 29.—Captain Kettle, owned by Charles S. Chesney of Philadelphia, won the fortieth running of the Maryland Hunt Cup this afternoon before a crowd of 25,000 spectators.

Hubar, an entry by Howard Bruce of Baltimore, came in second and Alligator, owned by Mrs. S. Howe Wing of New York, was third.

The race, which was run in sub-zero weather at Worthington Valley, was over a four-mile course. There were 15 jumps.

Charles L. White rode the winner.

Wray's Column

Can You Beat It?

THE world is filled with injustice and baseball has drawn a full ration of grief. Never was this more clearly shown than in the last game played at home by the Cardinals, when Dizzy Dean pitched eight innings.

It will be remembered that the Cardinals came to bat in the ninth two runs behind and blasted out three runs to win the game.

Dean pitched the first eight innings. He yielded four hits, but the two runs made off him by the Reds were due to errors by Dean's support.

In the Cardinals' time at bat in the eighth a pinch hitter replaced Dean and Carleton pitched to the Reds in the ninth inning.

Carleton's record showed that he was hit safely once, walked two men and escaped a score only because one batter hit a slow roller directly to the box enabling Carleton to start a double play.

The box score at the close of the game showed that the "winning pitcher" was CARLETON, who had stumbled through one inning while the team crashed out a victory with successive hits. Dean, who hurled a really masterful game, gets no mention except as having been in the lineup.

Surely there must be some way of more accurately recording pitching values than this.

N. Y. U. WEIGHT STAR IS WINNER AT PENN RELAYS

By the Associated Press.

FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, April 29.—Pete Zaremba of New York University, intercollegiate A. A. A. A. hammer throwing champion, captured his specialty with the 16-pound iron ball today as the final half of the Penn relay carnival program got under way.

Zaremba's toss of 161 feet, 5 inches, was far short of the carnival record, held by Fred Tootell of Bowdoin, but it was good enough to beat his nearest rival, Lingle of Princeton, by seven feet. The 1932 carnival winner, Grant McDougall of Pennsylvania, was third.

A crowd of fully 30,000, by mid-afternoon, saw a succession of fine performances under a hot sun. The first upset of consequence eliminated Al Kelly of Georgetown, sprint favorite, from the 100-yard dash. Kelly pulled a muscle in the semi-finals.

Bill Carr, of Pennsylvania, the Olympic 400-meter champion and world record-holder, who was put out of competition this year by an auto accident, celebrated his first trip away from the hospital by watching the relays. Carr, who suffered fractures of both legs, was able to walk a little for the first time.

Ohio State's fliers, with Keller reeling off a fast anchor 220, captured the half-mile college relay championship for the fifth time in six years. The Buckeyes took the measures of their leading rivals, New York University, by two yards, with Yale third and Cornell fourth and last among the finalists. Ohio's time of 1:27.7 was nearly one second short of its own carnival record.

George Spitz, New York University star, shaded the carnival record for the high jump when he cletaerd 6 feet 5⅞ inches. He defeated his Negro rival and co-holder of the former record, Howard Spencer of Geneva, whose best today was 6 feet 4 inches. The old mark of 6 feet 5⅞ inches first was set by Larson of Brigham Young in 1917 and equaled by Spencer last year.

The summaries:

HAMMER THROW—Won by Pete Zaremba, New York University, 161 feet 5 inches; second, Karl Lingle, Princeton, 154 feet 4⅝ inches; third, Grant McDougall, Pennsylvania, 153 feet 11⅞ inches; fourth, Mort Resnick, New York U., 152 feet 11⅝ inches; fifth, Hillman Holcombe, Yale, 151 feet 5⅛ inches.

TWO-MILE COLLEGE RELAY CHAMPIONSHIP—Won by Columbia (Keville, Grady, Gilmore and Patterson); second, Manhattan; third, Michigan State; fourth, Ohio State; fifth, Penn State; sixth, Yale; seventh, Boston College. Time 7m. 50.3s.

JAVELIN THROW—Won by G. W. Wertz, Colgate, 204 ft. 9½ in.; second, J. Begg, Geneva, 199 ft. 8½ in.; third, H. Odell, Manhattan, 190 ft., 4 in.; fourth, W. W. Rand, Dartmouth, 188 ft. 1 in.; fifth, R. Smith, Ohio State, 185 ft., 5 in.

CLASS B—MILE PREPARATORY SCHOOL RELAY—Won by Loughlin Memorial, Brooklyn; second, Brooklyn Polytechnic Prep; third, Fieldston Prep, New York City; fourth, St. James, Brooklyn; fifth, Peddie, Hightstown (N. J.); sixth, Bordentown (N. J.) Military Institute. Time—3:30.1. (New carnival record. Old mark 3:30 1-5, De La Salle, 1925.)

SHOTPUT—Won by Le R. Dues, City College of Detroit, 48 feet, 5 inches; second, J. Finkelstein, New York University, 47 feet, 11 inches; third, A. Schuer, New York University, 47 feet, 7 inches; fourth, W. Neal, Temple, 46 feet, 10 inches.

INTERSCHOLASTIC TWO-MILE RELAY CHAMPIONSHIP—Won by St. Benedict's Prep, Newark (N. J.) (M. Weiner, A. Frey, J. McKenna, V. Damore); second, Mount Pleasant High (Schenectady (N. Y.); third, Hamilton (Canada), Collegiate Institute; fourth, St. Johns Prep, Brooklyn. Time 8:17.6.

HIGH JUMP—Won by George Spitz, New York University, 6 feet 5¾ inches (new carnival record. Old mark 6 feet 5⅝ inches. Larson, Brigham Young, 1917, and Spencer, Geneva, 1932); second, H. Spencer, Geneva, 6 feet 4 inches; third, R. Pitkin, Columbia, 6 feet 2 inches; fourth, E. McCarthy, St. Bonaventure, 6 feet.

HALF-MILE COLLEGE RELAY CHAMPIONSHIP—Won by Ohio State (M. Willey, M. Teitelbaum, W. Stapf, J. Keller); second, New York University; third, Yale; fourth, Cornell. Time 1:27.7.

CENTRAL CATHOLIC NINE GAINS 4 TO 2 VICTORY

Central Catholic High School's baseball team of East St. Louis defeated the Cathedral High nine of Belleville yesterday afternoon on the loser's field, by a 4 to 2 count. It was Central's sixth victory of the year.

Scott pitched for the winners and held his opponents to five hits, while striking out six batters. Furman worked for the losers and allowed nine hits and fanned four. Noblitt was the leading hitter, getting two hits in three trips to the plate.

Derby Horse Ties Track Mark

HEAD PLAY.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29.

HEAD PLAY, the West's big hope for the Kentucky Derby next Saturday, showed a dazzling flash of speed in a workout at Churchill Downs today to equal the track record of :59 for five furlongs.

The Crump colt eased slightly to finish six furlongs ni 1:11 4-5 and breezed out a mile in 1:40 1-5. The sensational trial was made on a fast track, with a deep cushion of dust.

DISCUS RECORD SET BY DESALME IN COUNTY MEET

Arthur de Salme's record heave of 119 feet 2 inches, achieved in the preliminary trials on Thursday afternoon, was good enough to win the discus event in the St. Louis County track and field meet at University City stadium this afternoon. The toss was just one inch better than the record set by Lockhart of University City last year.

Carleton and Don Tenney, brothers representing Kirkwood High, ran one, two, in winning the 880-yard run in the Junior division.

New meet records were also set in the Junior broad jump, and the senior mile run and broad jump. Leutweiler Universityb xifotaoinn Leutweiler of University City excelled the old broad jump mark by a foot and two and one-half inches; Martin of the same school bettered the old senior mark by one inch and F. Will Try Luck in England.

By the Associated Press.

DURBAN, South Africa, April 29.—South Africa's champion jockey is to try his luck in England. Cyril Buckham, who last year headed the list of winning jockeys for the second successive season has accepted an engagement to ride for an English stable. Buckham was the first jockey in South Africa to ride 100 winners in one season.

IRVING HADLEY AND 'SCHOOLBOY' ROWE IN PITCHERS' DUEL

By James M. Gould.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, April 29. — Irving Hadley, one of the two Brownie pitchers who owns two victories this wear, opposed the Detroit Tigers in the second game of the series this afternoon.

Hadley drew Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe as his opponent. Rowe won a measure of fame by shutting out the White Sox in his first big league appearance. Cleveland defeated him in his second start but he pitched good ball.

Owens and Vangraflan were the umpires.

Tomorrow, the Browns and Tigers will play a double-header and Monday, originally scheduled for a single game, will be open.

The game:

FIRST INNING — DETROIT—Fox lined to Reynolds. Schuble doubled past third. Stone walked. Gehringe rdoubled to right, scoring Schuble and putting Stone on third. Walke rpopped to Melillo. Davis fouled to Scharein. ONE RUN.

SECOND—DETROIT—Rogell flied to West. Hayworth flied to Campbell. Rowe struck out.

BROWNS — Burns bunted and was thrown out by Schuble. Melillo grounded to Gehringer. Levey struck out.

THIRD—DETROIT—Fox walked. Fox was out stealing, Ferrell to Melillo. Levey threw out Schuble. Levey made a fine stope and threw out Stone.

BROWNS — Hadley grounded to Gehringer. Scharein singled to right. West sacrificed, Rowe to Davis. Reynolds flied to Fox.

FOURTH — DETROIT—Melillo went behind second and threw out Gehringer. Walker grounded to Levey. Davis singled to right. Rogell singled to left, Davis going to third. Hayworth singled to left, scoring Davis with the tying run, Rogell stopping at second. Campbell misjudged Rowe's easy fly and it fell for a double, Rogell scoring and Hayworth reaching third. Fox struck out. TWO RUNS.

BROWNS — Campbell fouled to Hayworth. Ferrell lined to Stone. Burns was safe on a fumble by Schuble. Burns out stealing, Hayworth to Gehringer.

FIFTH—DETROIT—Schuble popped to Levey. Levey threw out Stone. Gehringer flied to Reynolds.

BROWNS—Melillo got a two-bagger when Fox dropped his line drive after a hard run. Levey flied to Stone and Melillo went to third after the catch. Hadley grounded to Gehringer and Melillo beat Gehringer's throw home with the tying run, Hadley being safe at first Scharein forced Hadley, Schuble to Gehringer. West singled off Rowe's glove, Scharein stopping at second. Reynolds struck out. ONE RUN.

SIXTH—DETROIT — Walker fouled to Levey. Davis fouled to Ferrell. Rogell bunted and was thrown out by Farrell.

BROWNS—Campbell walked. Ferrell sacrificed, Rowe to Davis. Burns grounded to Davis, Campbell going to third. Melillo doubled to right, scoring Campbell. Gehringer went out in center for Levey's short fly. ONE RUN.

SEVENTH — DETROIT — Hayworth walked. Rowe struck out. Fox singled to center sending Hayworth to third. Schuble was called out on strikes. Reynolds made a diving catch of Stone's line drive.

JOHN BURROUGHS WINS FROM COUNTRY DAY

The John Burroughs baseball team continued its winning way yesterday afternoon by taking the Codasco team into camp on the Country Day diamond in a ABC League game, 8—1.

Carpenter of Burroughs pitched a masterful game, holding his opponents to two hits and striking out nine batters, while his teammates made eight hits off of Jamison who had five strikeouts to his credit.

ST. LOUIS TEAM, WITH 2743, TAKES LEAD IN TENPIN MEET

MRS. WILSON IS INDIVIDUAL STAR SCORING 598 FOR THREE CONTESTS

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., April 29.—A shake-up in the standings of the two-woman event of the sixteenth annual women's international bowling congress was in prospect here today when the strong St. Louis Dairies take the alleys for their doubles and singles.

The St. Louis bowlers were leading the five-woman team contest today, having mowed down 2743 pins last night. Their total was only 41 sticks short of the congress record. To amass the total the five rolled games of 907, 868, and 968.

As a result of the St. Louis wood splintering, the five-woman team representing the Omaha Mutual Benefit Association which has held first place for six days, dropped into second with 2623; third place went to Pollack Poster Prints of Buffalo, N. Y., with 2617; fourth place was held by the Springman Markets of Louisville with 2553 and fifth by Thoma Brothers of Peoria with 2533.

Strength displayed by the St. Louis women in the team event indicated that the standings in the other divisions probably will be revised before the day is over.

Present leaders in the doubles are: M. Brignall-M. Konen, Chicago, 1127; M. Martin-J. Sellers, Denver, 1093; Z. Quin-T. Rourke, Chicago, 1088; H. Gazzola-E. Jaeger, Toledo, 1082; J. Knepprath-N. Kay, Milwaukee and Janesville, Wis., 1063.

In the singles events, M. Schulte of St. Louis continued to hold her lead with 600 pins. E. Carlson of Omaha, Neb., was second with 586; Nora Kay, Janesville, third, 579; K. Meeker, Indianapolis, fourth, 571; M. Hubatka, of Omaha, Neb., and E. Scheer of St. Louis, shared second with 567 pins.

The all-events was lead by Nora Kay of Janesville with a total of 1700 pins. Second place was held today by M. Hubatka of Nebraska, with 1685; third, M. Janovetz, Peoria, with 1651; fourth, E. Jaeger, Toledo, 1650; and fifth, P. Wheeler, Council Bluffs, Ia., with 1646.

Miller Increases Margin in Title Bowling Match

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Joe Miller, Buffalo, N. Y., ace, last night added 67 pins to his lead over Stewart Watson of Chicago in the opening of the Chicago stand in their national match championship bowling series.

Miller, who piled up a margin of 573 pins during the Eastern stand, jumped out in front and never was headed, taking the match, 1945 to 1878. In total pins he leads, 10,271 to 9631.

The Eastern bowler was over 200 only twice, scoring 227 in the third game, and dumping the pins for 237 in the sixth. Watson's best was 208, his only two-century game, which came in the fifth.

The new alleys evidently bothered both pinsters. Miller ran into six railroads and was charged with three errors. Watson had 13 railroads and four misses.

The scores:

Irish Thoroughbred, a Real Derby "Dark Horse"

Knockaway, imported Irish gelding, is owned by W. E. Smith, a member of the Kentucky Racing Commission. As a result of surprising preliminary workouts, Knockaway is getting some play in the local future book. He will be making his first start in a race in the Clark Handicap at Louisville today. He has already worked the Derby distance doing it in 2:11 without being urged.

HOPPE HAS LEAD OF 337 POINTS OVER SCHAEFER

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29. — Willie Hoppe, of New York, 18.1 balkline title-holder, continued to increase his lead over Jake Schaefer Jr., of San Francisco, in their world's championship cushion carom billiard match when he won last night's block by the score of 250 to 103 in 43 innings.

Hoppe has now four blocks to his credit out of five played and leads his opponent in total score, 1250 to 913 in 198 innings.

The sixth and final block of the 1500 point mtach will be played tonight.

Hoppe had a righ run of 34 and Schaefer's best for the night was 20.

NAVY CREW WINS FROM COLUMBIA'S VARSITY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29. — Navy pulled from behind today to beat Columbia's varsity eight by a length and a quarter in the Lion's first brush of the season over a mile and a half course on the Harlem. Navy's time was 8 minutes 11 2-5 seconds.

The regatta, with Columbia's freshmen beating Hun School over a mile course in one of the preliminaries, was staged under perfect condition. A bright sun drew thousands of spectators to the banks of the Harlem, lining the course from start to finish. There was little breeze.

The Columbia 150-pound boat won from the freshmen by half a boat length. The junior varsity was a poor third. The time was 8:20.

Ladysman's Derby Odds Now 7 to 2, As Field Shrinks

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.

FUTURE book odds on W. R. Coe's Ladysman, favorite for the Kentucky Derby, have been cut to seven to two by Tom Shaw, New York betting commissioner.

The withdrawal of James J. Johnson's Repaid and the Adolphe Pons filly, Swivel, were the principal reasons for the shortening of odds on Ladysman's chances in the Churchill Downs classic which will be run May 6.

Ranked behind the Coe speedster in the revised quotations, announced by Shaw tonight, were Charley O., owned by the R. M. Eastman estate; Mrs. W. Crump's Head Play, and F. A. Griffith's Sarada, all at 10 to one.

Rated at 15 to one were Lee Rosenberg's Kerry Patch and C. V. Whitney's The Darb, the latter a doubtful starter.

Coe's Pomponius and E. R. Bradley's Broker's Tip were quoted at 20 to one; Pons' Projectile and W. E. Smith's Knockaway, at 25 to one, and the Wheatley Stable's Utopian at 30 to one.

Great Backfield Is Selected for World Fair Game

CHICAGO, April 29.—That "ideal backfield" that Big Ten football fans were conjuring on paper last December may yet evolve into an integral unit driving down a gridiron.

The tentative backfield lineup Dick Hanley, Northwestern coach, has drawn for his "Midwest All-Stars" team to meet a Pacific Coast galaxy as a World's Fair feature the night of Aug. 24 has:

Michigan's Harry Newman as quarterback; Pug Rentner of Northwestern, Gil Berry of Illinois and Marchy Schwartz of Notre Dame as halfbacks, and Roy Horstmann of Purdue and Jack Manders of Minnesota as fullbacks.

This sextet has been mentioned before as one of the most choice groups of backfielders the Midwest has produced in any two grid campaigns. All except Schwartz wound up college careers just last fall and Marchy finished the year before.

Jack Riley and Dal Marvil, Northwestern's giant tackle pair of 1931, are expected to be in the Midwest lineup, probably opposed by the equally famous Southern California duo of Ernie Smith and Tay Brown. Howard Harding Jones will coach the coast eleven.

VINES TO MEET KEITH GLEDHILL IN TENNIS FINAL

By the Associated Press.

OJAI, Cal., April 29.—Ellsworth Vines Jr., national singles champion, and Keith Gledhill, the country's No. 8 ranking tennis star, advanced to the final of the men's singles in the thirty-eighth annual Ojai Valley championships yesterday.

Playing in his first tournament of the 1933 season, Vines was carried to three sets before he was able to defeat Gene Mako, 17-year-old University of Southern California freshman, 6-2, 2-6, 6-0. Gledhill, national doubles champion with Vines, made quick work of Lieut. Dolf Muelheisen, United States army champion from March Field, Riverside, Cal., 6-4, 6-3.

Earlier in the day, Miss Alice Marble, high ranking woman star from San Francisco, and Miss Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, listed No. 5 nationally, won their way to the final of the feminine singles event. Miss Cruickshank advanced by default over Mrs. Gerald Bartosh of Los Angeles, while Miss Marble eliminated Miss Elizabeth Deike of Pasadena, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

RAY SCHWARTZ AND RICHTER TIE IN GOLF EVENT

By W. J. McGoogan.

The three Schwartz brothers, Francis, Ray and Bill, were very much in the limelight in the first handicap golf tournament of the season, held at Westwood Country Club yesterday under the auspices of the St. Louis District Golf Association.

Ray, the youngest, tied with Ben Richter, Triple A southpaw, for low gross score with 72, which equaled par for the course, while Bill, the second oldest, was third with 73 and with Jack Dazey, Normandie amateur, teamed up to win the doubles prize, with a total net score of 145.

Francis, the eldest, had 75, which was just a little out of the prize money.

Ray, with a two-stroke handicap, had a net of 70, which equaled Ra Gates, Forest Park, and Jimmy Benson, Woodlawn youngster. Gates had a 74, with a four-stroke handicap, while Benson had a 76, with a six-stroke award.

A field of 65 competed, one of the smallest in the four years the tournaments have been held.

Scores over the difficult layout were better than had been expected for the first tournament of the year, although there were a number of players in the 80's who generally get into the 70's.

The course was in excellent condition, but it is the most difficult in the St. Louis district.

Muny Baseball Title Campaign Starts Today

The 1933 Municipal Baseball Association season will be ushered in this afternoon with play scheduled in five leagues.

Leagues that will swing into action and where they play are: Rice-Stix, at Forest Park; South Side Y. M. C. A. Intermediate, at Marquette Park; South Side Y. M. C. A. Senior, at Concordia Park; Y. M. C. A. Industrial No. 1, at Carondelet and Fairground Parks, and Y. M. C. A. Industrial No. 2, at Sherman Park.

George Sisler, a baseball immortal, will participate in opening ceremonies of the South Side Intermediate and Senior leagues.

Seventeen other Municipal Baseball Association leagues, playing in the Sunday division, will begin play tomorrow on diamonds throughout the city. Most of the Sunday leagues have been identified with the Municipal Association in previous seasons, with one notable exception, that being the newly organized Ban Johnson League, named in honor of the man responsible for forming the powerful American League. The Ban Johnson League will play its games at Forest Park, on grounds Nos. 9 and 21.

The schedule:

RICE-STIX LEAGUE.

Forest Park No. 9, Our Pride vs. Socletys, 2:15; Forest Park No. 10, Kerry Kut vs. Monarchs, 2:15.

SOUTH SIDE Y. M. C. A. INTERMEDIATE

Marquette No. 1, Kingdom House vs. Acme, 3:00; Marquette No. 2, Caesars vs. Deltas, 3:00; Caballeros draw a bye.

SOUTH SIDE Y. M. C. A. SENIOR.

Concordia No. 1, Trojans vs. Emmetts, 1:45; Concordia No. 2, Compton Heights vs. Night Hawks, 4:00.

Y. M. C. A. INDUSTRIAL NO. 1.

Carondelet No. 1, McQuay-Norris vs. Peters, 2:30; Fairground No. 1, People's Motorbus vs. Missouri Pacific, 2:30.

Y. M. C. A. INDUSTRIAL NO. 2.

Sherman Park No. 1, Brown vs. Procter & Gamble, 2:30; Sherman Park No. 2, Rameo vs. Fouke, 2:30.

LITTLE ROCK BOXER TO MEET HUFF AT ARENA

Jack C. Tippett, matchmaker for the Walter J. Hatzfeld American Legion Post, is looking the middleweight and welterweight fields over for suitable opponents for Eddie Edson, Jackie Callahan's socking 160-pounder, and Nick Broglio, of Herrin, Ill., who were signed last night to participate in two of the four six-rounders on Wednesday night's boxing card at the Arena.

Tippett has signed Joe Red of Little Rock, Ark., who won the Western A. A. U. welterweight title here last season, as Joe Huff's opponent in the six-round semi-final.

Track Meet Results.

With Wallis winning both dash events, Beaumont's senior track team defeated McKinley, 72 2-3 to 31 1-3 points on the Beaumont Field, yesterday afternoon.

Soldan's senior track team won from Cleveland at the Public Schools Stadium yesterday, 65 to 39. Heinrichsmeyer of Cleveland won both dash events.

The senior track team of C. B. C. gained a 70 to 52 victory over St. Louis U. High School on the C. B. C. campus.

WRESTLING RESULTS

WRAY'S Column

mercury is going down in fandom.

There were and are so many IFS about this club, that it is a little unreasonable to be conceding its failure so early. The fact is there are some very encouraging signs about the team which indicate that strength will develop sooner or later in the season.

One of these is the improved morale of Frankie Frisch, who is in there doing his darndest all the time. There were plenty of moments last year when Frankie's enthusiasm was questioned.

The importance of this is that when Frankie Frisch is stepping out, the team usually steps with him. The history of this club and of the Giants as well, indicates this. John Kieran of the New York Times in a recent article points out that as Frisch goes, so his club goes. He writes:

"Since Frisch was traded to the Cardinals the Giants have not won a pennant. Since Frisch joined the Cardinals that club has won three pennants. The Giants won four pennants in a row while Frankie Frisch was playing second base for them."

With Frisch playing heads up ball, that infield "groove" through which so many hitters send drives past weaker fielders, has been plugged tight again, this year.

But aside from Frisch, the Cardinals have too much power everywhere to be kept down. The hitters will begin to click with a few bright days and then the team batting average will jump from .212 to .275 or better. We look for the club to start things, then.

The first of June will see some important shifts in both leagues' standings—and many of them will come sooner. It is far too soon to draw too doleful or too hopeful conclusions about any club.

Derby Stars Dropping Out.

ONE by one the stars that were expected to furnish Kentucky Derby contention are falling by the wayside. The great filly Swivel entered the doubtful list when a high fever caused her to be thrown out of training. With the classic only one week distant, the filly's chance of recovering and surviving a long train ride would seem to be negligible.

Already Caterwaul, the second high juvenile of last year, has been counted out and it is stated that The Darb will not be shipped West for the event. Jungle King and Dynastic, the two Greentree Stable aces, were both overtaken by sickness and their training halted. Repaid, another highly touted candidate, has been withdrawn because he is not ready. Crowning Glory, a very highly regarded candidate, also is out.

Plunge on Repaid Wasted.

ALL of these horses were heavily played and Repaid R was the medium of such a strong plunge that he was backed down from 60 to 1 to 10 to 1. His trainer had given out the tip that the horse probably would win both the Derby and the Preakness.

The withdrawal of the seven crack horses named will give the bookies a considerable nest-egg, as all the future book wagers are on the "play or pay" basis. That is, the bookie keeps your money if your choice fails for any reason whatever to go to the post.

That's one feature of the future betting which enables the bookie to offer longer odds.

Field Under 20 Likely.

A SURVEY of the field today indicates that not more than 22 horses, and very probably fewer, will face the barrier on May 6. As nearly as can be figured at this writing the following horses will go to the post:

At Top	Mr. Khayyam
Boilermaker or	Pomponius
Beefsteak	Poppyman
Broker's Tip	Projectile
Captain Red	Red Whisk
Charley O.	Sarada
Enthusiast	Shepherd Boy
Head Play	Trace Call
Interpreter	Utopian
Keep Out	War Glory
Kerry Patch	Warren Jr.
Knockaway	War Stripes
Ladysman

Of these, half a dozen are extremely doubtful, so that the field finally will in all probability reduce to fewer than a score. The record is 22.

Results of races today at two tracks, Havre and Churchill Downs, will still further thin out the original list of 118 nominations.

The horses that will be carrying the real money are: Ladysman, the favorite, backed from 10 to 1 to 4 to 1; Charley O., backed from 100 to 1 to 10 to 1; Head Play, backed from 100 to 10 to 1; the Bradley horses with Broker's Tip now at 30, after having started at 100 to 1; and Sarada, backed from 60 to 12 to 1.

PUBLIC SCHOOL STADIUM, April 29.—Central High School defeated Roosevelt, 6 to 5, in the first half of a City High School League double-header here this afternoon.

The game marked the opening of the second hal fof the league race. Roosevelt led at the close of the first half of the season.

Central scored four runs in the first inning, and the remaining two in the sixth and seventh, to register a victory over the Rough Riders, who spread their scores over the first four innings of play.

Each team made 11 hits. Two errors were credited to Roosevelt players, and one to Central.

CLEVELAND HIGH DEFEATS SOLDAN BY 12 TO 8 SCORE

Cleveland won its third start in five games in the City High School baseball race by defeating Soldan 12 to 8, for the second time this year, yesterday afternoon at the Stadium. The loss pushed Soldan farther down into the cellar and gave the West Enders a record of one victory and five defeats.

The Carondelet nine made good use of the nine hits allotted them by three Soldan throwers. In each of the first two innings Cleveland only made one hit, but one run was scored. Then in the third Norath walked, Schwinke was safe on Davis' error and Kemper hit deeply to left and when the ball rolled under a fence it went for a home run, producing three more tallies.

Before the contest closed, Cleveland added three in the fifth and four in the sixth.

Stelmach Stars.

While his mates were piling up a large lead, Ed Stelmach held Soldan to one run in five innings. Ray de Greef took up the job in the sixth, Stelmach going to second base, and was found for four hits and as many runs in one-third inning. Stelmach then came to De Greef's rescue and retired the side but in the seventh Soldan hit Ed hard to score its last three runs.

RIDING TO HOUNDS POPULAR IN FLORIDA

By the Associated Press.

PALM BEACH, Fla., April 29.—Palm Beach now is riding to the hounds.

Discovery this year that South Florida is adapted to his favorite English sport was made by Harold J. Bryant of Lake Worth, who for many years has spent his winters here and his summers in England.

The first fox hunting party was held in the cattle prairies near Okeechobee City and proved popular.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 29.—Hammering three pitchers for 20 hits the University of Minnesota opened its Big 10 baseball season yesterday with a 20 to 3 victory over Iowa. While his mates maintained a heavy attack, Tommy Gallivan, Gopher sophomore, limited the Hawkeyes to seven blows and received excellent support. Streich, Bruhn, and Krause hit homers for Minnesota.

Kansas Aggies Pound Wagner to Win Over Tigers

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 29.—Norman Wagner, ace of the University of Missouri pitching staff, lost his first Big Six conference game in three years here yesterday, Kansas State winning 12 to 3. The Wildcats pounded Wagner's offerings for 20 hits.

Andy Skradski and Carter were the visitors' hitting stars. Skradski hit a home run with the bases loaded and also contributed a triple. Carter collected a double and three singles in five times at bat.

Earl Smith, Wildcat hurler, held the Tigers to six hits, three of which were bunched in the first inning for three runs. The result strengthened Kansas State's hold on second place in the conference race.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE POUNDS GRABER TO ROUT BEARS

Gordon "Garbo" Graber, the Bears' ace, was less of a pitcher than of a hitter in the game against Illinois College yesterday afternoon, and the Washington U. baseball nine dropped its fourth contest in six starts this season, 14 to 7, at Liggett Field.

Graber's hitting was beyond reproach. He made four safeties in five trips to the plate. In the fifth inning he singled down the third-base line to score Floyd Bennett and Joe Walka, and again in the sixth he pounded in a run with a safe hit.

But his pitching—that was a different matter. During his stay on the mound he fanned but one batter, and walked five. He didn't run into much trouble, however, until the seventh frame, but he found plenty of it then. A double by Roy Colin of Illinois started the inning, and the collegians didn't stop until they had seen six runs cross the plate on six clean safeties.

This flurry put Illinois in a 9-7 lead, and then the team removed all doubt by landing on Art Bonsack, the second Bear pitcher, for five runs in the ninth inning.

A couple of home runs, one in the first and one in the ninth, by Charley Colin were the features of Illinois' attack, while "Buddy" Wise of Washington got his second circuit smash of the season in the third inning.

Oklahoma Mat Stars Feature in National Meet

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Southwestern Teachers' College of Weatherford, Ok., had "Stout" backing in a big way today as the drive for individual and team National Amateur Wrestling Championships entered the semi-finals at the La Salle street Y. M. C. A.

The Teachers, leading the college field in the race for the team title, had four survivors and two of them were the Stout brothers, Ernie and Foy, both noted performers in the collegiate mat world. The brothers, fast and strong, took over the show last night as they tugged their way into the semifinals of the 135 and 145 pound classes. Brother Ernie was a red hot favorite to win the title in his class, to as an addition to his national intercollegiate crown, although Foy had tougher competition with the wrestler named Howard McGratch of Cornell College, Iowa.

Not a real favorite fell in the first and second rounds of tugging last night. Such stars as Merrill Frevert of Iowa State; Paul Griffith, Kansas State star; Bob Hess, Iowa State Olympic star; Wes Brown, Northwestern; Wilbur Fredericks of Illinois, and Gordon Williams of Cornell, Ia., came through with fairly easy victories but the semi-final bracket was crowded with club stars, notably from Chicago, which landed a half dozen wrestlers in the bracket.

Indiana University, the national intercollegiate team champion, landed three in the semi-finals to give the Southwest Teachers some competition. Iowa State, Kansas State, Cornell College of Iowa, and Northwestern each placed two survivors. Among the clubs, the New York Athletic Club led the field with three in the semifinals.

CUBAN SECRETARY OF STATE SUSPEND PRESS CONFERENCE

HAVANA, April 29.—Press conferences no longer will be held by Secretary of State Ferrara.

The inquisitiveness of a Cuban reporter concerning the date when Sumner Welles, new United States Ambassador, would arrive, and his aims, obviously angered the secretary at yesterday's meeting. He ended the session abruptly and announced there would be no more.

"Variety" Sued for $500,000.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 29.—M. C. 21 With Money on Relief List.

By the Associated Press.

HILLSBORO, Ill., April 29.—Twenty-one heads of families here who have been receiving aid from relief funds were taken off the lists by the Hillsboro Township Relief Committee yesterday when it was found they had money in bank deposits, postal savings or hidden away. Authorities indicated prosecutions would follow.

DICKMANN DISCHARGES EFFICIENCY BOARD MAN

Mayor Ousts William Tanner, Republican, Who Had Refused to Resign.

William Tanner, Republican, has been discharged as a member of the Efficiency Board, Mayor Dickmann announced today. The Mayor desired to name an entirely new board to carry out his policies, but Tanner, whose term would have expired next Sept. 4, refused to resign.

William T. Kircheis, Republican, chairman of the board, and Sidney S. May, Democrat, the third member, sent their resignations, effective May 16, to the Mayor this morning. Dickmann expressed appreciation of their courtesy. Kircheis' term ran to September, 1934, and May's to September, 1935.

The new Efficiency Board appointed by Dickmann last Thursday will take charge next Monday. It will not legally be in office for two weeks more, but will begin work at once. Its members are: Maurice J. Cassidy, veteran labor leader, chairman, and Patrick P. O'Neill, Democrats, and Ernest Moser, Republican. The board has charge of the city's civil service.

The Mayor has anounced an intention to revitalize the civil service.

No Hearing for Tanner.

Asked if Tanner would be given a hearing, Dickmann said, "No, he is discharged."

Tanner was in the Ozarks today, it was said at his home, 3304 Humphrey street. Last Thursday Tanner declared he would demand a hearing if Dickmann sought to remove him, and would consider going to court if refused a hearing.

The Charter, he said, prevented his removal except for a cause, after a hearing. Tanner was appointed to the board by Mayor Miller in 1927 and was finishing his second three- year term. Moser is slated for Tanner's place.

Kircheis had been in the city's employ for 22 years, sepnding two years in the old Auditor's office, two years as a clerk in the Water Division and 10 years in charge of collection of water rates. Mayor Miller made him head of the Efficiency Board in 1925. May, who supported Miller for Mayor in 1925, was appointed to the board about seven years ago. He once was a member of the Election Board and some years ago, for a few weeks, was City Collector by appointment of Gov. Major, during a controversy over that office.

The chairman of the Efficiency Board is paid $6000 a year for full-time services. The other members, giving part time, are paid $2000 a year each. The new board plans to take up the annual standardization bill, fixing rates of pay for city employes, next week.

Chief District Assessor.

Edward A. Monahan, title examiner for a land title company and a former Deputy Assessor, has been appointed Chief District Assessor by Assessor Coale. He will have charge of the deputies who make real estate valuations in the field, succeeding Fred W. Tirre, a Republican. The position pays $3600 a year.

Monahan is a Democrat but served in the office 10 years in Mayor Kiel's administration. He was a member of the old House of Delegates in 1913-14.

Joseph Weber, a clerk in the Assessor's office, who has been employed there about 30 years, has been made chief deputy in charge of the office by Coale. His salary will be increased from $160 a month to $4000 a year. A Democrat, he will succeed Henry Maune, who has been in the office about 10 years and who previously was in the Comptroller's office.

15 of 20 to Be Dismissed.

Fifteen of the 10 district deputies have been notified by Coale they will be dismissed, effective May 15. Coale will go over a large stack of applications in picking qualified men for the vacancies. He said he had not promised a place to any one. District deputies are paid $250 a month.

Tirre is to be retained as district deputy in charge of the downtown district. Coale has dropped a draftsman and an abstract clerk and probably will drop additional clerks, for economy.

Frank Sullivan, former newspaper man, was appointed secretary to Street Commissioner Edmund J. McMahon by Mayor Dickmann yesterday. This revives a relationship of 16 years ago. McMahon was Colonel in command of the 138th (St. Louis) Infantry when it went to France in the World War and Sullivan was his Adjutant. Sullivan, who resides at the Warwick Hotel, was a member of the publicity staff in Dickmann's campaign. His salary will be $225 a month.

Frank A. Egenriether, who was dismissed last Tuesday as Deputy Fire Chief, has accepted a place as Lieutenant of Water Tower Company No. 2, Third and Vine streets, Fire Chief O'Boyle announced. His salary, which was $4000 a year, will be $190 a month. He has been in the Fire Department 17 years.

DELAWARE PASSES LIQUOR BILL

Measure Creating Control Commission Ready for Signature.

DOVER, Del., April 29. — The Senate and House yesterday approved a liquor-control bill advocated by a commission headed by Pierre S. du Pont, industrialist and financier. The measure modeled on the Canadian liquor-control plan creates a State commission to supervise 3.2 beer and liquor, in case the latter becomes legal.

BANKER GETS 6 TO 100 YEARS FOR $57,000 EMBEZZLEMENT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., April 29.—Tillman J. Tucker, former cashier of the State Bank of Nickerson, late yesterday was sentenced to sevre six to 100 years in the State Prison after he had pleaded guilty to three counts of embezzlement, involving about $57,000.

At the hearing Sheriff Cunningham produced a talcum box belonging to Tucker and extracted travelers' checks totaling $1070. Tucker had told the officers of the cache. The checks were beneath a layer of talcum. Eustace Smith, attorney for the bank receiver, said he would have a thorough search made of all other personal property of Tucker.

Tucker told officers he had $700 in a safe deposit box in a San Antonio bank. It was when he went to the bank to obtain this money that Tucker was arrested by Texas State police. Ernest Turbush of Nickerson, receiver for the failed bank, said today he had no reason to change his views that Tucker's peculations would amount to about $100,000.

PART THREE

Today

Foreigners Depart.
Silver for Money.
Borah Says Something.
Japan Teaches Us.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1933.)

SAN SIMEON, Cal., April 29.— The foreigners are departing.

Mr. MacDonald left with a hig[h] opinion of President Roosevel[t] quite satisfied with the result o[f] his mission.

Monsieur Herriot returns t[o] France "with a clear understandin[g] of President Roosevelt's views o[n] war debts, political security f[or] Europe, and economic disarma[-] ment."

The American people have n[o] such clear understanding, and wi[ll] be glad when their turn comes t[o] be enlightened.

It has not been explained to the[m] why they should be in any way r[e-] sponsible for "political security f[or] Europe."

They remember well the last ti[me] they were made responsible for th[at] security, providing 3,000,000 me[n] and many billions of dollars, a[nd] hope that will not happen aga[in] soon. We do not START Europ[ean] wars. Why should we be expecte[d] to stop them?

Yesterday the Senate voted to l[et] the President accept $200,000,000 silver, in settlement of Europ[ean] war debts. We are to take t[he] silver at 50 cents an ounce, or 40[0,] 000,000 ounces of silver in payme[nt] of $200,000,000 debts. Lucky, if w[e] get it.

The idea is not new. Two yea[rs] ago, in the White House Preside[nt] Hoover informed the writer th[at] England would be allowed to p[ay] one-half in silver at 50 cents p[er] ounce. Half England's annual pa[y-] ment would be $80,000,000 or 16[0,] 000,000 ounces.

Your Government tells you, br[ing] in any gold you have, above $[100] by May 1, or you may pay $10,[000] fine, go to jail, or both.

Mr. Borah in the Senate says "[As] far as I am concerned, if I h[ad] $5000 in gold, I'd tell the Gove[rn-] ment to go to hell." In the reco[rd] he modified it to read "I'd d[are] the Government to come and [get] it." Many Americans would let t[he] original statement stand.

They ask, with Borah "w[hat] right has the Government to ask [a] frugal citizen who has money i[n] his sock to put it in a bank, wh[en] the bank is not safe?"

However, Americans, as No[r-] cliffe truly said, are "a do[cile] people" and will do as they [are] told.

It may comfort you to learn t[hat] the British have more gold th[an] ever in their history, and are thi[nk-] ing of going back on the gold ba[sis.] No Englishman is ordered to br[ing] in his gold, such an order wo[uld] make him laugh.

Germany says she wants reste[ora-] tion of equality in arms and all [na-] tional defense within five ye[ars.] Mr. Davis says, "I am uneasy [at] the turn this discussion has ta[ken.] The world has suffered too m[uch] from an excess of nationalism."

This part of the world has [suf-] fered too much from meddlin[g in] Europe's affairs, and wishes [it] might cease. What have we t[o do] with French and German quar[rels] concerning Germany's right to [pre-] pare for the next war? We s[hall] have plenty to do, keeping ou[t of] it.

Japanese troops, pressing ah[ead] while pacifists talk and reb[els] are within 60 miles of Peip[ing,] ancient capital of China.

A cable from Peiping tells [that] "the way for the Japanese at[tack] was paved by bombs dropped f[rom] eight Japanese planes."

When Charles XII of Sweden [was] cutting through Russia, wit[h a] handful of men, defying the [great] armies of Peter the Great, the[-] ter said, "my brother Charle[s is] teaching me about war."

Our brother the Mikado is te[ach-] ing us about war, as it is t[o be] fought in future and American [ob-] servers," with the Japanese a[rmy] would be more useful than obs[erv-] ers at Geneva.

Uncle Sam lost an island [that] stood, formerly at the mout[h of] Cook Inlet, 160 miles south of [An-] chorage, Alaska, and was 20 m[iles] long, about 5 miles broad, wit[h an] extinct volcano, for ornament[.]

This piece of property, c[alled] Augustine Island, is supposed [to] have disappeared, following a s[eries] of more than 100 violent e[arth-] quake shocks, possibly carr[ying] down with it several trappers.

Experts report to Washin[gton] that in violent earthquakes, [the] earth moves up and down, as [well] as sidewise, a reminder of th[e]

Foreigners Depart.
Silver for Money.
Borah Says Something.
Japan Teaches Us.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1933.)

SAN SIMEON, Cal., April 29.—The foreigners are departing.

Mr. MacDonald left with a high opinion of President Roosevelt, quite satisfied with the result of his mission.

Monsieur Herriot returns to France "with a clear understanding of President Roosevelt's views on war debts, political security for Europe, and economic disarmament."

The American people have no such clear understanding, and will be glad when their turn comes to be enlightened.

It has not been explained to them why they should be in any way responsible for "political security for Europe."

They remember well the last time they were made responsible for that security, providing 3,000,000 men and many billions of dollars, and hope that will not happen again soon. We do not START Europe's wars. Why should we be expected to stop them?

Yesterday the Senate voted to let the President accept $200,000,000 in silver, in settlement of Europe's war debts. We are to take the silver at 50 cents an ounce, or 400,000,000 ounces of silver in payment of $200,000,000 debts. Lucky, if we get it.

The idea is not new. Two years ago, in the White House President Hoover informed the writer that England would be allowed to pay one-half in silver at 50 cents per ounce. Half England's annual payment would be $80,000,000 or 160,000,000 ounces.

Your Government tells you, bring in any gold you have, above $100 by May 1, or you may pay $10,000 fine, go to jail, or both.

Mr. Borah in the Senate says "As far as I am concerned, if I had $5000 in gold, I'd tell the Government to go to hell." In the record he modified it to read "I'd defy the Government to come and get it." Many Americans would let the original statement and.

They ask, with Borah "what right has the Government to ask a frugal citizen who has money in his sock to put it in a bank, when the bank is not safe?"

However, Americans, as Northcliffe truly said, are "a docile people" and will do as they are told.

It may comfort you to learn that the British have more gold than ever in their history, and are thinking of going back on the gold basis. No Englishman is ordered to bring in his gold, such an order would make him laugh.

Mr. Norman H. Davis, "Ambassador without portfolio" at the League of Nations meetings, is not an Ambassador without opinions.

Germany says she wants restoration of equality in arms and all national defense within five years. Mr. Davis says, "I am uneasy at the turn this discussion has taken. The world has suffered too much from an excess of nationalism."

This part of the world has suffered too much from meddling in Europe's affairs, and wishes that might cease. What have we to do with French and German quarrels concerning Germany's right to prepare for the next war? We shall have plenty to do, keeping out of it.

Japanese troops, pressing ahead, while pacifists talk and rebuke, are within 60 miles of Peiping, ancient capital of China.

A cable from Peiping tells you "the way for the Japanese attack was paved by bombs dropped from eight Japanese planes."

When Charles XII of Sweden was cutting through Russia, with a handful of men, defying the vast armies of Peter the Great, the latter said, "my brother Charles is teaching me about war."

Our brother the Mikado is teaching us about war, as it is to be fought in future and American "observers" with the Japanese army would be more useful than observers at Geneva.

Uncle Sam lost an island. It stood, formerly at the mouth of Cook Inlet, 160 miles south of Anchorage, Alaska, and was 20 miles long, about 5 miles broad, with an extinct volcano, for ornament.

This piece of property, called Augustine Island, is supposed to have disappeared, following a series of more than 100 violent earthquake shocks, possibly carrying down with it several trappers.

Experts report to Washington that in violent earthquakes, the earth moves up and down, as well as sidewise, a reminder of the air

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

My Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM deeply in love with a wonderful girl, in fact, I worship and idolize her; and yet it seems that we must part. It's like this: I believe I have all the necessary qualifications that are essential for a successful writer; now I don't want to marry this girl while I am still struggling to achieve success in the literary field, for I fully realize the many hardships and the ever constant struggle in store for me.

I love this girl too much to want her to share the uncertainty of the future with me. She now has a comfortable home and everything to make life a constant pleasure for her, yet she insists upon our getting married at the present time. I am just a little afraid she is only in a temporary glow of ecstasy, and if we did get married now her enthusiasm would not remain consistent, during the trials and vicissitudes that are an integral part of almost every writer's early struggles.

It may take years before I can earn enough to support her in the comfort and security she now enjoys; and then, too, I may never achieve a major success. It's a gamble with Fate and I have explained everything frankly to her; but she simply refuses to change her perspective of the problem. What shall I do? "MARTIN."

This has been done by some of your successful newspaper brothers, just the same as in any other profession. But what is the hurry? Wait a year. Hustle and make this year count as you have never made another one count. Do not depend upon thinking grandly and essaying the intellectual just at first. Get a job and work at it while you are laying your foundations. "Keeping her in the style to which she has been accustomed" is as out of date as the dodo or Mrs. Austin's novels. Young people now who haven't the grit and backbone to give up a few luxuries for love and who will not whine over taking a few hard knocks together are not worth a "baubee."

If you have doubts about the sticking qualities of this girl, better test her a little; cut out the shows and the money-spending for a while or try less expensive diversions and a few evenings at home and see how she takes it.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I BADLY need your advice. I am now in this country seven years, and am striving to become a citizen of the U. S. A. In the next month I have to take my due citizen papers. As I'm without work for 18 months, I have not the means to pay for citizen papers. Has the city any institution which can do anything for me? My few friends are as hardly hit by the depression as I, so I need your advice. Thank you very much in advance. H. L.

It is likely that the Naturalization Bureau, in the Federal Building (Postoffice), at Ninth and Olive streets, might have some suggestion for you. In these times many stories of this kind must come to them and if there is a solution they probably know about it. You might go to the Red Cross headquarters also and ask what to do in this difficulty.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

DO you know where I could get a piano for my little girl, just for the hauling? E. A.

I sometimes have pianos and other things offered—but how do you expect me to do anything about it without your name or address? Some time ago, I had a letter from a little girl asking for a piano. This was signed "Piano Crazy" without other signature or address.

I cannot take the time or space to ask in the column for the address of those who wish help. They must send it with the request, in the first place.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I SAW a letter from a girl in your column complaining that she was always being teased by being told to "get a shave," or something like that, because she has a little growth of hair on her upper lip. I have the same experience, but I laugh it off. If they don't want to associate with me, they don't have to, do they?

Maybe you will think I am cynical. I was going steady—and all of a sudden he stopped coming. I was very much in love; but now it will be a very long time before I even consider a steady again. From now on I shall believe in "Safety in numbers."

Dad scolds because I am not going steady. He says I shouldn't go out with so many fellows. But if I did go steady and even looked like I wanted to get married, he would probably explode. What can I do—ask a fellow to go steady with me? NOT this little girl! Besides, I'm not quite 20 years old. I am not afraid of being an old maid (pardon me, a bachelor girl). There are a lot of things for a bachelor girl to do, anyhow. And if no man wants to ask me to marry—then I'll just stay single. Besides the man I'd like to marry is gone—so what?

What could I do to get him back: You have helped so many, Mrs. Carr. And won't you answer soon, as I am going away, where it is impossible to get a Post. A CYNIC.

You start out bravely enough—but look at your wind-up! Try other fellows. You are quite right about the "numbers" for a while. Probably the boy had no reason he could give; he might have been just tired—and that would have been uncomplimentary. Perhaps you will see him again, and he may realize that he has missed you (if you do not look too eager). But there is no sure remedy for kindling the flame.

You have set me wondering—I'm puzzled and curious to know where in the world you could be going. You can get a Post-Dispatch almost anywhere in civilized countries, or have it sent. You'll find it at some of the stalls in London and Paris, on the corner stands and in the hotels.

Dear Martha Carr:

MY little boy, 3 years old, continually asks me for an automobile to ride in. I wonder if any of your readers has one they do not care for. I would gladly pay for it in some kind of sewing and ironing. It is very hard to keep refusing him. MOTHER.

Usually the best place to make such an inquiry is at your church. The Guild, or women's societies, makes inquiries about these things for children and often find that other members are glad to give them or exchange them for work.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM writing to thank you for your help in getting clothing for the little 2-year-old baby girl, who needed it so very much. Just how much I appreciate your help, and the kindness of the lady who supplied me with this apparel, I cannot express in words. But I know you'll understand how I feel.

Hoping you will always have happiness as your reward for the splendid work you are doing, I shall be always.

YOUR SINCERE FRIEND.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you please tell me where I can take a course in journalism? I will appreciate any information you can give me.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I HAD the misfortune to lose one new black pump, patent leather, and I am hoping the finder will return it. I know someone picked it up, because I went back over the same route five minutes later. I am a working girl and I need it badly. No one could possibly get any use of it, because as I say I have the other one. I know you do not advertise lost articles, but hope you will help me. N. Y.

Very well, Cinderella. Your namesake was a poor working girl, too, and very pleasant things came to her through a similar mishap. Here is hoping that the romance will bud shortly.

Send in a self-addressed and stamped envelope and I will mail you some games for out of doors and tell you where you can get a lot more.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I HAVE a little girl who is in school (I do nursing and cannot keep her with me all the time), and I would like to find a summer camp where I could send her for a while; one that is not too expensive. ANOTHER READER.

The "Church of the Holy Communion" (Episcopal) has a camp where arrangements are made for a two weeks stay. They may have some plan by which a longer stay may be arranged. The camp is called Camp Huldina, located at Oakville, Mo., in the direction of Jefferson Barracks.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you give me the address of the "National Farm Journal"? E. H. G.

"The National Farm Poultry Journal" is published in Minneapolis, Minn. There is also the "National Farm News," Washington, D. C.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Let's EXPLORE Your MIND

See Whether His Opinions Agree With Your Own

1.—The best reply to this question is that of Thomas De Quincey, the English essayist, which runs, in substance, that many a man has in some thoughtless moment committed a murder. Before long he will likely commit a robbery. Once started on the downward road such a man will soon tell a lie, and will finally land in the depths of human depravity gossiping about his neighbor. Gossip is, psychologically, a perversion of two great trends in the human make-up. First curiosity, which rightly directed leads to scientific discovery; second, the desire to be more important than our neighbors, which, rightly directed, leads to great achievement. Gossip is the destructive use of some of man's best characteristics.

2.—Not necessarily a strong body but a vital one. Five times as many men and women of genius are still living at the age of seventy as is true of ordinary people. And long life is the final test of real vitality. The musician Wagner was said not to be strong, yet at the age of seventy he was fond of standing on his head. I could cite scores of other instances. The lesson for us ordinary folks is to take all the care of our health we can and develop every ounce of energy we have.

3.—Yes. Educated people control their emotions better, break down nervously much less frequently, look ahead and see through difficult situations better than uneducated people, are better morally and on the average belong among the superior specimens of mankind both mentally and physically. Therefore, the more people use their intelligence, which is just plain common sense unbiased by emotions, the greater is the happiness they find in marriage.

EVERYDAY RELIGION

By THE REV. JOSEPH FORT NEWTON

Shipwrecked Faith

WHEN St. Paul was sent a prisoner to Rome, the ship on which he sailed was wrecked. Whipped by the wind, lashed by the waves, it was left helpless and adrift. At last it ran aground, and was pounded to pieces by the sea. Those who could swim leaped into the water and got to land. The rest, "some on boards, and some on broken pieces of the ship," the record tells us, escaped safely to shore.

For many today the ship of faith is storm-driven and in distress. The faith taught us is safe enough in the shallow waters of childhood, but when it strikes the open sea it often fails us. The faith of our fathers is not our own, until we fight for it and win it for ourselves. It is not intellectual difficulties, but the hard, bitter facts of life that try our faith, testing it or tearing it to pieces.

The trial of faith begins early, it never stops, and it goes on to the end. Loss of health, loss of fortune, loss of those whom we love more than life itself, broken love, blasted hopes, all the ills of life beat upon our faith. Disease seizes a little child, works its hideous will, and we lay its thin wasted form in the grave—what happens to our faith then? Is it equal to such pitiful, heart-breaking sorrows?

What shall we do when our faith is broken to pieces? We must do as the men of St. Paul's ship did—seize the piece of truth nearest to us, which we can grasp, and cling to it. Few of us live by the whole faith even when we think we do. Each of us has some bit of truth—often a tiny bit—by which we live. Hold fast to what is real to you and wait, for patience is one half of faith.

And old mother who had lost two sons in the World War said to me, "I know it is right to do right—that is all I have left." But that is a great deal and the basis of everything else. To get angry with God, give up and let go of what light we have, is the final disaster. If patience is one-half of faith, courage is the other half. If we lose our hold on God, we may be sure that He will never let go of us.

Ten articles, specially selected by Doctor Newton as being the most outstanding so far published in this series, have been reprinted in an attractive booklet.

This booklet will be sent without cost to interested readers. Requests should be addressed to Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

LISTEN, WORLD!

by Elsie Robinson

Is a Girl Fit for Marriage if She Can't Earn a Living?

ONCE upon a time the following letter would have belonged in a sob column. Now it's Front Page News, sharing importance with President Roosevelt's latest Unemployment Plans. And here's betting that it raises as big a riot as any fracas ever staged in Washington!

ELSIE ROBINSON

What's it all about? Brides! That doesn't sound exciting, does it? But wait a minute.

It's not about the old-fashioned, orange-wreath-and-tulle, clinging-vine type of a bride, whom Grandpa wooed and wed back in 1883, or Dad adored in 1903. No indeedy!

THE LADY UNDER DISCUSSION IS A BRAND-NEW 1933 MODEL—A 16-CYLINDER SELF-STARTER, WITH ALL THE TRICK SHIFTS, GUARANTEED TO TAKE ALL HILLS ON HIGH—AND SUPPORT HER HUSBAND AS WELL AS HERSELF IN THE STYLE TO WHICH HE HAS BEEN ACCUSTOMED.

What's this all about? Is it a newspaper publicity stunt? It is not! It is the actual suggestion of an honest-to-goodness young man who believes that marriage, like all other social institutions, should keep step with the times. And, believe it or not, thousands of upstanding young gentlemen and twofisted young ladies will heartily endorse his ideas!

Briefly, those ideas boil down to this—

SHOULDN'T BRIDES, AS WELL AS GROOMS, BE REQUIRED TO HAVE A PROFESSION OR TRADE, SO THEY COULD DO THEIR SHARE IN CARRYING THE FAMILY LOAD?

A group of us—young men and women who all work in the same office—have been having an argument. It started when I began going with a certain young lady. She is a lovely girl, and I would like to marry her, but here's the point—

My new girl friend has never worked. She is 22 years old, and has always depended solely on her parents for support. She knows no profession or trade, and she would be utterly helpless if I died or lost my job. She is an only child, raised by devoted parents—sentimental Southern people who still think we're living in 1883 instead of 1933.

Also—and this point seems to me as important as the financial part—she has no conception of what modern business means, or any way of understanding my life.

Now, I'm deeply in love with this girl. To tell the truth, I can't think much of anything else—and yet I'm forced to. Marriage for us young people of today is so much more serious than it was for our fathers and mothers. From the way they talk, I gather that everybody sort of lived in one big family when they were youngsters, and that, if a young couple didn't have much, the old folks gave them a hand.

BUT YOU KNOW HOW THINGS HAVE CHANGED. WE'RE RIGHT UP AGAINST IT—AND I DON'T MEAN MAYBE—IF WE LOSE OUR JOBS TODAY. SO DARE I TAKE THE RISK OF MARRYING AN ENTIRELY HELPLESS, IGNORANT GIRL, NO MATTER HOW MUCH I LOVE HER?

Naturally I suppose any regular fellow wants to support his wife. Most men still have a feeling of pride about that. But, as I said before, we are forced to look at things in the modern way; and I can't help thinking of what the consequences will be if I marry a girl like Mary. It seems to me that such a girl is actually a "bad risk" in matrimony—and most of my friends agree with me.

THEY SAY IT IS AS SILLY AND AS DANGEROUS FOR A MAN TO MARRY A WOMAN WITHOUT A JOB, OR AT LEAST THE TRAINING FOR ONE, AS IT WOULD BE FOR A GIRL TO MARRY A JOBLESS MAN.

They go even further.

THEY SAY THAT IT IS AS DISGRACEFUL FOR A WOMAN TO BE IDLE AS IT IS FOR A MAN; AND THAT NO SELF-RESPECTING GIRL SHOULD WANT TO BE SUPPORTED IN IDLENESS.

Of course, after she had children, that's different—though it's more necessary then than ever that she should know some trade, in case anything happens to the father.

That is what most of us think in this office, and you can see for yourself how it mixed up things about my marriage. For, of course, Mary is terribly hurt because I feel that way, and her father and mother are so shocked that they have ordered me to keep away from the house.

AND A FEW OF MY FRIENDS AGREE WITH THEM. THEY SAY THAT A FELLOW WHO WOULD EXPECT HIS WIFE TO WORK IS NOTHING BUT A COMMON TRAMP.

So we all wonder what your opinion will be on this subject. J. C.

Here's a new problem which is as important and as inevitable as any issue which has ever faced the Human Race. It isn't "silly kid stuff"—a passing flurry due to a temporary economic upset—nor can it be brushed away. It's a serious—perhaps the most serious—part of the job which we all must face in rebuilding our world. And it will affect every home, every man, woman and child.

What do YOU think about it? If you were young again and about to marry, would YOU marry an ignorant, helpless, untrained girl, no matter how lovely she was?

If J. C. were your son, or Mary your daughter, would YOU wish them to mate? And what chances do you think they would have, if they did mate?

VINA DELMAR, author of popular fiction dealing with modern youth, sells her stories as fast as she writes them. Her latest literary effusion, "The Portrait of Sadie McKee," has been purchased for Joan Crawford and will follow "Dancing Lady." Everything but the title of "The Devil's in Love" is changed. Miriam Jordan and Warner Baxter, who were to be teamed for this event, are still busy on "I Loved You Wednesday," so Loretta Young is the femme lead with Victor Jory opposite her. I shouldn't be in the least surprised if Loretta Young moved to Fox when her contract with Warner Brothers expires. Wallace Beery and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer are parting company. His contract has not been renewed and he is negotiating with one of the other companies.

Paramount is all pepped up over an original called "All of Me," a Broadway story supplemented with original musical numbers. Here is the line-up: George Raft, Carole Lombard, Ricardo Cortez and Sari Maritza. Mrs. Berthold Viertel who wrote the original story of "Christina of Sweden," has been working with Ernest Vajda and Claudine West on the adaptation to be called "Queen Christiana." Walter Wanger is getting it in readiness for Greta Garbo.

THE LOVE LETTERS OF W. W.

WARDEN LEWIS E. LAWES, Sing Sing Prison, Ossining, N. Y.: My Dear Warden—Just a few lines to tell you that I think—when the history of these trying years is jotted down—your name will be embroidered in big letters. You're the greatest penologist of modern times—times, incidentally, when the criminal is supposed to be smarter and tougher than ever before.

That benefit at Ossining for the family of Motorcycle Officer Birdsall, killed by joy-riding hoodlums, is proof enough that you're quite a guy. Imagine, the warden of a prison helping the Chief of Police of Ossining promote a benefit for the relatives of a cop—with many of the prisoners asking to contribute to the fund or buying tickets by the carloads. If the warden were anyone else but Lewis E. Lawes, it couldn't be did! The late Birdsall must have been okie-okie, too. They tell me he never took a dime! The fact that he died poor, proves that.

See you Friday night, then—and I'll try my best to click. And, by the way, Warden, don't forget to let me out!

EDOUARD HERRIOT, Esq., Care of the White House, Washington, D. C.: My Dear M. Herriot—There's not a single visitor from the Old Country who rates a bigger hand in these United States than you do, M'sieu.

We all forget things too quickly—and I want you to know that many of us in America respect and admire you—and that we remember how you quarreled with your colleagues in France and your countrymen when they wanted you to join them in having the war debts canceled. It seemed to me, that you were probably the only one in France urging that France pay its debts. It thrilled me when I read the cabled accounts as they came over the editorial room wires—of your memorable midnight address on the subject. You are an inspiring man, M'sieu.

I won't forget, too, how you made it plain enough to your fellows when you told them that the loans to France came from Liberty Bonds, bought by all of us, and not from bankers.

At any rate, welcome!

COL. AND MRS. C. A. LINDBERGH, Somewhere in the Skies: My Dear Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh—Mutual friends are saying that you, Colonel, are more like the happy kid who flew the mails a few years ago. Happier, they say, than you've been since you returned from Paris. I do hope that you have relented in your sentiments toward the press. We hounded you—only because our editors consider you both important news—no matter what you do or where you go—or this and that—and we must obey orders.

But what I started to say was this: That the country must feel better seeing you both ride the clouds once more. It fits in with the other big events of the last two months in this country.

We've all had our miseries and problems in the years in back of us—and you and Mrs. Lindbergh have had more than your share. But I note from the papers that you are "the old Lindys again." Smiling, confident and prepared. Whether you know it or not—those broad grins in the photos recently are like a tonic to many of us. For—if you both can put your misfortunes, and what is left of your hearts behind you, I guess we all can.

Iowa farmers seized a judge, whose actions in mortgage foreclosure cases did not please them, beat him, put a rope around his neck, and let him go, only after he had fainted, and then prayed for them, and for himself.

In times such as these farmers sympathize, sometimes violently with other farmers in financial trouble.

But farm owners are again reminded that the value of a farm depends a good deal on the possibility of borrowing money on it.

Beating sheriffs and Judges, that try to collect mortgages will not make farm loans popular.

With the ballot and an overwhelming majority in some states, farmers should be able to express their will without a rope.

Seattle is tired of racketeer bombing outrages, and citizens are determined to do something about it. Mayor John F. Dore says the bombings, of which there have been six in February, March and April of this year "are the work of an organized group, headed by men who pass for respectable and even prominent citizens."

This indicates that the Mayor knows the racketeers, in which case, Seattle will make them uncomfortable.

The difficulty, usually is to identify criminals, because witnesses fear vengeance.

Potato Combination Salad

Six large potatoes, boiled; three finely chopped onions, one cup chopped celery, one chopped pimento, two chopped hard-boiled eggs, one-half cup chopped cooked bacon, French dressing to blend together. Cut potatoes into slices and add other ingredients, using plenty of dressing. Set in a cool place until ready to serve. Serve on a large platter surrounded with crisp lettuce.

Slices of pickles add to the attractiveness of the toasted sandwich.

P. HAL SIMS

The first fourteen articles in this series by P. Hal Sims have been reprinted in an attractive booklet. This booklet will be sent without cost to anyone requesting it. Address P. Hal Sims, St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

P. Hal Sims is acclaimed the greatest contract and auction player. He is captain of the renowned "Four Horsemen" team of four, and has won 24 national championships since 1924. These articles are based on the Sims system, which includes the one-over-one principle which the Sims group of players was the first to employ and develop.

No-Trump Rebidding Beyond Game

SATURDAY, we decided that in order to make a slam try of four no trumps over a response of two no trumps, the opening no-trump bidder should, on a short-suited hand, possess not less than five primary tricks. Now let us look into the when he holds a short-suited hand, and the bidding has been—one no trump, two no trumps, four no trumps.

HAL SIMS

Naturally, he must pass if he holds only a trick and a half. But what if he holds distinctly more than he needed for his first response?

First, let us ask ourselves what he knows about his partner's hand. He knows that it contains not less than five primary tricks; but he also knows that it contains less than six primary tricks. The opener should have originally bid two no trumps had he held a five-and-one-half to six-trick no-trump-type hand with no weak spot. That is to say, responding partner really knows that the opening bidder cannot have any further rebid in his hand unless his opening bid was an underbid: an assumption which cannot be taken into account. Consequently, the responder is now called on to decide the eventual contract by his next bid. You will find that in order to provide a play for six no trumps responder must have in his hand. With less than this, he must pass four no trumps, though it is true that there may be a finesse for small slam if he has only two primary tricks plus some combinations with jacks or tens, and the hands fit and play well. Nevertheless the slam is an unsound bid with less than two and a half tricks. Hidden tricks cannot be developed without a long suit to work with; or rather, one may not rely on hopes to develop any latent trick or incorporate such possibility in one's bidding.

Two and a Half Primary Tricks

Can Grand Slam Be Reached?

Under the new scoring schedule, the rewards for grand slam are so high that one should bid for them if the chances seem to be about even. When dealing with short-suited hands, the playing resources are very limited, there being no recourse to a real or pseudo squeeze, so I feel that one requires the chances to be somewhat better than even in terms of top cards. In order to feel out the grand-slam possibilities, it is necessary for the responding hand to be very informative in his acceptance of the slam try, so that the grand-slam angle may be kept in view while the small slam is being developed in the securest possible manner. My system provides a somewhat elaborate but very delicate and precise technique for exploring these possibilities when the bidding has been—one no trump, two no trumps, four no trumps. When able to accept this slam try, responder may have a choice of responses, and I will give you my idea of the procedure he should follow with the several types of holdings which are to be expected on this bidding.

Untested Partnerships May Avoid Complications at First.

At the same time, these delicate methods may prove complicated or puzzling to inexperienced players, and would undoubtedly be difficult for a new, untried partnership to handle correctly. To those wishing to handle this situation in a summary manner, I would say this: Let the responding hand, over four no trumps, pass if he has less than two and a half primary tricks, but having these values let him bid six no trumps, and make no attempt either to end up in a suit contract for slam, or to consider any question of grand slam. Opening bidder cannot have a rebid, otherwise he should bid two no trumps originally. Logically and automatically, therefore, the bid of six no trumps must close the bidding, and you must hope that you are in the best slam contract, having handled the bidding correctly as regards its quantitative aspect, though omitting the qualitative factor. For players who are students of the game and who wish the best, not the simplest or easiest, handling of slam tries, there are more gradual processes of exquisite daintiness and precision which I will discuss in the next few articles.

Monday—Short suited slam bidding.

GOOD TASTE

By EMILY POST

Travel

TO most of us, the fascination of spreading out a map and planning a tour by staking out routes or places of interest with pins is one of the thrills which never grows dim. When it is uncertain which routes offer greatest attraction, pins of one color are thrust into every point of interest on one route, and pins of a contrasting color mark the offerings held out on another route. And even if you do not immediately set out, it is not an unwise idea to make preliminary trial trips by the road of imagination, and thus have plenty of time for Baedeker reading in preparation. However, let us say you can really go traveling for a week or for months, and at once.

EMILY POST

To the bad sailor, the fact that the greater part of the earth's surface is water is unpleasantly hampering, since putting to sea in a wabble-sized boat is not exactly a pleasure trip. But let us assume that you are a perfect sailor to whom being lifted heavenwards and then suddenly dropped, and as suddenly caught and tossed aloft again is a pleasant sensation! Perhaps, therefore, you are choosing to go to the West Indies; perhaps you live near the Pacific Coast and choose a voyage to the South Seas; perhaps the pin on your map center in London and lead to Scotland. Or if you are a typical American woman, the magnet is Paris and then the "Grand Tour." In 'any event, if you like traveling made easy—and at quite possibly a saving in expense—you go to a travel bureau and engage accommodations and tickets for every contemplated situation of event. And then you pack your bags, and possibly a trunk or two, and go!

Advice as to luggage can be put in a nutshell: take the least possible. Pare your list of clothes you think necessary to the minimum, and then cut the list in half! Not only is such a nuisance as a lot of luggage to pack and unpack, and continually to look for piece by piece, and then to have it all carried in and out of trains and boats and taxis and hotels times without end. And even if you go traveling in your own car, innumerable longings become an annoyance which seems to grow greater day by day. Be sure that the piece you do take are in good condition. Nothing is more down at heel than sloppy bags broken at the corners, handles or locks coming off, ill-packed with the tray straps hanging out. If you are going to a foreign country it is important to paste each side of every piece of luggage with an easily recognized mark (a two-colored stripe is as good a way of marking as any) so that when hundreds of suitcases and trunks are piled on baggage counters you can quickly pick out your own.

The question of the sort of clothes to be packed is becoming each year simpler. Men's clothes have long been sensible, but sensible country clothes, easy to put on, easy to wear, easy to pack, are now also in fashion for women. Most clothes are boons, which can be appreciated to the full only by those of us who remember the days of dresses, which took 10 minutes to get hooked and buttoned into, and any number of minutes apiece to pack into half a tray of the trunk room. A dozen dresses can be packed today in a fraction of the time and space that used to be taken by one. Today it is the part of the family who needs a bulging Gladstone bag or a whole trunk while the women who at one time never moved without a "sarat" now pack their belongings in a few neat pieces of hand luggage.

A man must have soft day shirts, stiff evening shirts, at least one sack suits, one or two country suits and a dinner coat and several pairs of shoes. Not a long list, but the bulk is not compressible (as are shoes on wooden trees, a collection of cobblestones could not be more unyielding). For a woman I would list two skirts and sweaters, two jackets and blouses, and two alternating print dresses (printed materials neither rumple nor show dust as do plain materials); for very simple semi-evening dress, put on for dinner (or which, jackets or capes, are wearable in the daytime); an extra hat or two, a warm, loose long coat, of course, and enough American shoes to last until she gets home again. She ought to be an ample wardrobe for almost any woman, no matter where she goes.

Rules for behavior are the same on a journey as at home, only more so. Traveling companions are thrown so closely together on a cruise or a tour, it need scarcely be pointed out that habitually keeping others waiting or pushing ahead to get the best seat, or in any other way encroaching upon the rights of others, or thrusting upon others one's attentions and opinions when not encouraged, or on the other hand accepting courtesies with

One might say the ideal traveler is one whose digestion is perfect, whose disposition is cheerful, who is unfailingly good tempered under the most discouraging circumstances, to whom discomfort is of no moment, and who possess at least a sense of the ridiculous if not a real sense of humor! But who is at the same time capable of being unobtrusively silent at such times as his neighbors seem inclined to read or to rest or to withdraw into their own thoughts.

Flyaway sleeves and a standaway-out skirt were striking features of the charming frock worn by MISS JOSEPHINE ROACH. The material was brown and white striped mousseline de soie.

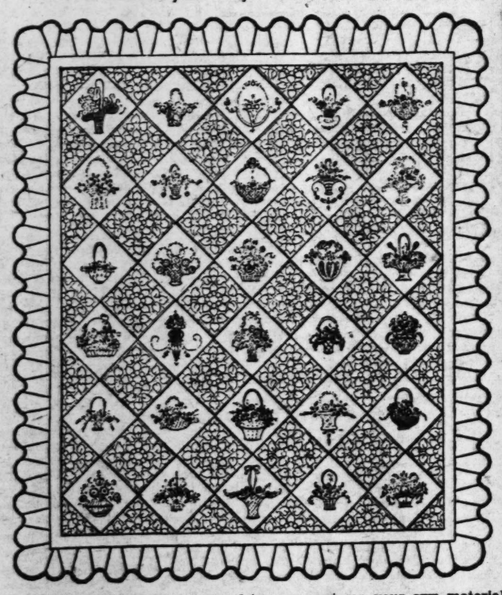

Baby blue starched chiffon was used to advantage in the gown worn by MISS MATTIE WHITE. It was embroidered in pink and blue flowers. Three ruffles of plain blue organdy formed short sleeves. A girdle of soft blue silk completed the costume.

Grandmother might have worn this blue and white plaid organdy gown and cute little organdy cap and she would have looked quite up-to-date at the 1933 Prom. It was worn by MISS MARIAN FRENCH. White organdy helps make the sleeves stand out.

MISS MARY SCHATZMAN wore a princess gown of white chantilly lace. Its puff sleeves had starched and wired epaulets above them. There was no belt and the line of the bodice continues unbroken to the hips.

The May Day Basket Quilt

JUST imagine 30 baskets, each one different in design, each one filled with gay blossoms, all embroidered upon a single quilt. If you would keep the beauties of springtime ever with you, do make a flower basket quilt. And here's a suggestion, a single basket would make a lovely pillow, or these blocks are lovely when embroidered and framed. They make lovely gifts.

The quilt illustrated above consists of 30 blocks, 9x9 inches, finished with the petal border. You can now stamp your own material with the Multrapat Transfer patterns. There are four designs on a sheet, and it would take eight sheets to make the complete set as shown above. The Multrapat patterns are 10c per sheet. Order M. P. No. 10, or all eight sheets for 50c. Order M. P. S. 50. The cutting guide for the Petal Border and quilting design for the plain blocks is 10c. Order No. 801.

Chic Touches On Kid Models

Minute pin points cover the white opera pumps shown at the upper left, and a tucked vamp and rows of perforations between the tucks are features of the blue oxfords at the lower right. Solid leather heels add to the practicability of the brown walking shoes in the center, which have other good points too.

Colors being highlighted in the shops are blue, gray and beige, but black, brown and white continue in favor as the season progresses.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

» by WYNN «

For Sunday, April 30.

Best part of this morning is considered by many as belonging to the night before. Not too good after breakfast for most. Afternoon and evening improving socially and for serious thinking in the later hours. Plan deeply.

Eliminate Hatred.

Will the economic conference at London be a success? Astrology answers this question, and it would be wise for the statesmen of the world to pay attention. If this conference is held next June, when the Sun is in the sign of Gemini, it will be a meeting of wonderful conversation, well expressed ideals and practically no action. It will be too lofty, if they convene around June 15, as advance notices have predicted. We are, as a world, at present under the necessity of working out co-operative measures for the elimination of hatreds. We have a little less than 10 years in which to do it—seemingly quite a long period; but it is for all our benefits to get it done at once. The conference could do better if held over till August.

Your Year Ahead.

Mental pursuits, travel and redecorating the home are among the strong probabilities for those who celebrate this anniversady, during the 12 months ahead. May, June and July are heavy with feeling and emotion; don't let it carry you away from your better judgment. Watch health and money from Sept. 28 to Oct. 26. Danger: Jan. 4 to 9; and April 25 to May 6, 1934.

For Monday, May 1.

Early morning ideas should be tested in light of practical reason before being put into action. Afternoon and evening fading to negative between sexes and between employers and employed—into the rut for the time being.

Unemployment.

Neptune in Virgo, if you will look back a bit, began the lowering of all world conditions that had their previous existence in or because of human selfishness. Neptune entered this sign for the first time in 165 years in the fall of 1928; then, in the following winter, it went back into Leo. Late in the summer of 1929 it entered Virgo to remain till 1943. Virgo is the sign of employment and unemployment, for it is the sign of service, personal and otherwise. Neptune is the planet of misunderstood emotions, fakes, plans and schemes that are too big to be real. It is the most difficult influence we have from the heavens, for it is the one we know least about, with the exception of Pluto, our most recently discovered planet.

Your Year Ahead.

Take the best of care of business and reputation with superiors or the public, especially during the last half of 1933, if this is your birthday. New ideas, travel, study and deep thinking over plans—go at 'em right and make this a good year. Don't try to get through it without changing. Steer straight emotionally. Danger: Jan. 5 to 10, and April 27 to May 6, 1934.

Tomorrow.

Get out the records and try to balance your budget; first of two good days.

Look Out! It's a RACKET

CAPT. MALLENS shouldered his way through the group of laughing policemen. "What is this?" he shouted. "Get that man back in his cell. This is a police station, not a vaudeville house. What is the idea of bringing a prisoner out in the squad room to do tricks for you?"

"Wait a minute, Captain," a grinning detective pleaded, "wait till you see what this fellow can do. Hey, Jack," he turned to the prisoner, "show the Captain."

The dignified little prisoner stacked three chairs on top of the squad room table and, as solemn as a hotel door man, he mounted the insecure heap standing poised for an instant on the top.

Then he seemed to slip and came down in a smashing, clattering fall, the table and chairs falling on top of his inert body.

"His back is broken," the Captain gasped.

"Naw," laughed the detective. "Get up, guy," and the prisoner rose and smilingly dusted off his clothes.

"Look, Captain," the detective continued, "this fellow is an acrobat—a tumbler. Some insurance company got him pinched. Has been making a lot of money by getting hit with automobiles. He lets a car brush him and then does one of those trick falls. The crowd thinks he's hurt and he always has plenty of witnesses. He collects."

Leftover Mashed Potatoes

Some people always use up the leftover potatoes in pattie cakes and these are apt to prove a little monotonous. Try mixing them with a little cream and one beaten egg, piling in a buttered casserole, sprinkling generously with grated cheese and baking in the oven until a golden brown on top.

Cleaning Hats

If soot should blow on hubby's light felt hat, do not attempt to rub it off or wet it. Cover it thoroughly with dry salt and then brush off with a stiff brush. Any other method will cause the soot to smear into the material.

News for STAMP Collectors

COLLECTORS who prize first day covers had better be prepared for the Chicago Fair issues, as not much notice will be given. The denominations are 1 and 3 cents.

Only six plates have been made for the Newburgh stamp. They are 21118 to 21123. The first order was for 50,000,000 copies. There is a possibility of another 25,000,000.

The plate number on the "Ruby Stick Pin" variety on the Yorktown stamp mentioned in this column has been sent to the writer. It is stamp 41 on Red Plate 20482-Right Pane. These stamps were printed two panes to a sheet.

The Philatelic Agency stock of 1-cent Bi-Centennial is exhausted, as is the ½-cent.

A bill to issue an Akron Commemorative in memory of the dirigible lost at sea, has been introduced in Congress. It probably will meet an early defeat.

New Issues.

ESTONIA.—An attractive adhesive has just been issued. It is 1-kr black in the regular post series. The design pictures the waterfall on the Narva River, at Narva, whose population is about 35,000. The river flows from Lake Peibus close to the Russian border and empties into the Gulf of Finland. The city was founded by Ivan the Terrible, who built a fortress just above the falls and named it Ivangorod, which name was later changed to Narva.

HONG KONG.—For the first time the 12c violet on yellow paper, King George type A-14 of the regular post series, has been issued printed on paper watermarked Multiple Crown and Script C. A.

ITALY.—Two more stamps from here. This country should have no trouble winning the prize (if any is given) for the total number of different issues in 1933, for it has a lead which will be hard to overcome. The two stamps are the 15c dull violet, portraying the poet, Dante, and 25c carmine rose with a portrait of another famous Italian, Galileo. Both are for pneumatic post service.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—The 5d purple, King Alexander, Type A-7 of the regular postage series has been recently issued without the usual imprint at the bottom.

KENYA.—A new value in the Postage Due series is the 1sh slate. The design is the regular type D1 now in regular use.

MEXICO.—A new comer in the official stamp ranks of this country is the 10c lake, Cuauhtemoc Monument type. The official overprint is in two lines in black across the bottom of the stamp. The overprint reads "SERVICIO OFICIAL."

MEXICO.—The Child Welfare stamp for 1933 is the familiar Mother and Child type SP. 5, value and color as follows, 1c deep violet. This is a semi-postal issue.

NETHERLANDS.—The series of four stamps just issued is part of the celebration now going on in honor of the fourth centenary of William the Silent, Prince of Orange. All four stamps are large, upright engraved pictorials of excellent design and workmanship. Another nice thing about the series is that they are of low values and intended for regular use as postage. The design, colors and values are as follows: 1½c portrays the Coat of Arms of the House of Orange with the commemorative inscription "1533-1933 Prins William 1" below it. The portrait of the Prince upon the 5c dark green was taken from the painting by Goltzius; his portrait upon the 6c lilac rose was taken from the painting by Kassel. Both of these show the Prince in his later years. The Prince is portrayed as a young man on the 12½ dark blue, from the original painting by Moro.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

The Honeymoon

"WHERE are you going on your honeymoon?" asked Mrs. Quacko Duck after the wedding meal was finished.

"What's that?" asked Honey Bear.

"It certainly sounds very lovely. Does it mean that we're given lots and lots of honey to eat and that we enjoy it under the light of the moon?"

"Now really, quack, quack," quacked Mrs. Quacko, "that's what it ought to mean, and you have the best idea of it I've ever heard."

Willy Nilly overheard this conversation and when the sun was beginning to go down over the Puddle Muddle hills he told the Bears to go over and sit in front of their cave.

Willy Nilly had put up a door plate over the cave which read: "The Cave of Honey Bear and Jelly Bear. If not at home inquire at Willy Nilly's."

But now Willy Nilly got some honey in the honeycomb and the two Bears sat in the moonlight in front of their cave and had honey. The others were all asleep now.

Out in front of the cave sat Jelly Bear and Honey Bear in the moonlight. The honey was all finished now, but they licked their sticky paws and found the taste very pleasant.

And the moon looked so golden that it almost seemed as though it, too, had been made of honey.

"Some day," said Jelly Bear, "when I become very rich I'll take you up to the moon and you can eat it all up. I'm sure it's made of honey."

And Honey Bear said to Jelly Bear, "Growl, growl, you make me so happy."

HEALTH

Food.

HEREDITY and environment, the major factors in well-being cannot be considered as completely separate.

The forces of heredity operate within the environment. They are also influenced by environment, so that a set of favorable conditions will offer a wide and free field for the full development of hereditary factors, while adverse conditions will hinder them.

When properly fed and nourished the body has extraordinary powers of resistance to disease. This is demonstrated by the incidence of tuberculosis in a given community. When the food supply is liberal, tuberculosis tends to decline in prevalence. When there is a want of essential foods, as was seen during the World War, tuberculosis spreads.

We know specifically how the lack of certain food factors is responsible for specific disease conditions, such as rickets, defective teeth, scurvy, beriberi, pellagra, goiter, and a peculiar form of eye disease.

We know, furthermore, that in addition to these specific disease conditions, an inadequate diet may bring about a general debilitation, which lays the body open to various diseases.

In recent years, by virtue of our great advances in agriculture and husbandry, the quantitative problem of food has been fairly well mastered.

The present-day defects in diet are not quantitative in nature, but rather qualitative. Individuals eat enough but not necessarily of the right kinds of food. Also certain foods which are subjected to artificial processes are robbed of their value.

Withal, it is possible to assure a satisfactory diet for all practical purposes by the relatively simple means of adding milk and green vegetables to whatever other foods are consumed.

The average lay person is inclined to speak of certain foods as easy and of others as hard to digest.

In a large measure he is justified in making such classifications for himself without generalizing for all men from his individual experiences.

Scientists have studied the digestibility of foods from two different viewpoints. One concerns the ease with which the digestive apparatus of an individual deals with food, the other the degree to which the food taken in is absorbed.

The facility with which a food is digested can be judged chiefly by the reports of the individual studied. One man can eat cabbage without any gastric disturbances, while another will suffer acutely.

As for absorption, we need only to measure carefully the food intake and to balance it against the food residue that is voided. The difference represents absorption.

The study of the ease of the digestibility of foods is best carried on with humans, but for a study of the assimilation of foods, animals are more suitable.

The difficulty here is that the results from animal experimentation cannot be entirely carried over or applied to humans. Some valuable information, however, can be gathered from such tests.

Thus, it was found that in animals sour milk was better digested than sweet milk. Soft boiled and hard boiled eggs were more completely absorbed than raw eggs. A mixture of raw egg and milk was better digested than milk alone.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of these experiments is the demonstration that one kind of food may influence the digestibility of another, when the two are taken at the same time.

The average man knows from his experience that certain foods do not go well together. It is up to science to discover, if possible, the nature of such combinations.

Environment and Child Delinquency

THERE is a commonly expressed belief that the young delinquents of our big cities come chiefly from the members of one or another national or racial group.

Prejudice varies. In each part of the country a different element of our mixed national population is held responsible.

A report of one of the committees of the recent White House conference on child health and protection says:

"Children who become behavior and delinquency problems in large cities seem, on the whole, to be recruited from certain types of poor or deteriorating residential districts, irrespective of the race or nationality group which may be residing in that district."

It appears that whereas race, nationality and religion bear no definite relation to delinquency, certain social and economic conditions do.

It has been found that among the factors which make for delinquency are:

The crowding of families together in large tenement or apartment houses in sections of the city where people live without having a sense of a permanent home and without developing any real neighborhood life.

The absence of adequate play space in the form of parks, playgrounds and open lots.

An extreme degree of poverty which deprives children of necessary play things and of a pleasant home atmosphere.

SEA OF GLORY

By MARY C. McCALL

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR.

JANET came back into the room. She looked badly. There were circles under her eyes, lines beside her mouth that meant she was tired. She hadn't been sleeping, either. She began to straighten up the room, avoiding him, not saying anything. What had happened to them that things could be like this?

"Janet," Scotty said.

"Yes?" She was emptying ash trays. She stood looking at him. Just as if she were saying, "I hope this stranger will get his business over with soon. I'm busy," he thought. Oh, what had happened?

"I'm going to have to ask you to do something for me."

"What's that?" Still that brusque voice—no interest—no friendliness.

"The annual dinner of the company is Wednesday. You remember I told you about it. I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to go with me. I'm sorry. I know—" he stopped. "I know it will be a bore. I know that you don't want to go anywhere with me. I know that you're as sick as I am of making a show of happiness that doesn't exist."

She dropped the metal ash tray she was holding. She came over to him. Her mouth was trembling. She closed her eyes and the tears spilled out onto her cheeks.

"Scotty," said she, "don't ask a favor of me like that—as if—as if you didn't know me."

NOW everything was all right. Now he needn't remember that night any more. They were together again. They loved each other. These bad times they had were just surface quarrels. It was just as it had always been. They belonged together.

It was being so in love with Janet that made him feel like that. You couldn't want children just impersonally. It was not children he wanted. It was his and Janet's children. That was why he'd never thought about it when he was younger—before he'd known what it was to be married to Janet.

"Janet, darling," he said.

"Yes." Her voice was drowsy.

"Let's have a kid."

She stirred in his arms. "Not yet, Scotty."

Perhaps she was frightened. He didn't blame her. That was the only thing about it. She'd have to suffer so. He didn't like to think of that. But Janet was strong, so fine and healthy. It couldn't be as bad as people said.

"Why not dear? I know you'd have to go through a lot, but——"

"No." she said, "it's not that. I wouldn't mind that."

"Then why should we wait, darling?"

"Because, if you want to know, I couldn't stand the prying and peering. Millions of fools. The newspapers trying to get pictures of me. No, I couldn't stand it, Scotty. We'll wait until they let us alone a little."

"Oh, I see," he said.

"Are you very mad, Scotty?"

"No," he said, "I'm not mad. If you feel that way about it, why, that's that." He had said to her what he wouldn't have said to another living soul. This feeling he'd had was so new and strange to him, he'd felt shy about it. It hadn't been very easy finding words for it, and then she'd said that about the papers. Well, she'd killed that desire for a child. It had only existed because they were so dear to each other, so happy.

If Janet could feel like that, then they weren't close to each other at all. He had asked his wife, who was part of him, to have his child, and some stranger had answered him. There could be no quarrel, no argument, about this. They were amiable enough, but always in the back of Scotty's mind was the remembrance of that feeling he had had, which was dead now.

THE next morning, in Joe Marshall's gossip column in the Record, was this item: "Janet McClenahan's escort these days is a lad who edits a house organ for Scotty's boss." Miss Frederick, the red-haired secretary, brought it to Scotty.

"I thought you ought to see this, Commander," she said with an acid little smile. As if she were saying, "Of course I'm above gossip, but I'm showing you this for your own good."

"Oh, that thing," said Scotty. "Yes, Mrs. McClenahan and I were very much amused by that."

Now he'd have to ask Janet not to go out with Collins any more, and there'd probably be another scene. He bought a copy of the filthy little paper on his way home. He handed it to Janet without saying anything.

"Well?" She looked up.

"What do you think about it?"

"I don't think anything about it," she said. "While you were away Don took me out three or four times. I don't know anybody else. What harm was there?"

He felt himself getting angry.

"There isn't any harm," said Scotty. "Don't take that tone."

"I wasn't aware that I was taking any tone——"

Oh! He felt as if he'd been through this any number of times before. I'm not jealous of Don Collins. I think he's an unmitigated bore, but if you can stand him that's your business."

"Yes," said Scotty, "it would. But if you're going out with him causes dirty gossip like this, I've got to ask you to stop going out with him."

"But why?" said Janet. "You know it's all right, and so do I, and so does he. So why should——"

"Because I ask you to."

"Oh," she said, "I see. It's another of those times when I'm to give in without seeing any reason in your objections."

"But, Janet, even you have got to admit——"

"Unreasonable as I am, is that it?"

"Yes," said Scott, "unreasonable as you are."

"You're always one hundred per cent logical yourself, aren't you?"

"No," said Scott, "I'm not, but I do try once in a while to understand your point of view."

It went on, that quarrel, on and on. It turned into a dreary repetition of every other disagreement they had had. Finally, at the height of his anger, Scott reminded her that it was she who had been so frightened of publicity that she wouldn't have a child.

Even while he was saying that, he despised himself. Janet flushed. He could see the brick-red creeping up her throat into her face.

"Scotty," she said, "I'm very tired of this. I'm tired of rowing with you. We've gotten so now that life is just one fight after another. I think I'll go away for a while. I've got to get away from you where I can get some perspective on all this. We've been together too constantly. Maybe if I go home for a few weeks——"

"You can't do that," said Scott.

"I can't? I'd like to know why I can't. That word 'can't' has been used too much around here. I can't take a job. I can't stand by my old friends. I can't go out with a man, even though you know things are all right. And now I can't go home for a visit. Will you tell me why not?"

They stood facing each other. Scotty's heart was racing with anger. He could hardly find his voice.

"Because if you do they'll say we're through, that we're going to be divorced."

"Well," said Janet, "considering how things are with us, that isn't such a bad idea."

SCOTT sat up most of the night. His door was closed. Janet's was closed, too. He found himself listening to hear whether she was packing. He could see her walking around her room. Was that a bureau drawer opening? That was the closet door. She probably was packing. Maybe she was waiting for him to come in and beg her not to go. Well, he'd be hanged if he would.

She was right, the way things were with them, it would be better to have it over with once and for all. Over with, everything they'd planned. All those things they'd said to each other in Bermuda, their hopes for their marriage. What were they thinking of? They must be insane, both of them.

Suppose he did go in, what good would it do? The past months had been nothing but quarrels and making up after quarrels. What was the use of trying to prolong that agony? The thing he wanted to save was the marriage he had hoped for, not this mess, this weary succession of misunderstandings.

He hadn't been willing to believe that they were really strangers. He'd swallowed his pride and apologized to her time after time because he couldn't face the truth, wouldn't admit that this marriage of theirs wasn't a success. And what had he gained by putting logic aside, crawling to her? Just a temporary reunion that didn't really mean anything at all.

"Oh, why did this have to happen to us?" "Us"—they weren't one at all, he and Janet. They were two people. They didn't know each other. They didn't love each other. If they were capable of quarreling like that, saying bitter things to each other, then what was the use of going on?

Where had they first gone wrong? They'd been so happy in Bermuda. Yes, but that was easy. That was honeymooning. You could be happy with any woman who had some degree of physical appeal for you. No, what was the use of belittling it, trying to tell himself that he could have known with just any woman the joy he'd known with Janet?

BUT had he been happy with Janet, the real Janet, or had he been happy because he thought that she was different? That time when they'd found this place, and she'd said, "We'll have a big sofa in front of the fire"—just what he'd been thinking. And the time he'd got into that jam about the flyers and Boynton had cracked the whip. She'd understood that, without any words.

Yes, but if she'd had any real understanding she wouldn't have acted that way about the child. She would have realized how hard it was for him to talk about it at all, that he was asking her something right from his heart. He'd let her see him with every guard down because he felt that she was part of him.

When Janet got home his mother would realize that something was wrong. She'd be writing him, telephoning him, crying over him. She'd be sure that he was right and Janet was wrong. She'd never be made to understand that there was no right or wrong to this business, that they were just fundamentally unsuited to each other. He didn't want to discuss this with his mother or any one else. Talking wouldn't make it any better.

He dropped off to sleep at last, a sleep which didn't rest him. He woke up early with a dead feeling, his eyes prickling with fatigue. Janet might even be out of the house by this time. He didn't want to see her. He listened at his door before he went into the bathroom to shave. He certainly didn't want to meet her in the hall. There was something indecent about this sharing of living quarters with her.

In books and plays marriages broke up in an emotional scene, then the chapter ended or the curtain fell. But life wasn't like that. There were the petty embarrassments of packing clothes and dodging each other in the hall, explaining to the maid. What did she want him to do with this apartment. And half the furniture was hers. Half! She could have it all. He felt that he never wanted to see this place again.

He'd better wait, though; she might change her mind, she might come back to him. And then it would begin again, the quarreling some more. No, it was no good. They were through, and he wasn't sorry. He was only sorry that the happy marriage he'd thought this would be didn't exist, had never existed. But this cat-and-dog life they'd led was better done with.

HE ought to see her before he left. He didn't know whether she had money enough to get home on, and they ought to reach some agreement about the apartment and the furniture. Perhaps she wouldn't accept money from him. He felt he couldn't face that interview. Parting from her in anger was bad enough, but seeing her now, discussing business with her, would be worse, unbearable.

"Tonight when I come home she won't be here," he thought. Suddenly he felt that he must go back upstairs, knock on that door. He couldn't let this happen. He'd do anything to keep her with him. What did anything matter compared to losing Janet? He half turned. No, what was the use? It was all finished.

He went through that day at the office in a state of numbness. He felt as if his body didn't belong to him. It was just a lead case for his mind. When people spoke to him he hardly heard them. Inside the lead shell, he kept going over and over every incident of the last few months, every word he'd said to Janet and she'd said to him.

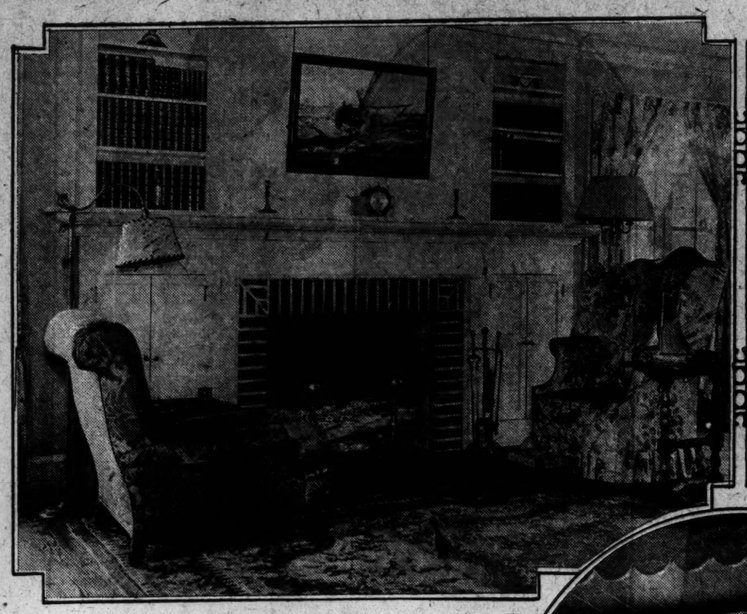

One thing emerged clearly from that welter of remembering. He didn't want to go back to that apartment. He'd go to a hotel or a club or somewhere. He couldn't go back there. Yes, but he couldn't go any place else. He wasn't like any one else. Every one knew him. He wouldn't be in a hotel three hours before the papers would be after him. "Is it true that you and Mrs. McClenahan have separated?"

He sent a check up to Providence. At first he was going to write a letter. "Dear Janet: I'll do with the furniture whatever you say." No, better not mention the furniture. Maybe she'd think he was trying to appeal to her sympathy by picturing him alone in the flat. "Dear Janet: I am inclosing a check—" No, that was silly; the check was there. It sounded like a business letter anyway. But if he just sent off the check without a word, it seemed too curt.

Interesting INTERIORS of ATTRACTIVE ST. LOUIS HOMES

By JOSEPHINE WALTER.

MANY people have hobbies but not many ride them to such good advantage as Mr. and Mrs. J. Eugene Baker Jr. Mr. Baker's predilection for boats and things pertaining to boats is the basis for most of the decorative scheme in their home on the McKnight road.

Even the exterior, of white-washed brick with sea blue shutters, has the shipshape appearance reminiscent of an old sea captain's home. Its clean-cut, Colonial design is given added interest by the ship's lantern which hangs above the simple doorway.

Inside one is immediately greeted by the first of the ships, which are to be found throughout the house. Here, in fact, is a veritable fleet of them; blue ones, afloat on a white wall-paper sea. They climb the Colonial stairway, too, and are used on the walls of the second floor hall as well. Another ship's lantern, in the lower hall, sheds light on this nautical paper.

The soft blue of sunlight on still waters is used for the walls of the living room, with a lighter blue used for the woodwork and the mantel-breast, which is also of wood. This fireplace, most interestingly designed, is the type that might be found in a ship's cabin; that is, of course, if a ship's cabin ever had a fireplace. At either side of the mantel are built-in bookcases, with cupboards below, the shelves holding, besides books, a tiny model of the boat Mr. Baker used to sail. A fine copy of an old picture depicting a sail boat at sea hangs over the mantel while the mantel-shelf itself contains a clock resembling a ship's wheel, a miniature lighthouse and a glass bottle containing a tiny boat built by an old seaman.

This nautical theme, however, has not been carried to extremes, for the room itself is a charmingly liveable place. As contrast to the blue of the walls the rug, which is a fine Victorian copy of an Aubusson, is in tones of pink and rose with a touch of yellow. These colors are repeated in the yellow chintz hangings patterned in rose tones. Two comfortable lounging chairs are placed at either side of the fireplace, one having a table beside it on which is placed a silver model of a sailing ship while the other is accompanied by a lamp with the shade made of a map of Kasco Bay in Maine where Mr. Baker used to do his sailing. One end of the room is built out with a deep bay in which are placed a comfortable table and reading chairs. The other end contains a knee-hole desk above which is hung a painting of Sir Thomas Lipton's boat. Another wall contains a companion picture of the Enterprise; mementos of The America Cup Races which Mr. and Mrs. Baker witnessed several years ago.

THE dining room is simple Colonial in style and furnishings, the only nautical touches being the silver boat used as a center piece on the table and the sconces which have an eagle as the chief decoration and lights covered with glass globes. Bright yellow paper is placed above a cream-colored dado and the chintz curtains have a pattern of brilliant colored flowers on a yellow ground.

The master bedroom gets completely away from the marine atmosphere of the rest of the house with its morning glory wall paper in tones of blue and rose. Blue, too, is used, in a darker tone, for the marquisette hangings edged with ball fringe and finished with a swag valance. This same blue marquisette is used to drape the dressing table which is set into a tiny alcove formed by built-in closets at either side. Colonial chair-backed beds of Chippendale design are covered in blue spreads with white candle-wicking and the other furnishings of the room are also Colonial in feeling.

An amusing guest room is now being planned for the little room over the garage. Here, sloping eaves will complement bunks which are to be built-in, in true seaman-like fashion. In fact, this whole house demonstrates how interesting and unsual a place can be when built around an "idea."

SEEN IN THE STORES

By SYLVIA

DECIDEDLY peachy are the new pink shades in summer cottons. And there's no slang about that either! If you can resist this popular shade of peach, certainly you can't resist the next best pink tone which is coral. These strictly 1933 colors are seen to advantage in the novelty weaves such as matelasses or cloqued effects.

Get out your old panama or get into a new one soon. Panama days are coming. A season of white and lovely pastels will call for this favorite straw. Have your hat banded with a favorite color in grosgrain or velvet, or go so far as to circle the crown with a garland of tiny field flowers.

Two-eyelet ties that look more like pumps than they do like oxfords are the leading shoe style of the moment. The idea is most practical, too, since the ties are more comfortable on most feet than the low cut pump, but still they give the dressy effect. Wide grosgrain ribbon ties in a big enough bow to cover up the eyelets.

Now that so many women both yonug and old are struggling along on their roller skates, they are keeping the hosiery counters busy dealing out anklets. So these short sports socks can't be considered youthful any more. Women like the plain deep colors best—navy or royal blue or red. And they want to ensemble the color with berets and gloves of matching string.

Even when the thermometer starts soaring into summer heat I wouldn't be surprised to see women swathing their necks in scarfs. Summer coats of the tailored type have colorful scarfs attached. Some are plaid and some are polka dotted. As to the fabrics we see much of taffeta, gingham and pique.

The more fragile a girl's appears the better a smart dresser likes it. Another indication that the depression may be over. Crinkled organdie gloves are so dainty that a practical soul would hate to wear them, but the fashionists don't mind. These gloves are designed for wear with the garden party type of summer cotton dresses. Organdie bags can be purchased to harmonize.

• • •

Most of the rainbows we have seen of late are on the top of small feminine heads. A hairbow which has only one color doesn't stand the ghost of a chance of popularity with a young style addict—especially when there are ribbons of many colors on the market. Girls not only like their ribbons wide but they like them varied. Ribbon counter experts will tell you this is so.

New and effective colors in organdie curtains have been coming in of late. Summer cottagers will adore them. Maize is the most sunshiny of the group but there are green, blue, rose, orchid and peach to heighten the interest of a room.

If you have your own tennis court or are brave enough to venture on a public one in the newest tennis costume which consists of shirts and shorts, the St. Louis stores are ready to supply you. A skirt or a jumper frock eliminates shocked spectators while you're coming and going. Linen and seersucker are the fabrics that I've seen.

• • •

Summer shoes and bags will be sold in sets, and cotton sets at that. You can get them in white ribbed or novelty cottons, or if you insist upon a color this can be provided in combination with white. String color also is mentioned as important in cotton footwear and accessories.

Lillian's Muffins

One-fourth cup butter, one-fourth cup sugar, one egg, one-half cup milk, one and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar and cream together. Add well-beaten egg. Sift flour and baking powder and add alternately with the milk. Bake in a moderate oven. These dainty muffins are attractive when baked in small-sized gem pans.

TODAY'S PATTERN

Extremely Simple to Fashion

LITTLE sister will beam with delight when she wears this captivating little frock. Then mother will wisely think, "It was the simplest thing on earth to make . . . and so inexpensive . . . she must have several of them." And if tubbable, gay cotton prints are chosen, it won't matter if she gets a wee bit unladylike romping about. The details are so cunning, with clever seams forming jacket-like yokes, from which stitched pleats animate the frock. Bloomers, too, are included with the pattern.

Pattern 2304 may be ordered only in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6 requires 2⅛ yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

SEND FOR THE ANNE ADAMS FASHION BOOK, showing Paris-inspired models for every sewing need—all practical and easy and economical to make. Models for the larger figure, junior and kiddie styles; lingerie and accessory patterns are also featured. PRICE OF CATALOG, FIFTEEN CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. Stubborn Rubbers

Cover the rubber heels of your shoes with paper when you put your rubbers or galoshes on. It will prevent that unpleasant sticking that occurs when rubber meets rubber.

THUMBNAIL REVIEWS OF THE NEW MOTION PICTURES

BY NIE

LOEW'S—Joan Crawford, Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone and Robert Young—a pretty swell cast, by the way—going all through the war again in a drama of airmen, sailors and Red Cross nurses called "Today We Live." Joan is engaged to the wrong man but a torpedo manages things so she can marry the right one in reel 8 or 9.

AMBASSADOR—"The Keyhole" is all about Kay Francis, the magnificent who is married to a jealous old boy who engages George Brent to spy upon her. He does and falls in love, too. So does Kay and the film ends in the customary clinch.

GRAND CENTRAL—It took a lot of authors, ten of 'em, to write "The Woman Accused" but they did a good job of it and the result is a dandy picture with Nancy Cooper and our old friend Cary Grant going through a lot of difficulties with gangsters and lawyers to find happiness.

FOX—"Zoo in Budapest," a pretty little romance in a menagerie between Loretta Young and Gene Raymond which suddenly develops a most amazing lot of thrills and becomes a smashing hit.

PUBLIC DISCUSSIONS ON THE AIR TODAY

A "World Today" address by James G. McDonald, chairman of the Foreign Policy Association, is set for 6:45 today on WENR.

"Can We Afford Education?" is the topic assigned to Harley L. Lutz, economist, for a talk over KWK at 7 o'clock.

An "Economic World Today" discussion by Philip G. Wright and Isador Lubin will be broadcast at 7:30 tonight by KSD.

National Commander Louis A. Johnson of the American Legion will speak at 9:15 tonight over the CBS chain, including WABC, WHAS and KMBC.

Congressman Wright Patman of Texas will speak over the CBS chain at 8:30 tonight, discussing "Currency Inflation." Patman is expected to counsel against formation of another "bonus army."

An interview with United States Senator Borah is scheduled at 6 o'clock this evening on the CBS chain. WABC (860 kc) should carry it; WGN (720); WBBM (770); WHAS (820); KMBC (950); WCCO (810) may.

Two-Toned Suits Smart This Spring

Henriette Lady Davis is among fashionable women in Paris who are wearing two-toned suits with a jacket of one color and a skirt of another this spring.

She wears a Schiaparelli wool suit having an eel gray skirt and a powder blue jacket. With it she wears a blouse of blue and white striped silk crepe.

One-quarter cup granulated tapioca, one-fourth cup sugar, two cups crushed strawberries, two cups water, a pinch of salt, one-half cup marshmallow whip. Add the tapioca to the boiling water and boil until clear. Add the strawberries, sugar and salt and boil five minutes. Pour into sherbets. When cold garnish with a spoonful of marshmallow whip with a whole strawberry atop.

Flounder au Gratin

Pour melted butter into a baking dish. Add salt, pepper, a little grated nutmeg, one cup chopped mushrooms, one teaspoon minced parsley. On this place fillets of flounder and cover with the same ingredients, adding one cup of stock to the dish. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and grated sharp cheese and bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned.

The tiny sandwiches for tea are attractive if a slice of stuffed olive is pressed into the center of the top slice of bread.

TODAY'S NEWS PICTURE

This is W. Mithra Chertz, who is complaining to strangers that his fifteen-year record of attending the last night of stage plays is being undermined by the present state of the American drama. "I am forced to go to openings now," says Chertz, "to be sure of being there for the close."

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Aunt Bella—With the return of beer will there be any rules of etiquette on which women should brush up? Worried.

Ans.—Yes, indeedie, there are many rules on etiquette on which women should brush up. And Auntie B. will be only too glad to assist in the emergency by holding informal classes here and there as the opportunity offers. Just lay in a few cases and give her a ring.
A. ("Helping Hand") Bella.

The Author Explains Things

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

WE HAVE finally figured out this inflation jigger.

• • •

The purchasing power of your dollar is reduced. The borrowing value is the same. When you ask a pal to pay it back that's when deflation starts in.

• • •

You lose a friend and eighty-four cents. Thus saving sixteen per cent on the transaction.

• • •

Going off the gold standard doesn't mean a thing to us birds who were never on it.

• • •

There's nothing to worry about. Just remember that technocracy arrived and departed before anybody had a chance to explain it.

Here's a pictorial example for the little one's. We're on a boat anchored firmly to rock bottom. The monetary system is the cable. As the tide swings us around we must take up the slack in the rope.

TWO ROBBERS ARE CAPTURED AFTER OFFICE BUILDING RAID

SECOND FOUND IN A WASHROOM

$500 in Loot Is Recovered —Three Employes of Loan Firm on Fourth Floor of Paul Brown Building Are Bound.

Two armed ex-convicts were captured by three traffic policemen in the Paul Brown Building at Ninth and Olive streets yesterday afternoon within a few minutes after they had obtained about $550 in the robbery of a loan company on the fourth floor. The money was recovered.

The men arrested were taken to Police Headquarters, where they said they were Ernest Wallace, 30 years old, and Charles Zoller, 29. Wallace, who has served terms for larceny, robbery and carrying concealed weapons, said he lived in the 4800 block of Calvin avenue. Zoller, who has served a term for robbery, gave an address in the 2700 block of Howard street.

They were identified as the robbers by Clarence E. Clift, manager of the General Loan Co., and his two assistants, Leland Boggs and Frank Cairns.

Victims Bound With Wire.

The loan company's office had been closed to the public at 1 o'clock, but Clift, Boggs and Cairns were working overtime. The robbers knocked on the locked door shortly after 4 o'clock, and Cairns spoke with them. One said he was a borrower who wanted to make a payment due yesterday.

When Cairns opened the door the robbers stepped in with drawn revolvers. One kept his face shielded with a handkerchief. Ordering the three men to lie on the floor, the robbers bound them with wire. They looted the cash drawer of its contents and ran out.

Shortly after the robbery, Cairns was able to free himself and shouted the alarm out the window. Patrolman Thomas A. Weingart, directing traffic at Ninth and Olive streets, and Patrolman Elmer Bruns, at Ninth and Pine streets, heard him cry "stickup." Their whistles summoned Patrolman Arthur Boylan from Eighth and Olive streets.

Weingart had noted that the cry of alarm came from the fourth floor. As the officers arrived at the lobby they observed from the elevator indicator that a car had stopped at the fourth floor.

Partner Found in Lavatory.

They drew pistols and stood in front of that shaft as the car descended. When it reached the floor Wallace, who had pushed the operator out on the fourth floor and lowered the car himself, stepped into the lobby. He took the situation in at a glance and holding up his hands said, "You've got me."

Weingart and Boylan remained with Wallace, while Bruns went to the fourth floor to investigate. Wallace had told them he was alone. At the loan company's office, however, Bruns learned there had been two robbers. Charles Ballak, an attorney with offices on that floor, told him he had seen a man run from the loan company quarters to a lavatory.

Zoller was arrested in the lavatory. He was unarmed. In a janitor's closet in the lavatory Bruns found a loaded revolver, and, buried under washing powder, $33 in currency. Wallace, when arrested, had a loaded revolver and about $506 in bills and silver. Neither he nor Zoller would make a statement except to deny knowledge of the robbery.

Sent to Reformatory at 11.

Wallace has a police record dating back to 1914, when he was 11 years old. He was sent to a reformatory then for an offense which is not shown in the records. In 1922 he served a workhouse sentence for larceny and a year later he was sentenced to 20 years in prison when identified as one of three robbers who obtained $4700 payroll of Missouri Baptist Sanitarium.

In 1926, after the confession of another had exonerated him in that case, he escaped from the peniten-
